CHICAGO PRESS UNITES IN WAR ON GANGSTERS

Gunmen Challenge Seen and Accepted in Single Slaying.

POLICE LINK KILLING WITH CUTTEN CRIME

Tracking of Band That Robbed Trader Held as Motive.

AMOUNT OF REWARDS NOW REACHES $55,000

Eyewitness Tells Story of Reporter's Death; Coroner's Probe to Be Secret.

Chicago, June 10 (A.P.).—The press of Chicago tonight united in declaring a war to the finish on gangsters.

After posting rewards totaling $55,000 for apprehension of the slayer of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Tribune reporter, the leadnig dailies called the killing a "challenge to the press," and editorially announced their acceptance.

"It is war," the Tribune said. "There will be casualties, but that is to be expected, it being war. The Tribune has the support of all the other Chicago papers . . . . It is a common cause not only for the newspapers, but for all the citizens of Chicago."

Committed in Reprisal.

The meaning, the paper said, is plain. "It was committed in reprisal," it declared, "and in attempt at intimidation. Mr. Lingle was a police report and an exceptionally well-informed one. What made him valuable to his newspaper marked him as dangerous to the killers.

"It was very foolish ever to think that assassination would be confined to the gangs which have fought each other for the profits of crime in Chicago. The immunity from punishment after gang murders would be assumed to cover the committing of others.

"Citizens who interfered with the criminals wert no better protected than gunmen who fought each other for the revenue from liquor selling, coercion of labor and trade, brothel and house keeping and gambling."

Challenge Is Accepted.

Concluding, the Tribune said: "The challenge of crime to the community must be accepted. It has been given with bravado. It is accepted, and we'll see what the consequences are to be. Justice will make a fight or it will abdicate."

Declaring the killing of Lingle will result in "the mantle of mystery being torn from the entire structure of Chicago's gangland, the Herald and Examiner said the city's citizens are at last aroused to a pitch of wrath where "all who shared the rich, illicit profits of the half world must share the punishment of exposure."

"In this murder," the Herald and Examiner asserted, "gangland attained the ultimate in ruthless slaughter and drew not only the wrath of the reputable element in hicago, but also the serious attention of the press throughout the United States."

Public Patience at an End.

"Public patience is at an end," the paper continued, and "public officials are vowed to end all faltering with crime."

"The cold-blooded murder of 'Jake' Lingle has all the appearance of an attempt of the gangsters to terrorize the newspapers," the Evening Post commented. "For that reason the Post yesterday announced that it would pay $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of Lingle's assassins.

"An attack on one newspaper is an attack on all. In large measure, the hope of the community for effective warfare against its enemies lies in the possession of courageous and outspoken newspapers. Chicago has such a press, and the present occasion seems to us one on which it should demonstrate that it is united."

Reward Raised to $55,000.

The Daily News said: "Gangland today has roused against it every agency of lawabiding citizenry—civic organizations as well as governmental authorities."

Speaking in behalf of the Evening American, Managing Editor James Beckett stated: "We will join wholeheartedly with other Chicago newspapers in the campaign to put a stop to gang depredations."

Increase of the reward total to $55,000 came with the announcement of a $25,000 offer by the Herald and Examiner tonight. The Tribune had offered $25,000 immediately after the slaying and the Post followed with $5,000 more.

A silk glove for the left hand and a short-barreled revolver from which the serial number had been cut away, tonight were the only tangible clues on which authorities pinned hopes for the capture of the man who yesterday shot down Lingle.

Fraternity Official Ousted for Snooping

Jonas M. Smith, Capital Lawyer, Dropped as National Treasurer of Gamma Eta Gamma as Dry Activities are Disclosed.

Baltimore, Md., June 10 (A.P.).—A national officer of Gamma Eta Gamma, national legal fraternity, has been forced to resign his office, which he had used in his activities as a prohibition agent, it was revealed here today by the Omicron Chapter, attached to the University of Maryland.

Jonas M. Smith, "high recorder-treasurer" of the fraternity, resigned after the action had been demanded by Omicron Chapter and the Baltimore Alumni unit after he had persuaded fraternity "brothers" to take him to two saloons here, one of which later was raided on information he furnished, and the other was closed to avoid a similar fate. The two local bodies threatened to withdraw unless Smith resigned.

Smith's resignation came following conferences between national officers of the fraternity and the local groups who had conducted an investigation into his activities. At the time of his resignation Smith, who is a Washington attorney in addition to his prohibition connections, was a member of the National Inter-Fraternity Board.

Confronted with the fact that he had used his fraternal connections in his prohibition activities, Smith, after first denying any connection with dry forces, upheld his action on the grounds that he "was upholding law and that his Baltimore brothers were trying to protect bootleggers and law breakers."

Smith, though he resigned his office, retained his membership in the fraternity which he has held for fifteen years, having entered while studying at Cornell University. He now is a member of the Iota Chapter at Georgetown University and served as chancellor of that unit, the highest post in a school group.

Some of Smith's fraternity brothers, consulted yesterday at the Gamma house, at 1910 Calvert street northwest, evaded questioning on the

PAY RAISE BILL PASSAGE URGED BY DRY LEADER

Antisaloon League Calls on Simmons to Cease His Opposition.

MEASURE DECLARED ENFORCEMENT MOVE

SEEKS ENACTMENT BEFORE SESSION END

Believes City Will Suffer if Plan Fails to Pass Before Close.

An appeal for passage of the Capper-Zihlman bill to raise the pay of local policemen and firemen came from an unexpected quarter last night—the headquarters of the Antisaloon League of the District of Columbia.

In a formal statement Albert E. Shoemaker, superintendent of the local dry organization, called on Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, to withdraw his opposition to the bill, declaring that it was in effect a law enforcement measure.

Representative Simmons, dry, is blocking action on the bill until he has received a promise that his amendments to it will be accepted. These amendments would make the bill less liberal.

Unable to Budge Simmons.

Thus far nobody has been able to budge him and a labor leader among others has tried.

Superintendent Shoemaker's statement follows:

"I believe the Antisaloon League of the District of Columbia, while it has taken no formal action on the matter, naturally joins with all good citizens in favoring prompt enactment of legislation granting adequate pay to the policemen and firemen of the District of Columbia. The league is interested in law enforcement and satisfactory pay for the public's protectors will go a long way toward improving the morale of both policemen and firemen with resulting improvement in law enforcement.

"With this in mind, I hope Representative Robert G. Simmons, of Nebraska, will withdraw his opposition to the long pending bill increasing the pay of District policemen and firemen, in order that it may be enacted before Congress adjourns.

Time to Remedy Wrongs.

"The public will regard Mr. Simmons as a dutiful public servant, if now having called attention to discrepancies in existing law, he allows Merchants and Miners Liner Fairfax Sinks Tanker in Crash.

STEAMER, DAMAGED, AIDED BY GLOUCESTER

FOG SHROUDS FATE OF OIL CRAFT CREW

Captain Reports That Some Survivors Were Burned; Crash Off Scituate.

Scituate, Mass., June 10 (A.P.).—The Merchants & Miners steamer Fairfax sank an oil tanker in a collision off here tonight and the steamer was reported to have been badly damaged. The steamer left Boston at 5 o'clock with a heavy passenger list.

The captain sent word to Boston that all passengers were being transferred to the steamer Gloucester, which would proceed immediately to Boston. He reported several passengers had been burned and asked that doctors and ambulances meet the Gloucester when it docks at Boston.

Turns Back to Boston.

The captain reported that the Fairfax was anchored off Scituate and as soon as possible it also would return to Boston.

The Coast Guard station here reported that one of the heaviest fogs of the year gripped the coastline hereabouts all day.

Boston, June 10 (A.P.).—A. J. Doyle, general agent of the Merchants & Miners Steamship Co. here, said the steamer Fairfax, in collision with a tanker off Scituate tonight, left here at 5 o'clock for Norfolk and Baltimore with 71 passengers and a crew of 70 men.

No Report on Tanker Crew.

The steamer Gloucester left at 8 o'clock with sixteen passengers. Mr. Doyle said the Glotucester had reported it would return to Boston with the Fairfax passengers.

Doyle said that no mention of what happened to the crew of the tanker or her identity wats made in the message he received.

The Fairfax is of 5,000 tons and has a capacity of 300 passengers.

Bandits Snatch $2,039 From Bank Messengers

Pittsburgh, June 10 (A.P.).—Three bandits seized a satchel containing $2,039 in cash from messengers of the East End Savings & Trust Co. here today and escaped in an automobile.

Several shots were fired at the car, but the robbers apparently were uninjured.

SENATORS CHALLENGE HOOVER'S REFUSAL TO YIELD TREATY PAPERS

Vivisection Defended As Science Necessity

Dr. Hall Tells Senators Humans and Animals Are Beneficiaries.

Who is the more sincere friend of the dog, he who would prohibit all operations and experiments on dogs or he who would experiment and operate that the canine breed may be happier and healthier?

This was the question that was put up to the Senate District committee yesterday as hearings were continued on the Schall bill to prohibit vivisection on dogs in this city. Today at 2 o'clock the committee will hold another hearing on the measure, which carries a fine of from $100 to $500 or a jail sentence of from three months to a year.

Ten persons testified yesterday, seven in favor of the bill and three against it. The seven were members of various antivivisection organizations, and the three were scientists.

In the course of the hearing, Dr. Maurice Hall, a veterinarian and zoologist of the Department of Agriculture, placed on the committee table a glass jar containing the heart and lungs of a dog. Clinging to these organs were myriad worms, described by the scientist as "cruel heart worms," a scourage to dogs.

At present, he said, he is working on a drug to kill off these worms, and is using dogs in his experiments.

Already, he said, he has discovered a drug to combat the hookworm, and Resolution Is Authorized Affirming Committee's Right to Secrets.

BORAH, MOSES, BLACK NAMED TO DRAW IT UP

Foreign Relations Group Almost Unanimous on Need for Protest.

Shipstead Calls Policy of Stimson Not in Harmony With U. S. Tradition.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The smoldering controversy between Secretary Stimson and the Senate foreign relations committee over the secret documents connected with the London naval treaty flared up unexpectedly yesterday and assumed major importance. President Hoover, by his unqualified support of his Secretary of State, has been drawn into the vortex of the controversy.

After a spirited session yesterday the committee decided that it could not accept without protest the President's refusal to submit the secret documents, which Senator Borah, as committee chairman, asked for on behalf of Senators Hiram Johnson and Moses. The majority of the committee agreed that the Senate's position as copartner in the treaty-making power would suffer greatly if the policy announced by Mr. Stimson, by direction of the President, remained unchallenged.

Resolution to Be Drawn.

Accordingly, the committee directed that a subcommittee be named and intrusted with the task of drawing up a resolution affirming the Senate's right to peruse the documents and denying the contention that the Senate should attempt to advise and consent to a treaty without knowledge of all matter pertaining thereto. Senators Borah, Moses and Black were named as the subcommittee. A resolution by Senator Black had already been offered and the subcommittee will consider the phraseology of this resolution, or a similar one, and submit it to the committee tomorrow.

Action on the resolution would have been scheduled for today, but for the fact that Senator Johnson can not be present. After the text of the resolution is agreed upon, copies will be sent to President Hoover and to Secretary Stimson.

The motion to assert the Senate committee's right to the documents carried with unexpected support after Senator Shipstead had contended that Secretary Stimson's position was not in harmony with American traditions.

Action of John Hay Cited.

Mr. Shipstead cited circumstances connected with the action of John Hay, when Secretary of State, dealing with a dispute between the United States and Brazil over the interpretation of a treaty. On behalf of America, John Hay maintained that the treaty must be judged according to the language contained within the four corners of the instrument, Mr. Shipstead said. Brazil replied that the treaty consisted of the text and all matter pertaining thereto. John Hay, after further consideration, decided that Brazil was right and that America's position was untenable, according to Senator Shipstead.

After this statement, Senator Borah asked if there was any objection to the naming of the proposed subcommittee. Senator Reed objected and sustained Mr. Stimson's position, but found no support from his colleagues. Senator Fess stated that in his opinion the interpretation placed upon the Senate's duty by Mr. Stimson was too [illegible]ow.

Senator Robinson, of Indiana, suggested that the committe should re-

Habeas Corpus May Be Sought for Accused in Baker Murder Case.

GRANDMOTHER GIVES AID

Freedom for Howard L. Brewster, Army private, charged with the killing of Mary Baker on April 11, will be sought today in Arlington County Police Court by Amos C. Crounse, counsel for the accused.

The lawyer said last night that he will appear before Judge Harry R. Thomas to ask a preliminary hearing. If refused, he intends to seek a writ of habeas corpus from Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy at Fairfax in an attempt to free the soldier from the Arlington County Jail.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth indicated yesterday that he will seek a postponement of the hearing. Mr. Crounse has expressed willingness for a brief postponement, but will not countenance action of authorities in holding his client indefinitely.

Mr. Crounse has not yet talked with Brewster and intends to consult with him today before appearing in his behalf in police court. The lawyer said he has been retained by Mrs. Margaret Tinker, of Jewett, Conn., Brewster's grandmother and closest living relative.

Mr. Gloth, Detective Sergt. John Flaherty, of the Washington Homicide Squad, and a Department of Justice agent conferred yesterday relative to the case against Brewster. Subsequently Mr. Gloth and Mr. Crounse consulted regarding the incarceration of Brewster, who will plead not guilty to the charge.

Evidence against the accused is flimsy. It is admittedly circumstantial, according to authorities, with no elements of corroboration. All they have to present, they say, is Brewster's alternate admissions and denials of the crime, together with his presence at a dance attended by Miss Baker in a local hotel, and his identification by women as having annoyed them in the vicinity of the Navy Department Building where Miss Baker was last seen alive.

Throughout his withering examination by operatives, Brewster has remained steadfast to the story that he had an altercation with a woman in an automobile near the Ellipse. He denies having killed the woman and says he did not know her. Brewster was examined by an Army board of alienists and adjudged sane. He is attached to Headquarters Company, which is quartered near the Navy Department Building where Miss Baker worked.

REDS ARE ACCUSED OF INCITING RACES

Investigators Find Justice Department Dropped Watch in 1924.

LAWS HELD INADEQUATE

(Associated Press.)

Disclosure that the Justice Department had suspended its work of watching the activities of Communists in this country in 1924 because of inadequacy of laws and funds, was made yesterday before the special House Communists investigating committee by J. Edgar Hoover, director of investigation of the department.

After the secret session yesterday, Representative Hamilton Fish (Republican), New York, said Mr. Hoover charged "the Communist party of America has organized a special committee to incite revolutionary activities among the Negroes and to send selected Negroes to Moscow for special communistic training for world revolution."

Mr. Hoover was the second witness in the inquiry begun Monday when the Rev. Edmund Walsh, of Georgetown University, charged the Soviet Russian government with a plan to overthrow all governments. He submitted a mass of confidential information held by the Justice Department on Communists in this country.

In a statement, Mr. Fish said the witness "demonstrated the direct control of the Third Internationale, with headquarters in Moscow, of the Communist Party of America, and reported the discussions in Moscow by the working committees of the Third Internationale; of ways and means of counteracting the influence of the American Legion, Boy Scouts and the American Federation of Labor."

Mr. Fish added Mr. Hoover explained how the Communists "stirred up discontent among the unemployed American wage earners, and how they incite racial antagonism among American Negroes." The witness described the work of the Justice Department from 1919 to 1924, inclusive, against Communist influences, and revealed it was suspended because the laws provide that in order to proceed against Communists an overt act would have to be committed.

Assistant Attorney General Oscar R. Luhring, Robert P. Kelly, chief of the Eastern European Division of the State Department, and John F. Simmons, chief of the Passport Division, are to testify at a secret session Wednesday afternoon. Thursday William C. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Edward F. McGrady are to testify.

JAPANESE AID FILES PLANS FOR EMBASSY

Two New Buildings to House Diplomatic Staff to Cost $380,000.

22-ROOM OFFICE UNIT

Application for permits to construct embassy and chancellery buildings for the Imperial Japanese government were filed yesterday with the office of District Building Inspector Oehmann which has issued a permit for foundation excavation on the selected site, an extensive portion of the 2500 block on the south side of Massachusetts avenue northwest.

The embassy building will consist of a subbasement, basement and three stories and will contain 40 rooms, the chancellery building comprising two stories, a basement and containing 22 rooms. Both buildings will be of brick, stone and stucco construction and the estimated initial cost of the former is given as $300,000, that of the latter as $80,000. The chancellery building will be two stories high in the center and a story at front and rear.

Plot plans provide for erection of the embassy 150 feet south of Massachusetts avenue the chancellery building fronting the avenue at the northeast corner of the plot. There will be an oval court in front of the embassy, a garden and pool to the west of it and a service court to the east. Plans for a squash court and a building containing a billiard room and showers, and fronting Massachusetts avenue on the northwest corner of the plot, to be constructed later, were also filed.

The embassy will have a width of more than 104 feet, a depth of approximately 80 feet and will be about 60 feet high. The chancellery will have a 40-foot frontage on Massachusetts avenue and extend 144 feet south. The frontage of the proposed squash court and adjacent building will be 65 feet and the depth, 19 feet.

The subbasement of the embassy building will contain the boiler room;

SENATE WILL VOTE ON TARIFF FRIDAY

Measure Will Probably Be Passed, but Line-Up May Prove Interesting.

EACH SIDE IN DILEMMA

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate yesterday threw salt over its shoulder and set Friday the thirteenth as the date for the final vote on the tariff bill. The hour of 2 o'clock was agreed upon after various other proposals had met with objection on the part of this senator and that one who could not be present.

Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, remarked that he could not think of a more appropriate time to vote "on this bill."

No serious doubt is entertained in any quarter that the measure will be passed, although the propaganda on the part of the opposing camps the past few days has caused considerable speculation as to just what the final set-up will be. One prediction is that the bill will pass by two votes and another is that it may be left to Vice President Curtis to cast the deciding vote in favor of its passage.

It will be funny if the Republicans can pass the bill without the votes of Senators Grundy and Reed of Pennsylvania. Both of these gentlemen have been represented recently as having a hard time making up their minds. In the hectic flow of reports the past few days even Secretary Mellon has been represented as being undecided as to whether he should not recommend to the President that he will veto the measure.

If any of these reports should be true it would seem that passage of the bill would be decidedly doubtful. The fact that the bill will pass throws some sort of a mysticism about the august body and it is true that proper appraisal of the situation just now does not rest with polls or with expressions by individual senators, but with the fact that the knave

Raid Without Warrant Brings Jury Acquittal

Judge Hitt's Ruling That Officers Acted Within Their Rights in Making Misdemeanor Arrests Disregarded in Case of Roche and Westcott.

After a two-day legal battle, described by court officials as the most bitterly contested case in recent years in Police Court, a jury of ten men and one woman last night upheld the sanctity of the American home against illegal search and seizure and repudiated Government efforts to inject felony testimony in the trial of midemeanor cases.

The jury was sitting in the case of the United States vs. John Skelly Roche and George Henry Wescott and its verdict of "not guilty" came after four hours of deliberation. Both defendants were charged with possession of liquor.

The trial was replete with tense moments and the same crowded courtroom that listened in on most of the testimony and the battle between Defense Counsel John P. Mullen and James B. Archer on one side and Assistant United States Attorney Julian I. Richards on the other, heard the verdict. Judge Isaac R. Hitt presided.

Judge Hitt ruled at one time when the defense counsel for a directed verdict that officers of the law were within their rights to center a private dwelling without a warrant on probable cause.

This brought from Attorney Mullen the declaration:

"Your Honor is the only judge in the country who has ruled so since the prohibition act and the volstead act became laws of this Nation."

Defense Attorneys Mullen and Archer read the Volstead act, which specifically sets out that a dwelling can not be raided unless a warrant allegnig sale is first obtained. The Judge, however, stuck to his ruling.

At another point when the judge permitted the Government to introduce testimony supporting a sale charge Attorney Mullen declared: "If these defendants appeared before Your Honor and pleaded guilty to a charge of sale of liquor you could not sentence them, but would have to send them over to the Supreme Court. Yet you permit the Government to introduce in a case in which possession—a mere misdemeanor—is charged testimony which would be used in the big court if they were tried on a charge of sale—a felony."

When court reconvened yesterday one of the male jurors complained of being ill, and on consent of defense counsel the trial was continued with the abbreviated jury.

Testimony was that two policemen had stood across the street from a house on G street near Ninth street and had seen through a crack in the inside blinds three men take a drink and a bottle pass from one of the defendants to a third man, who was alleged to be a police informer. It also was testified that Wescott had stated at the precinct station that the pint of liquor found on the alleged informer was his. The Government also introduced in evidence records alleging to show that the informer had been given marked money when he left the station house and that the money had been found on Wescott when he was taken into custody.

Edison Will Urge Hoover To Stand for Second Term

President Not to Blame for Federal Inefficiency, Inventor Says.

Fort Myer, Fla., June 10 (A.P.).—Thomas A. Edison told interviewers here today that he would urge President Hoover to seek election for a second term.

The aged inventor was busily engaged in packing in preparation for starting for his home at West Orange, N. J., tomorrow, but he paused to talk with his visitors. He said the Government is the most inefficient big business organization in operation today, but he added he did not blame the President. The vast size of the business, he said, was responsible. He was asked concerning the soundness of big business mergers.

"Mergers are sound up to the point where the vast size of the business tends to mismanagement. The Gov-train from taking further action on the treaty until a satisfacory adjustment was reached with the State Department relative to the information which is being withheld from the committee. This suggestion remains in abeyance. Senator Borah is of the opinion that the committee has a right to the documents, but that there is no remedy if the executive branch of the Government denies the Senate this right. In discussing the matter with the newspaper correspondents after yesterday's executive session of the committee Mr. Borah was asked point blank whether there was any remedy.

"Nothing but 'impeachment,'" he said, "and that's too slow."

Pledges for Quorum Obtained.

Senator Robinson, of Indiana, and Senator Shipstead favor action by the committee which will compel production of all pertinent correspondence or data before the committee acts on the pact. Their contention is that the treaty is not really before the committee for consideration until the necessary extraneous and pertinent and collateral data is available to the committee members.

Efforts of Senators Vandenberg and Fess to obtain pledges from senators to remain here during the special session and press for a vote on the treaty were proceding yesterday and producing conditional promises together with signed pledges. The plan to assure maintenance of a quorum is to be pressed and its sponsors now claim that success is assured.

Navy League President Warns of Hasty Action

(Associated Press.)

Accepting the resignation from the Navy League of the United States of Mrs. H. E. Yarnell, wife of Rear Admiral Yarnell, because of the organization's attitude toward the London Naval Treaty, its president, William Howard Gardiner, today again urged postponement of Senate action on the pact.

In a letter to Mrs. Yarnell, which he made public, the league head said the Senate had ratified the Washington Conference treaties "precipitately" and that the long delay occurring before all other signatories ratified them "presented the United States with a diplomatic problem of very undesirable potentialities that required drastic steps for its solution."

For this reason, and without at present either opposing or supporting the pending pact, Mr. Gardiner said he felt "ordinary common sense would suggest that this time we wait and see what at least some of the other signatories of the treaty are going to do by way of reservations and ratification before committing ourselves."

SCHOOLGIRLS HEAR DR. COUNCILOR TALK

Capital Pastor Addresses Alexandria Graduates of Grade Classes.

URGES FURTHER STUDIES

The Rev. Homer J. Councilor, assistant pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, was the speaker at the annual dinner of the Alexandria Business and Professional Women's Club last night in the George Mason Hotel, Alexandria, in honor of the girl graduates of the grade schols.

One hundred and fifty girls, pupils of Jefferson and Mount Vernon schools, were entertained at supper and given presents contributed by club members.

Dr. Councilor spoke of the advantages the girl of today had over those of the past, saying a grade school pupil today had an educational advantage not enjoyed by kings in the past. They start to school with only one door open, that of physical enjoyment, and other doors open in the course of time, until the doors of culture are wide open to the student of today, the speaker said.

In urging an education higher than that offered by the graded schools, the speaker said there are organizations beyond number that stand ready to assist any boy or girl to secure an education. He said, "develop your mental power so that you may be keen in your thinking and alert in your reasoning. God bless you, God inspire you, and God lead you to the best there is in life."

Mrs. Mary W. Troth, president of the club, presided and introduced the speaker. The following guests were also introduced: C. F. Strader, principal of Mount Vernon School; Mr. Cummings, principal of Jefferson School; Mrs. John B. Abraham, member of the Alexandria School Board; Miss Mabel Royce, president of the Women's Banking Club, of Washington; Mrs. Albert Cohen, president of the Arlington County Business and Professional Women's Club.

Musical numbers were given by Peggy May Koop, of Washington; and a group of pupils of Jefferson School, under the directino of Miss Christine Munoz. Jefferson School students gave a playlet under the dicretion of Miss Margaret Abramson. One boy, Lawrence Wood, was in the cast.

The entertainment was directed by Miss Elizabeth Ramey, education chairman of the club. The presentation of gifts was in charge of Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson, who was assisted by Miss Louise Rowlett, Miss Warkins, Miss Ida Hill and Miss Minnie Herndon.

Herr, jr., was seriously injured in an automobile accident early tonight near Mount Jackson, according to word reaching their homes here. The youths were en route to Harrisonburg to meet a brother of Herr when their car left the highway.

Details of the accident were meager, but it is understood the auto turned over. Herr, who was driving, is expected to recover. Hockman was graduated only last week from the Warren County High School. Passing motorists took the youths t oa Harrisonburg Hospital, but Hockman was pronounced dead upon arrival.

FOUR FAIRFA TOWN ELECTIONS ARE HELD

Falls Church Polls Record Vote, Electing Daniel Over Mayor Bethune.

BENNETT WINS IN VIENNA

Four of the five incorporated towns in Fairfax County held their town elections yesterday.

The largest vote in the history of the town of Falls Church was cast when 439 citizens elected Maj. Leonard P. Daniel mayor over Capt. John F. Bethune, the incumbent. Daniel received 203 votes and Bethune 188.

For councilman from the first ward Frank T. Birch received 223 votes against W. T. Westcott, incumbent, 205.

For councilman, second ward, J. V. Turner received 254 against 173 for Phillip M. Talbert, incumbent.

For councilman, Third ward, Milton T. Roberts, incumbent received 254 votes against his opponent, Joseph F. Allison, who got 175.

A peculiar situation existed in the town of Fairfax, where no one apparently was willing to serve and only two persons had filed for councilmen. The names of the choice for mayor and three of the councilmen had to be written on the ballot by the voters. Thomas P. Chapman was reelected mayor, receiving 62 votes. A. C. Ritchie, although not a candidate, received eight votes. Chapman had previously stated that he did not want the office and hoped that the people would not write his name on the ballot. The following vote was cast for councilmen: O. B. Campbell, 67 Edgar Littleton, 56; James E. Nickell, 61; A. R. Sherwood, 52; Lewis gar T. Bennett as mayor with 54 votes Coyner, 37; and H. N. Clarke, 36.

The town of Vienna reelected Edgar T. Bennett as mayor with 54 votes, compared with 23 for M. O. Bradford and 18 for Dr. R. L. Bradfield. In the vote for councilmen, the nine highest will be certified to the county clerk.

The council, however, is the sole judge of the number of members, and a movement is on foot to only qualify five. Joseph Berry received 94 votes; Vernon Gowin, 93; F. N. Hagman, jr., 81; A. A. McGhee, 68; Carl Allenaworth, 52; C. A. Sachon, 42; A. B. Harrington, 39; R. T. Ballard, 27; J. E. Fritter, 26; C. J. Tallman, 22; Walter Roles, 21; I. N. Jones, 20; Hazel T. Davis, 17, and Virginia S. Hutchinson, 16. The following vote was cast for town sergeant: W. E. Thompson, 58; F. M. Fritter, 23, and T. J. Pettit, 24.

The Town of Clifton reelected J. M. Fulmer, mayor, and W. W. Woodyard, S. H. Detwiler, J. H. Beasley, councilmen. R. W. Cross and Roy S. Kincheloe were elected to fill the two vacancies caused by old members refusing to run again.

Textile Problems Under Discussion

Long oHurs of Labor Meet Censure From Three Points of View.

Boston, June 10 (A.P.).—Long hours of labor met censure from employer, labor union leader and church worker alike at a discussion at the national conference of social work today of the problems of the Southern textile industry.

Thomas F. McMahon, international president of the United Textile Workers of America, proposed education to break down the wall separating management and worker. Henry P. Kendall, president of the Kendall Co., of Boston, operators of Southern mills, proposed deliberate underproduction and scientific management linked to common sense and consideration of the point of view of employes to solving problem.

James Myers, industrial secretary of the church and social service of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said labor troubles in the Southern mills were mostly due to conditions ni the mills themselves rather than to agitators.

BATTLING CAPTIVES INJURE SIX POLICE

west, required hospital treatment for severe head lacerations, a possible skull fracture and body bruises.

Barnett was at the Thirteenth street entrance of the alley when he saw a large man, stripped to the waist, hurrying out of the dark areaway with a large and apparently heavily loaded suitcase. The policeman ordered the man to stop. Instead, the suspect dropped the suitcase and ran back into the alley, with Barnett close on his heels.

The two grappled for a few minutes before the fugitive broke away and attempted to bar himself in a house. As the policeman forced the door, Weldon hit him on the head with a flatiron. Although stunned for a moment, Barnett recovered his senses quickly and struck the man in the mouth.

During the fight that followed the policeman was struck on the ribs with a hammer and Weldon was floored with another fist blow, his head striking a stove. At no time was the policeman able to reach for his blackjack or gun.

As Barnett took the man through the alley to a cab, another unidentified man fired at him from the crowd of between 20 and 300 persons, mostly colored, who had gathered outside the house.

Weldon was taken to Freedman's Hospital and kept under a police guard last night. He will be charged today. Barnett refused hospital treatment until he had made out his report, and then he had his wounds, chiefly severe facial lacerations and a bad bruise in the side, dressed at Garfield Hospital.

Police investigating after the fight were unable to locate the suitcase over which the trouble began.

Her ire aroused when members of the Letterman raining squad forced their way into her home last night in search of liquor, Mrs. Mary Peretti, 43 years old, of Third street near E street northwest, landed a "haymaker" on the nose of Detective F. A. Truscott, with such telling effect the officer was temporarily disabled.

The woman was overpowered, and a search of the place disclosed 24 quarts of whisky, 60 quarts of wine and empty bottles. She was charged with assault, maintaining a nuisance, possession and sale of six drinks.

Fred Meyers, 50 years old, of H street near Second street northwest, was charged with sale of nine drinks and possession of four quarts when the same raiders entered his place. In a third raid the Letterman squad of K strteet near Sixth strteet northarrested Pete Moatine, 30 years old, west, and charged him with sale and possession of a small amount.

Private Merlin E. Swanson, of the Third Precinct, was still in Emergency Hospital last night after being attacked yesterday with a butcher knife by a woman. The woman, who gave her name as Mary Depenbrock, of Nineteenth near U street northwest, was sent to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation.

The attack occurred at Connecticut avenue and R street northwest. Before she left the station house, the woman said: "I have plenty of money and will take care of the policeman."

Swanson was cut about the legs. It is said his condition is not serious.

Mrs. Mary Hindrich, 38 years old, of Harvard street, near Fourteenth street northwest, was charged at Tenth Precinct yesterday with two cases of assault, destroying private property, and disorderly conduct. She was released on $1,000 bond.

Complainants in the assault cases are Private M. P. Donohue, of the Tenth Precinct, and Helen Heindrich. Miss Heindrich is stepdaughter of the older woman. Police said that Mrs. Heindrich went to the house on Harvard street and slapped the younger woman and assaulted Private Donohue when he went to arrest her.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Heindrich's husband, Frank K. Heindrich, of Harvard street northwest, near Fourteenth street, petitioned the District Supreme Court to annull his marriage.

The couple was married last November 29 and the husband charges that he did not learn until last month that his wife obtained a divorce last July 6, which prohibited her from remarrying within a period of six months. The divorce was obtained in Virginia, he states, and he cites the section of the Virginia code dealing with divorce in support of his petition. Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and William C. Ashford appear for the petitioner.

While arresting Elmer Neal, 21 years old, colored, of Bowen road, near Twenty-sixth street southeast, on a liquor possession warrant, Detectives C. H. Warder and J. J. Tolson, of the Eleventh Precinct, sustained injuries to their hands late last night. Their injuries were treated at the Naval Air Station dispensary.

FAIRFAX TAX BOARD LAUNCHES SESSIONS

Buckley Is Named Chairman as Body Begins Task of Reassesment.

CLERK NOT YET NAMED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The board of equalization and review of taxes for Fairfax County is holding meetings in the office of the board of supervisors in the county courthouse. Robert R. Buckley, of Clifton, is elected as chairman. The board will make the five-year reassesment of real estate for Fairfax County beginning in Danesville district at the Loudoun County line. The board will not only act as assessors but also as a board of review. The members stated yesterday that they desired to make a fair, impartial and equal assessment of the property of every resident of the county, and invited cooperation. As yet a clerk has not been appointed for the board. The members desire to examine more closely the qualifications of the applicants and to determine the exact nature of the work the clerk will handle.

Immediately upon organization, the members of the board addressed a letter to Judge Walter T. McCarthy of the Fairfax County circuit court, which reads as follows: "We the undersigned board of assessors of real estate for Fairfax County, having qualified and organized ourselves in accordance with the law in proper board form, now in session at Fairfax Court House, preliminary to going to work, do avail ourselves of this opportunity to thank you sincerely for our appointments and to thank all of our friends for their part in our interest. We, as a body, feel the responsibility placed upon us in this immense piece of constructive work in the interest of the taxpayers of Fairfax County."

"We assume the responsibility with all seriousness and do promise to justify you in the great trust you have placed in us and will render, with the help of God, to you and the people of Fairfax County work worthy of your confidence." This letter was signed by all three members of the board.

Mr. Buckley is a real estate dealer, and Earl Saum, of Burgundy Farm, in Mount Vernon district, in addition to operating a dairy farm, has transacted a large amount of business as a contractor and developer of subdivisions. George F. Harrison, of Herndon, the remaining members of the board of a former member of the board of supervisors, having represented both Centerville and Dranesville districts.

While it has not been definitely stated what the basis of the assessment will be, it has been understood that the board will assess the property at 50 per cent of its actual cash value.

At the meeting of the town council at Falls Church it was decided to hold a special session June 18 for a public hearing on a petition of the Rosslyn Gas Co. for a franchise to lay gas mains along the highway.

Representatives of the company explained the proposed plans show where the pipes are to be laid. They stated that gas would be delivered in Falls Church at an even pressure.

The town's finance committee was instructed to investigate the proposal of the Butane Utilities Co. to install a gas plant in Falls Church. This company specializes in building plants in small communities. The gas would be delivered to the residents through underground pipes from a centralized plant, which would be installed complete without charge to the community except for the gas used at rates approved by the State Corporation Commission. The finance committee was also instructed to investigate and recommend a scale of fees to be charged for permits and licenses of various kinds in the town. The council voted to prorate $2,000 among the three ward road boards.

The report of the town treasurer shows that the receipts have amounted to $30,328.44, which includes taxes for the current year totaling $18,754.55; for prior years $1,226.28. He has also collected $1,701 for permits, licenses and fines; $662.16 for miscellaneous sources; $484.45 balance from former town treasurer and $7,500 bank loan.

The disbursements to the present time have amounted to $25,360.45 which includes interest amounting to $81,715.50; on the school bond, $1,000; school bond retired, $3,000 to school board; $7,582.55 of miscellaneous loans repaid; $341.14 street lights, $1,331.25, for salaries; $6,792.50, for ward expenses, and $3,087.51, for other expenses; this leaves a balance of $4,987.99 in the treasury.

In the road wards the First Ward has received $2,169.35 and has a balance of $8163.85; the Second Ward has received $3,041.78 and has a balance of $189.61; the Third Ward has received $2,268.03 and has a balance of $333.20.

MAN DENIES SEEKING PRODIGIES' CUSTODY

Oil Operator Says He Quit Support of Violinists, Aged 8 and 9.

CONCERT TOUR RAPPED

New York, June 10 (A.P.).—Frederick H. Bartlett, Chicago real estate and oil operator, today denied on the witness stand that he had ever sought custody of Ruggiero Ricci, 9-year-old violin prodigy, and his brother, Georgio, 8, also a violinist, to whose education and support he has contributed for the last three years.

His testimony was given at a continued hearing on a habeas corpus application brought by Pietro Ricci, father of the children and a San Francisco band master, who charges that their present guardian, Miss Beth Lackey, is attempting to exploit Ruggiero's talents.

Bartlett testified his financial support was withdrawn last January when he learned Miss Lackey had entered into a contract with their father giving her 50 per cent of the boys' earnings until they became of age. He said he and Mrs. Bartlett "could not agree with Miss Lackey" on the training of the youngsters and he did not approve of the 50 per cent contract.

Bartlett said that he and his wife had become interested in the boys after hearing them play and had given sums for their education and support ranging from $400 to $700 a month. He admitted under cross-examination that the boys were well dressed and well trained.

Dr. George A. Blakeslee, New York neurologist, testified that in his opinion the strain of a projected fall concert tour would be "the ideal way of breaking down" Ruggiero's health. "A boy his age should be spinning tops and playing football," he said.

Schoolmates of Hoover Unveil Memory Tablet

Newburg, Oreg., June 10 (A.P.).—From far beyond the green hills of Chehalem Valley came many gray-haired men and women yesterday to the little white schoolhouse here, where many years ago they used to study and play with a "quiet little lad who made no stir and who was not distinguished in any particular way while here." They came to honor that lad—"Bertie" Hoover.

The little white school was Pacific Academy in 1885 when Herbert Hoover enrolled as a student. Now it has grown into Pacific University. In the main building of the university a bronze tablet telling of Hoover's student days was unveiled. The tablet, Dr. Levi T. Pennington, president of the college, described as "a tribute of love and esteem to Hoover from his boyhood school."

grounds that "no official action has been taken yet" and they therefore were not in position to discuss the affair.

Officials of the Prohibition Bureau here referred all inquirers to the Baltimore headquarters, explaining that the only record of Smith's dry activities available in Washington is the meager fact that he was appointed on February 3, 1930.

All attempts to locate Mr. Smith in Washington were fruitless and calls at his residence, at 1702 Summit place northwest, were unanswered.

PAPERS ARE FILED FOR NEW EMBASSY

the basement, a kitchen, storage, pantry, scullery, laundry, rooms and baths for men and women servants. The foyer on the first floor will be flanked on the left by ladies' cloakroom, lavatory and ladies' reception room and on the right by men's coat-room and smoking room. Back of the foyer, plans show an immense hall and grand salon, to the left of which is a dining room and large pantry and to the right a smaller salon.

Library on Second Floor.

On the second floor there is a balcony extending above the main entrance below. There is also a rear balcony. On this floor there is a dining room and pantry, a library, the ambassador's bedroom and private bath, a boudoir with private bath, owner's room, large main hallway, bedrooms, living room and other baths. There is a circular stairway ascending to the second floor from the west end of the large hall below. A large hallway, baths, bedrooms, living rooms and sewing rooms occupy the third floor, a considerable portion of the west part of which is devoted to storage space.

The basement of the chancellery will have space for two garages, a large one for employes and a smaller one for the ambassador. It also will contain automobile washing facilities, shop, toilet, storage rooms and a wine vault.

At the left of the vestibule on the first floor is a general business office and counter with room for eleven desks, four of which are in a private inclosure. Back of this is, successively, the archives room, coderoom and safe-deposit room. Right of the central hall, front to rear, are two reception rooms, two offices, secretary's room, councilor's room and the ambassador's office. The second floor contains offices, a large library, baths, bedrooms, living room and kitchenette.

Applications for the permits were filed for the embassy by S. Kato, first secretary, and representatives of James Stewart & Co., Inc., New York, the builders. Delano Aldrich, of New York, are the architects.

VOTE ON TARIFF BILL WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

turns up with every shuffling of the cards.

The Republicans must pass a tariff bill and the Democrats would not have them fail for anything in the world.

Democrats Are Hopeful.

In the final showndown, Senator Watson, Republican leader, expects to draw votes both from the Democratic and Progressive camps. If he should draw enough to permit Grundy and Reed to vote against the bill and thus remove some of the teeth from the Democrats' charge that the measure is a montrosity written for the benefit of Eastern industrial interests, it would be rubbing it in on the opposition, but a right clever piece of work.

The Democrats professed yesterday to be very hopeful that the votes of Reed and Grundy would help them defeat the bill. They would die in their Senate seats if this were really to happen.

It is likely, though, in view of the frantic play which opposing camps are making for the public mind, that the vote will be attended by plenty of drama.

It is true that few, if any, of the Republican regulars are enthusiastic about the bill. And they are worried about the immediate consequences. That is, the consideration of the bill has been so prolonged they are apprehensive that its good effects will not begin working before the November elections.

Duty Bound to Pass Bill.

But they are duty bound to pass a bill and they have confidence in the ultimate outcome. The old guard has been through this temporary uncertainty so many times that it has become hardened and it would not be correct to say that there is any personal apprehension in that group. Such men as Senators Watson and Moses will stand up and vote with hearty voices while, among those senators who come and go periodically there will be many a tremulous aye.

Before the final vote is taken a motion to recommit the bill, by Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin, must be disposed of. The senator demanded that the measure be sent back and the dairy rates boosted.

It is not improbable, however, that he can be persuaded to withdraw this motion. It would be lost anyway. The senator's action was more a final gesture than seriously purposed.

Senator Watson made a final defense of the bill, asserting that as the measure now stands it "very nearly approximates the desire expressed by the President to have a revision of the agricultural rates and for the benefit only of those industries which have been suffering because of foreign competition." If this is true, the President will not have to issue such an apology when he signs the bill after all. This presidential utterance is a part of the general final set-up. Senator McCulloch, of Ohio, also spoke on the bill, saying that he would vote for it because the President can correct any mistakes with his flexible power. There will be a lot of this before 2 o'clock Friday.

Six Detroit Cabarets Marked for Padlocking

Detroit, Mich., June 10 (A.P.).—The Federal Government today sought padlocks for six of Detroit's largest and most popular cabarets. The places named in the padlock petition of David A. Wolff, assistant prosecuting attorney, are the Oriole Terrace, the Club Lido, the Music Box, the Ambassador Club, Luigi's and the Kit Kat Club.

The prohibition administrator for Michigan explained that sale of liquor was not concerned in the cases of four of the cabarets, but that Federal agents had observed the serving of "setups" for guests who brought their own liquor. Raids were conducted in the other two places.

Colombian Aviator Killed.

Guadalajara, Spain, June 10 (A.P.).—Jose Maria Rodriguez, a Colombian aviator, studying Spanish military air methods, was killed today when a plane he was flying became entangled with the ropes of a captive balloon. Rodriguez was but 150 feet in the air and there was no time for his parachute to open as he fell.

ADVERTISERS NAME HARDEY PRESIDENT

Slate of Officers and Board of Directors Elected by Capital Club.

RETIRING CHIEF LAUDED

James W. Hardey, advertising manager of Woodward & Lothrop's, was elected president of the Advertising Club of Washington in its annual election of officers and directors yesterday afternoon in the National Press Club Auditorium.

Howard W. Berry, advertising and sales manager of Lansburgh & Brother, was elected first vice president in an unopposed race. He has been active as a member of the association's board of directors. C. Melvin Sharpe, assistant to the president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., was elected second vice president. Allen DeFord, of Allen DeFord & Co., was chosen treasurer and Charles J. Columbus was unopposed for the position of secretary.

Seven new directors were elected, including Norman E. Bull and Floyd Caskey, of the Washington Herald; Charles Finney, of Goldenberg's Department Store; Samuel H. Kauffmann, of the Washington Star; Garnett Lee, of Barron G. Collier Co.; W. T. Pierson, of Station WMAL, and Jesse J. Ramsdell, of W. B. Moses & Sons. Holdover directors were Howard W. Berry, of Lansburgh & Bro.; Miss Mary Jewby, of Kal Advertising Agency, and Vincent F. Callahan, of the National Broadcasting Co.

Ernest S. Johnston, advertising manager of The Washington Post, as retiring president of the association, was lauded for his achievements during the last year. He recently was elected chairman of the board of directors. Reports of the secretary and treasurer indicated that the organization was in excellent financial condition.

The new president was born in Waldorf, Md., and after attending public schools there came to Washington at the age of 13 years. He applied for a position with Woodward & Lothrop, and, upon acceptance, began a career which has been continuous with that firm as messenger, bundle wrapper and through other positions to his present post in charge of all publicizing activities of the company.

ANTISALOON LEAGUE FAVORS PAY BOOST

the pay bill to be enacted. There will be time enough at the next session of Congress to remedy any wrongs in existing law and I am sure the various committees of Congress and the business and citizen associations of the city will cooperate at that time in perfecting such legislation.

"The defenders of the lives and property of the people should be fairly compensated, we will agree, and that is why the citizens of Washington favor this increased pay bill. And aside from its other benefits, increased pay scales will attract to the ranks of the two departments a better class of men.

"The time for adjournment of Congress is nearing and if this bill fails of enactment, the Nation's Capital will suffer. There has been a marked increase in morale in the Police and Fire Departments ever since Congress began consideration of this bill. The men and officers have realized that Congress is as interested in perfecting the government of our city as are its citizens. And the work of these two departments has improved as a result in the last few months.

"If this bill now fails, there is certain to be a let down in the efficiency and morale of both departments, and I trust Mr. Simmons will not assume that responsibility."

POISON BARS RAIDED IN BOWERY CRUSADE

Dozens of "Smoke Joints" Entered by U. S. Agents Posing as Derelicts.

DEATH TOLL REACHES 32

New York, June 10 (A.P.).—Dozens of "smoke joints," alleged speakeasies, drug stores and other places suspected of selling poisonous liquor were raided tonight by 50 prohibition agents masquerading as Bowery derelicts.

The raids, led by Maj. Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator, were aimed at the source of poisonous liquor which has been blamed for 32 deaths in the city during the past 30 days.

Maj. Campbell described some of the liquor seized as "denatured alcohol of the kind intended for use as an antifreeze mixture for automobiles." In other places, he said, the liquor "proved to be synthetic wood alcohol."

Hundreds of derelicts, lying stupefied in several of the alleged Bowery speakeasies, were carried into the fresh air by agents. Quantities of home brew, colored alcohol, denatured alcohol and "smoke" were taken and bartenders and owners of the establishments arrested.

Agents said they purchased the colored alcohol in most of the places at 15 cents a drink. In a so-called "soup kitchen" the price was 20 cents and two drug stores were alleged to have sold denatured alcohol for 25 cents a bottle.

Earlier in the day, Isidor Kovins, 41 years old, who police charged conducted a Bowery hardware store as a blind for alcohol selling activities, was held in $10,000 bail in connection with the death of David Buckley, 42. Buckley is alleged to have died from drinking denatured alcohol.

700 Miners Join Strike At Mt. Carmel Colliery

Mount Carmel, Pa., June 10 (A.P.).—Seven hundred miners of the Reliance Colliery today joined the 800 from the Alaska Colliery, who went on strike yesterday as a protest against employment of nonunion men on important work at the mines of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co.

Miners at other collieries were threatening to take the same action, it was claimed today, thus tying up all P. & R. operations in this district. Approximately 4,000 men would be affected.

CAROL REORGANIZES ROUMANIA'S ARMY

Restored Monarch Receives Pledges of Allegiance From All Branches.

HELEN REMAINS ALOOF

Bucharest, Roumania, June 10 (A.P.).—Reorganization of the army today was accomplished by King Carol II as the first important step in a program of stabilization of the affairs of Roumania.

The young king, who last week astonished the world by turning swiftly from affairs of the heart to those of his native land, today appointed Prince Nikolaus as general inspector of the water and land air forces. He also appointed Gens. Averescu and Presaan field marshals by a special act.

The newly elevated king spent virtually his whole day receiving members of the officers' corps of all branches of the service, who swore allegiance, and with matters bearing directly upon formation of a new government.

Seeks Strongest Government.

The urgency of the latter problem was made evident by the profound thought which Carol is giving the selection of a premier. The king hoped to have his government completed by tomorrow. This seemed, tonight, to be doubtful. His every effort was bent toward obtaining a government that would be looked upon favorably at home and abroad and would strengthen the political and financial status of Roumania.

Delicate and tactful approaches were made again today to Princess Helen, Carol's divorced wife, for a reconciliation which she was told was the dearest wish of the people now that her husband had been restored to his rightful position. It was evident that some slightly more friendly attitude on the part of Princess Helen would be necessary before announcement of a reconciliation could be made officially. In some quarters it was said that those who were intervening for the pair would not be content with a merely official reunion which would outwardly mend the affair for the sake of appearances, but would plead for whole forgiveness and good feeling.

Mystery Man Given Credit.

In political circles it is generally presumed that Nikolaus Titulescu, the "Mystery Man" of Roumanian politics, who has held the balance of power among the various factions in Roumania since the end of the World War, had much to do with Carol's sudden decision to abandon the role of the prodigal.

At any rate he is being given the credit for having headed off Vintila Bratianu.

Minister Titulescu returned to his post at London last Wednesday. It was not believed today that he would be summoned by King Carol to Bucharest for any purpose whatever in the near future.

Oberammergau, Germany, June 10 (A.P.).—Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania is planning to leave Oberammergau early tomorrow for Munich to catch the Orient express for Bucharest.

New York Votes $9,000 Fund to Welcome Byrd

New York, June 10 (A.P.).—A $9,000 appropriation was approved today by the board of estimate for a reception to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his companions when the Antarctic exploration party arrives here on June 19.

Elaborate plans are being made for the reception, which is expected to be marked by one of the most enthusiastic popular ovations since the greetings to the first Atlantic fliers.

PRIVATE FEUD IS HINTED

scouring the city for a left-handed former convict, saying the man was known to the police as a killer.

The glove was found near the scene of the murder and was presumed to have ben used by the assassin to prevent finger prints on the weapon, with which he fired a bullet into the back of Lingle's head. The slayer cast the pistol aside as he darted to his escape through throngs of people in the subway and Michigan avenue.

Lingle was instrumental in tracking down eight robbers over a period of as many years for Arthur Cutten, prominent grain trader and personal friend. This circumstance held place today in a multitude of theories on motives for the reporter's slaying.

The Cutten home in Downers Grove was invaded by nine robbers eight years ago. After looting the place they left Cutten locked in a vault to suffocate. He was rescued by a houseman who had wriggled free from bonds.

Mr. Cutten vowed to spare neither time nor expense to bring justice to the robbers. He sought the aid of Lingle who was credited with the work which eventually landed eight of the criminals in prison. The ninth was expected to be captured shortly.

Private Grudge Rumored.

The slaying of Lingle, who for eighteen years reported crime and gang news for the Tribune, was ascribed by Commissioner of Police Russell to a private grudge, while others held it was due to gangland spite.

The assassination injected vigor into a hearing before the city council police committee on charges that two detectives efficient in the harassing of gangsters had been transferred to ineffective duties on complaint of gangsters.

Aldermen James B. Bowler and Arthur F. Albert charged at the hearing that some policemen were in league with gangsters and permitting "wholesale slaughter."

"Drury and Howe (the two detectives) were transferred so hoodlums would know just where they were every hour of the day, while in the Loop men are shot to death," declared Alderman Albert.

"That's not so," shouted Chief of Detectives John Stege.

Police Theory of Slaying.

Police rounded up more than a score of criminals in their search for Lingle's assailant, but did not subscribe to the theory held by the reporter's friends that he had been put on the spot by gangsters for his investigation of the ten recent spectacular slayings before he made the eleventh in the last few days.

Police Commissioner William Russell held that the manner of the slaying proved it was not perpetrated by hoodlums. He was inclined to think the slayer had a personal ...dge against Lingle.

Another agency reported hard at work in the search for solution to the crime was the "Secret Six" committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The committee was organized to combat crime after a wave of gang killings.

Investigator Roche said he learned Lingle lunched at the Sherman Hotel, a few blocks from the Illinois Central interurban station, and that he was joined by two men as he walked toward the station to take a train to the races. In the subway leading to the station, witnesses said, one of the men dropped back at a newspaper stand and then crept up and fired at the back of Lingle's head.

An inquest into the slaying was opened and indefinitely postponed after a few witnesses had been heard. Coroner Herman N. Bundesen said he was in possession of evidence which he was not willing to have revealed at this time.

Eye Witness Is Found.

Police were able to find one man who said he saw the actual killing and got a good look at the assassin. He was Clarke Applegate, sportsman and former owner of a string of race horses, also en route to the Washington Park track. Applegate said he was walking with his wife and that Lingle was about 10 feet ahead of him.

"He and I were good friends, but I didn't see his face and didn't know it was he," Applegate stated. "A man stepped up behind him and shot him in the back of the head. I ran after the assassin, but up on Michigan avenue I saw a policeman chasing him, so I went back and joined my wife."

Indcation that progress of the investigation would not be made public at once came from Coroner Bundesen.

Press Wires Condolences.

"We believe," he said, "that we simply must solve this murder. It is my opinion that we should guard carefully against exposing our evidence. We hope to work up a case that is unassailable.

"For that reason we propose to work in secret. We shall use the best brains available and the best police methods known."

"As the inquiry progressed, the Tribune published tonight a list of telegrams from newspapermen in all parts of the country, expressing shock over the slaying. Houston, Tex., police reporters wired condolences, and Tronoto, Canada, newspapermen, in a similar message, termed the killing "a challenge to all Chicago," the Inland Daily Press Association, through E. H. Harris, of Richmond, Ind., its president, declared if the slayer was not punished "the freedom of the press is in jeopardy."

In Cleveland on Cutten Case.

Cleveland, June 10 (A.P.).—Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, who was slain yesterday in Chicago, came to Cleveland last April 6 as a personal representative of Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago multimillionaire, to identify for him Simon Rosenberg, one of a gang of nine robbers who raided Cutten's home in 1922.

Rosenberg was returned to Chicago to face charges. He had hidden-out in Cleveland several years, he said.

Miami, Fla., June 10 (A.P.).—Al Capone, Chicago gang lord, refused today to comment in any way upon the shooting in Chicago of Albert (Jake) Lingle, newspaper reporter, allegedly by bangsters. Lingle was said to have been a guest last winter at Capone's Miami Beach residence.

HEART WEAKNESS RAISES MORTALITY

Life Insurance Study Shows Triple Rate for Victims of Disease.

GREATER AMONG YOUTH

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 10.—A serious mortality problem among persons with leaky heart, scientifically termed mitral regurgitation, is shown in a recent study by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. In a large group of male policy holders who had this disease the death rate was more than twice that of normal persons, while among women the rate was three times as high.

For many years the company's statistical bulletin points out, the life insurance companies declined to write policies on persons who had any sort of heart murmur. By degrees, however, they became more inclusive, so that today insurance is issued where the disease is not advanced.

"It is significant, however," the bulletin says, "that this group of insured lives has not shown as much improvement in mortality as has taken place in the population, as a whole, and in the general run of insured persons.

"The ratio of mortality of white males with mitral regurgitation to the normal mortality was greater at the younger ages than at the older ages. Thus, at ages under 40, deaths were 230.2 per cent of the expected, but over that age they were only 188.5.

In the group studied, the bulletin explains, the percentage of deaths from heart disease to all deaths in the group is nearly four times that in an ordinary one, while if the comparison is made on the basis of death rates, the mortality from heart disease is nearly ten times the normal.

"Mitral regurgitation," the bulletin explains, "is due, in many cases, to the principal childhood diseases, to rheumatic fever and foval infestions. The high mortality of the group indicates the severity of lesions which arise from these conditions. Even the best medical care is often unable to obviate serious consequences to the health of those who have had such childhood diseases. This study serves to emphasize, then, an aspect of preventive medicine which is often forgotten.

For prevention not only effects an immediate saving in lives, but also reduces the death rate from the serious diseases and conditions which complicate or follow the infectious diseases. At the same time it cuts down the number of persons who are permanently handicapped by organic diseases, such as mitral regurgitation."

One-Way Rule for Part Of F Street Northeast

Two short sections of F street northeast, at the intersection of Twelfth street were designated one-way streets yesterday on recommendation of Traffic Director William H. Harland.

The change was made necessary, Mr. Harland said, by the new traffic lights on Maryland avenue from Second to Fourteenth streets northeast. Between Eleventh and Twelfth street F will be one-way for westbound traffic and between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets it will be for eastbound traffic only.

LONE HONEYMOON IN HER WORLD TRIP

Boat Too Small to House Bride of Captain Edward Miles.

WILL TRAVEL BY TRAIN

Memphis, Tenn., June 10 (A.P.).—Capt. Edward Miles, master, mate and crew of the schooner Sturdy, has decided that marriage shouldn't effect too many changes in a man's life.

He has decided to continue sailing alone.

So when the second Sturdy, successor to a burned hulk that rests in the Red Sea, starts out to resume the solitary tour of the world from the spot where the first Sturdy came to grief, Miles will be on board alone.

Miles, in Memphis building a new boat, recently maried after 48 applicants answered an announcement that he wanted a wife.

Louise Totty, 27-year-old manicurist, was the bride. He promised the new Mrs. Miles, a round the world trip, but decided a 37-foot sailboat wouldn't do.

She'll travel by train, steamer, camel, elephant or whatever may be necessary, to rejoin him in India, the Malay Peninsula, the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands, California, Central America, New Orleans and back to Memphis.

This itinerary completes the round the world project, which started from New York in 1928. At Riffa Raffa Reef in the Red Sea the ship burned and Miles reached land after a day in a small boat.

Capt. Miles, 51, plans to ship his boat to Port Said, Egypt, in June.

Stimson to Broadcast Address for Shriners

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will deliver an address from 2:50 o'clock to 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon through station WMAL and affiliated Columbia Broadcasting Co. stations to the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine holding its annual gathering at Toronto, Canada.

The address is a part of a program in dedication of the Shrine Peace Memorial in which Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, and other notables will speak. The broadcasting will begin at noon tomorrow.

Austrian Storm Kills Eleven.

Vienna, Austria, June 10 (A.P.).—Five mountaineers have been killed as the result of a sudden storm in the "Gesseusä" Mountains, a deep defile 12 miles in length. Three bathers were drowned during the progress of the storm and three persons lost their lives in road accidents.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter & Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

AGRICULTURE 'JAKE' RECORDS DEMANDED

Drug Importer Testifies to Hundreds of Bootlegging Ginger Cases.

GENERAL INQUIRY ASKED

(Associated Press.)

All records of the Agriculture Department regarding bootleg traffic in "Ginger Jake," a product misrepresented as standard Jamaica ginger extract and sold for beverage purposes, were demanded yesterday by the Senate agriculture committee, after it was informed that officials considered the traffic "a prohibition problem."

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, declared before the committee he "understood thousands of cases" of paralysis, blindness and reported deaths had resulted from drinking the extract. Wheeler said he was "told the product is going all over the country," that it is "being sold wholesale, in interstate commerce, with a standard label."

W. G. Campbell, chief of the Agriculture Department Division for Enforcement of the Pure Food and Drugs act, said department officials had investigated some complaints and taken action against some shipments but that "both the Prohibition Bureau and our officials have concluded it is a prohibition problem."

Lax Enforcement Charged.

Campbell was directed to return tomorrow with the department files. He is expected to answer at that time other charges of lax enforcement of standards regulating foods and drugs.

The committee's attention was called to the ginger product yesterday by H. W. Ambruster, a New York drug importer, who testified substandard ergot, a drug used in obstetrics, has been allowed to circulate. Ambruster said enforcement was lax also on "digitalis, ginger and other crude drugs."

"Do you know anything about this?" Senator Wheeler interrupted, producing samples of fluid extracts. The Montana senator said one was bona fide Jamaica ginger extract and the other was "Ginger Jake." He read a newspaper clipping quoting Commissioner Doran that thousand of cases of ill results from drinking the latter had been reported in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Can't Cope With Problem.

Mr. Campbell said, "This is a serious administrative problem." He added he had been informed of ill results by the president of the Kansas Board of Pharmacy.

"Isn't this a problem of pure food and drug law?" Mr. Campbell was asked.

"It is," he answered, "but when it is bootlegged it becomes a prohibition problem."

"When it is bootlegged for beverage purposes," he added, his division could not cope with it, even if it "turned our entire funds and forces" against it.

Many Favor Inquiry.

Filing a list of more than 400 "pharmacists, physicians and other well known citizens representing almost every State," who asked for a congressional investigation of the enforcement of the foods and drugs act, Mr. Ambruster declared that although "a woman has been given a life sentence in this country for the sale of a bottle of liquor on a third or fourth offense, never has one of the food or drug crooks gone to the penitentiary for a single day."

He added that the department file would disclose not three or four offenses by the same individual or company, but literally hundreds of cases where guilt was acknowledged, but nothing was done save an occasional libel or "a litle fine to teach a lesson" to an "unpopular" culprit.

Miss Bride Emulates Parents in Elopement

Daughter of Corporation Counsel Wed to Son of Millionaire.

Following in the footsteps of her parents, who also disliked church weddings, Miss Adelaide Bride, attractive daughter of Corporation Counsel and Mrs. W. N. Bride, eloped to Baltimore yesterday morning to become the wife of William F. Kenny, jr., son of the New York millionaire, who gave $70,000 to Al Smith's fund during the last presidential campaign.

Miss Bride was made a bride in the rectory of the Baltimore Cathedral, by the Rev. William E. Mackessy, chancellor of the archdiocese of Baltimore. The license was secured at 10 a. m. yesterday.

The news surprised Miss Bride's parents, but did not dismay them, and the couple received a warm parental blessing when they returned to Washington at noon for luncheon with the family.

In the early afternoon they left for New York, where they will make their home after honeymooning in parts unannounced. The parents of the bride first knew of the marriage when their daughter telephoned them from Baltimore a few minutes after the service had been performed.

"He's a fine young man," Mr. Bride said of his new son-in-law. "Mrs. Bride and myself were married in the same manner, so we can't complain."

Miss Bride met Mr. Kenny several years ago when he was a student at Georgetown University. Both are well known in Washington circles, Miss Bride having been especially active in charity work of the Junior League

MRS. WILLIAM F. KENNY, JR.

The bridegroom's father is a wealthy New York shipbuilder, and a close friend of former Gov. Smith. In testifying before a Senate committee concerning the $70,000 that he is said to have given the Smith campaign fund, Mr. Kenny, senior, was quoted as saying that "there is $40,000,000 more where that came from."

The bride's father, who lives at Edgemoor, Md. has been corporation counsel for the District for more than three years. The bride gave her age as 23, and the bridegroom told the clerk he was 21.

Architect Contest To Be Open to All

Committee Is Instructed to Draw Up Report on Competition Plans.

All Washington architects will be invited to compete in the 1930 Washington Board of Trade contest for the best designed buildings in the National Capital, it was decided at a meeting of the municipal arts committee of the board yesterday afternoon.

W. B. Wood and Frederick B. Pyle, local architects and members of the committee, were instructed to draw up a complete report on the details of the contest to be held this year. The report will be made at a meeting next week. This report will include a recommendation as to the type of medals to be awarded.

The committee will ask Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d to furnish a plan of the proposed industrial section for Washington. It was also recommended that the sides and walls of new buildings be made to conform with the street front in color. T. A. Mullett presided.

Soucek Will Seek New Record Today

Lieutenant Thinks He Can Beat Altitude Mark He Set Last Week.

(Associated Press.)

With favorable weather, Lieut. Apollo Soucek will attempt today to break his newly acquired world altitude record for airplanes.

Unable to secure an official barograph in time yesterday, after wind had swept the skies free of clouds, he took his tiny plane up 10,000 feet, but returned after he had satisfied himself with the operation of the motor. The metal propeller was set at a sharper angle then when he set his record last week.

After the attempt at the land plane record, he said the plane would be equipped with pontoons and a trial made for a new seaplane altitude record to better the mark of 38,560 feet he set last year.

Church Men's Club to Meet.

APARTMENT OWNER SUED FOR $100,000

Former Manager of Schuyler Arms Says E. B. Dean, Sr., Slandered Her.

INSTANCES ARE CITED

Edward B. Dean, sr., said to be a wealthy Washingtonian temporarily residing in Scranton, Pa., was named defendant in a suit for $100,000 damages filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court in which alleged slander is charged.

Lillian D. Wallace, of 2500 K street northwest, former resident manager of the fashionable Schuyler Arms Apartments at 1954 Columbia road northwest, which is owned by Dean, is the plaintiff in the action.

The suit was filed late yesterday afternoon when it was learned that Dean was in the city for a day, it was understood. Deputy United States marshals were dispatched posthaste with summonses and copies of the suit in an effort to make service on him before he had left the jurisdiction to return to Scranton.

The suit contains three separate counts, each alleging a separate slander charge, and while asking $100,000 damages in each count the plaintiff seeks only a maximum of that amount, according to court records.

In one count, Mrs. Wallace tells the court that Dean slandered her by making derogatory remarks about her last December 16 in a market. In the second count, she alleges that Dean made similar remarks about her last February 26 to a woman who was seeking to rent an apartment at the Schuyler Arms. In the third count she charges repetition of the remarks last May 20 to the manager of a local credit establishment.

Attorney Albert D. Esher appears for the plaintiff.

Court Dismisses Plea In City Club Purchase

Justice William Hitz in District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday signed an order dismissing a petition to set aside the recent foreclosure sale of the City Club property and furnishings at 1312-1320 G street northwest. The property sold at auction last May 5 for $1,000 and encumbrances, James A. Purcell, Washington attorney, being the successful bidder.

A committee of bond holders sought to have the sale set aside, claiming that a reasonable value of the property with furniture and other equipment was $1,250,000. Mr. Purcell countered with a motion to dismiss, alleging that the petitioners had not made a sufficient showing to warrant the relief they sought. Justice Hitz agreed with Mr. Purcell and the other side indicated that the matter would be taken to the Court of Appeals.

Carey Must Post $500 Peace Bond

Charles Hughes' Former Aid Charged With Threatening Brother-in-Law.

William Carey, of 1815 Kalorama road northwest, former private secretary to Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a charge of threatening his brother-in-law and was ordered by Judge John P. McMahon to post a $500 peace bond or serve 30 days in jail.

Lee E. Lipscomb, of 1237 Evarts street northeast, the brother-in-law, charged that Carey threatened him with a revolver last January 18. Carey, an employe of the Census Bureau, was absent in Massachusetts when the warrant was sworn to and returning only a few days ago was served with the warrant charging the threat.

Carey told the court that he and his wife have been separated for several years and that under a court order he is permitted to visit her and the children twice a week. He admitted that he was making one of these visits on the date brought out in the warrant, but denied that he had threatened the brother-in-law.

Budget Chief to Study Saturday Half-Holiday

Majority Leader Tilson announced in the House yesterday that he had asked the Director of the Budget to make a survey of the Government service and recommend a bill providing for a Saturday half-holiday the year round.

This step was taken, he said, because the pending bill had aroused a controversy. Thus, there can be no action on such legislation until the December session.

Retirement Is Ordered For Sergt. Burlingame

Sergt. Harry T. Burlingame, 56 years old, was retired yesterday from the police force on recommendation of the board of surgeons because of physical disability. Assigned to the Ninth Precinct, he has served nearly 26 years on the police force. His retirement becomes effective Sunday.

Lieut. Dennis J. Reilly, of No. 28 Engine Company, was promoted to be a captain to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Capt. Harry W. Swann. Sergt. Roy B. Hanback, No. 11 Engine Company, was promoted to succeed Mr. Reilly and Private Frank A. Biondi, assigned to instruction duty at the training school, was promoted to be a sergeant.

Man Sues for $25,000 As Result of Collision

H. Clay Powell, of 1601 Argonne place northwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against the Colonial Atlantic-Pacific Stages Interstate Transit, Inc., of 1421 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, seeking to recover $25,000 for injuries alleged to have been suffered last April 7 when he claims a bus of the defendant forced his automobile off the road near Laurel, Md.

Mr. Powell alleges that he was traveling to Washington in his automobile on the date in question when one of the defendant's vehicles passed him on his left and swerved suddenly to the right forcing his machine from the road. His car ran into an embankment and as a result of the collision he was severely injured, he asserts.

WELCOME TO DR. PRESTES.

The United States through President Hoover has just had the pleasure of extending an official welcome to the president-elect of a sister republic—Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera, of Colombia. He is personally known to thousands of Americans, having served here as minister for eight years. The beneficial influence of his knowledge of the United States will be apparent throughout his administration, and Americans will cherish an especially friendly feeling for Colombia as a result of their acquaintance with its chief magistrate.

Now Washington is to be favored by the visit of Dr. Julio Prestes, President-elect of Brazil, who will arrive this evening. He is cordially welcomed, not only because of the ancient friendship subsisting between Brazil and the United States, but because of his own attractive personality. His career has been strikingly like that of Theodore Roosevelt, and his versatile and energetic character has brought him to the first rank among the statesmen of the New World. With a field of immense magnitude in which to employ his activities, and with superb physical and intellectual powers, his forthcoming administration promises the most brilliant achievements in behalf of Brazil and Latin America.

The visit of such a leader to the United States is a historic event, notable not only for the formation of friendships that will promote contemporaneous good will between the two strongest republics of the south and north, but for the permanent benefit that will accrue to both countries as a result of sympathetic contact. Americans were deeply gratified by the special honors that were accorded to President-elect Hoover while he was a guest of President Washington Luis of Brazil. The compliment paid to this country by President-elect Prestes in making the long journey to Washington is equally appreciated. The people are delighted to receive him and do him honor.

LIGHT ON INDIA.

The preliminary report of the Simon commission, created in 1927 in pursuance to a provision in the government of India act stipulating that an inquiry should be made within ten years from 1919 into the working and possible extension of the present Indian governmental system, carefully abstains from making recommendations. The commission deliberately divided its report into two parts, the first of which has to do only with the workings of the governmental system and the situation that exists in India, and the second of which is to contain recommendations for governmental curtailments and extensions. Separate publication of the two divisions was arranged, to the end that public opinion would be acquainted with the problems that exist as a preliminary to intelligent and impartial appraisal of the recommendations to follow. The first report gives no hint as to the contents of the second, but consideration of some of the points it makes leads inevitably to the conclusion that Britain can not afford, for India's sake, to make extensive concessions at this time.

"The most formidable of the evils from which India is suffering," says the Simon commission, "have their roots in social and economic customs of long standing which can be remedied only by the Indian people themselves." Here is a country with a population of 320,000,000, of which more than 200,000,000 are enmeshed in the caste system. Some 30 per cent of these are "untouchables." India speaks in 222 separate and distinct vernaculars. English has the widest usage of any tongue, yet only 2,500,000 Indians (16 in every 1,000 males and 2 in every 1,000 females) are literate in English. More than 500,000 Indian towns and villages are not touched by roads or railways. Agricultural holdings average 5 acres, and 70 per cent of the slum population of the cities live more than 4 to a room. There are 562 independent Indian states under the sovereignty of prince potentates. Hindu-Moslem antagonism "is a basic opposition manifesting itself at every turn in social custom and economic competition as well as in mutual religious antipathy." In the eight governors' provinces (divisions of the government in British India as distinguished from the independent states) only 6,375,000 persons are qualified to vote out of a total population of more than 227,000,000, and in some provinces illiteracy is as high as 90 per cent.

The most cursory examination of the Simon report reveals the difficulties that block the path that leads to self-government for India. An immense, overcrowded land without a binding tongue, with a considerable part of its people living remote from routes of transportation, predominantly agricultural, but with the average farm scarcely large enough to support a single family, illiterate, and the seat of religious, social and economic antipathies of ancient standing—such a country is obviously unable to preserve even a semblance of order, to say nothing of maintaining a government. The Swarajists, of whom Mahatma Gandhi is the prophet and leader, are of the educated classes and it would seem that they must realize that the people are not competent to rule themselves.

The second section of the Simon report will be awaited with interest. The commission may have found it possible to recommend some liberalization of the government in India that will satisfy the less radical Swarajist elements for the time being, and thus put an end to the present "revolution." But the preliminary report testifies to the impracticability of the Gandhi program.

ANOTHER VETERANS' BILL.

The agreement by the Senate to vote on the tariff bill on Friday insures the early adjournment of Congress. Whether voted up or down, the tariff will be out of the way. In the background is the World War veterans' bill, which has been trimmed down by the Senate finance committee to carry $74,000,000 a year instead of $139,000,000, as voted by the House.

This is a measure that threatens serious embarrassment. It is not included in the budget estimates. Even assuming that the bill will not be swollen in conference, the passage of an act calling for $74,000,000 a year would disarrange Federal finances and end the hope of taxpayers for further remission of normal income taxes. If they should escape an increase they would be lucky.

Greatly as President Hoover might desire a liberalization of compensation to veterans, his first duty is to keep the finances on a firm basis. He can not permit such a heavy expenditure beyond the limit of the budget without dealing the budget system a body blow. A veto of the veterans' bill seems to be inevitable. Congress has recently shown that it is sensitive to the demands of former service men, and it would not be surprising to see a veto overridden for the sake of liberalizing the compensation to World War veterans.

AGAINST DOMESTIC PRODUCERS.

The attack of the Retail Dry Goods Association of New York on the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill may be dismissed with little more attention than was bestowed upon the attacks made by the 1,001 economists and the automobile industry. The retailers of New York City in a resolution presented to President Hoover this week harp upon foreign retaliation as an effect of the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley bill; they assert that it will react against the prosperity of the country, and they characterize the proposed revision as "greatly exceeding the limited revision advocated by the President." Competent analyses, however, prove that the revision is limited, and the talk of foreign retaliation has been demonstrated to be mere poppycock.

Today's merchant is a large-scale importer. The day has passed when Americans are satisfied exclusively with the products of American workshops. Milady must have lace from Belgium to trim her frock; she stores in her pantry delicacies from the salty seas of Scandinavia, and she wears upon her fingers costume jewelry from Czechoslovakia. The advertising of New York merchants clearly evidences the present-day demand for imported wares. Naturally, those who profit by importing do not view with pleasure a tariff that favors American producers.

Tariffs, however, are designed to place home industry on an equality with foreign. The fact that costume jewelry, foreign food delicacies and other articles from across the sea are offered in such profusion in the New York market testifies to the need of the domestic industries for increased protection. The blast of the retailers against the tariff bill is in fact a demonstration that the tariff bill will promote the welfare of American producers.

FIRST AID TO MOTORISTS.

According to statistics gathered by the American Red Cross, traffic accidents on the highways of the United States were responsible for 31,000 deaths last year, and during the same period more than 1,000,000 additional persons were injured more or less seriously. To meet this situation, James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, announced at the annual meeting of the organization a plan for establishing first aid service stations at points along highways where accidents have been most frequent, and at junctions of the main arteries of automobile travel.

It is proposed to establish these aid stations at wayside stores, community centers, suburban posts of State constabulary and elsewhere. The local chapters of the Red Cross will be charged with responsibility for the efficient conduct of chains of these stations, and each emergency post will be supplied with complete kits of first aid supplies. It is the further purpose to maintain lists of physicians whose offices are in the vicinity of each station and the names, locations and telephone numbers of the nearest hospitals and ambulance services.

Besides having on call at all times at least one person trained in Red Cross first aid it is proposed to solicit the help of firemen, policemen, telephone employes and the employes of public utilities as well as Boy Scout executives for the work. During the last twenty years the Red Cross has issued upward of 400,000 first aid certificates to individuals who now are asked to volunteer their services when they may be needed.

The service will be purely volunteer and humanitarian and no payment will be exacted for first-aid treatment under any circumstance. Stations established will be standardized and organized on a permanent basis by the chapters cooperating in the program.

BIG FARM MACHINERY SALES.

While volunteer spokesmen in Congress have been stressing the alleged increasing distress among the farmers, and Congress has been wrestling with the problem of farm relief, the Census Bureau has been gathering statistics of the manufacture and sale of farm equipment. These figures indicate the exact opposite of that which would naturally be expected from the utterances of the spokesmen for the farmers. Sales by manufacturers of farm equipment, to American buyers, for use in the United States aggregated $455,492,598 in 1929, as against $402,841,282 in 1928 and $391,868,822 in 1927.

Among those items included in the total which show marked increases are wheel type tractors, which after a decrease of from 184,594 in 1927 to 152,266 in 1928 increased to 195,980 in 1929. Moldboard plows, 4-bottom type and larger for tractors, steadily increased from 2,322 in 1927 to 7,642 in 1928 and 17,978 in 1929.

The sale of combines, that type of machinery which has grown steadily in favor among the grain growers has more than doubled in the last two years. In 1927 the total of such machines sold for use in the grain fields of the United States was 18,307. In 1928 the number sold was reported as 25,392, and last year the demand reached 36,957.

That American farm machinery is growing in popularity outside as well as within the borders of the United States is demonstrated by the export figures, which show that while the value of such exports reached an aggregate of only $71,946,128 in 1927, the export value in 1928 was $95,152,814 and $112,546,389 in 1929.

THE EXEMPT CLASSES

By Commander HOLLOWAY H. FROST, U. S. Navy.

Practically the only important decision reached by the technical committee at the Geneva conference related to the ships which should be exempt from the provisions of a limitations agreement. This decision was adopted almost word for word in the London treaty. One very minor change was made: the speed permitted in two classes was increased 2 knots.

There are four exempt classes in the London treaty:

(a) Combatant surface craft under 600 tons.

(b) Combatant surface craft between 600 and 2,000 tons, which mount no torpedo tubes and not more than four 6-inch guns and are not designed for a speed greater than 20 knots.

(c) Auxiliary vessels of any tonnage, which mount not more than four 6-inch guns, are not designed for a speed greater than 20 knots, are not fitted with devices to launch torpedoes or mines, are not protected by armor, and are incapable of operating over three planes at sea.

(d) Miscellaneous vessels listed by name in the treaty.

Class (a) covers patrol craft of small size and high speed. In our case it applied particularly to eagleboats, submarine chasers and converted yachts, which were used to combat submarines. Our Chinese river gunboats also are included. Had the limit been a little higher it would have included our 649-ton destroyers, thirteen of which are now being used by the Coast Guard. However, by 1936 these boats will be about 25 years old and of little value even for duty in the Coast Guard. If that service wishes to continue the destroyer type, it can construct splendid vessels of 600 tons displacement; 30 knots, four 4-inch guns and six torpedo tubes. In war they would be highly effective against submarines and for coastal patrol and defense. Under favorable conditions they could act with the fleet. Many of the German destroyers at Jutland were under 600 standard tons. By the construction of such vessels the Coast Guard would increase the effectiveness of their peacetime coastal patrol and make a good contribution to our naval strength in war. The Japanese fortunately have a group of ten destroyers of 595 tons. However, by 1936 these craft will be 21 years old and not an important war asset.

Class (b) covers patrol craft of greater size and slower speed. In our Navy it includes gunboats, mine sweepers and fleet tugs. In the British navy there are a large number of sloops, which were used effectively against German submarines. Our Coast Guard have a number of cruising cutters which are included in this class. Their newest type would be very useful to the Navy in war. They displace 1,700 tons, steam at 16 knots and carry two 5-inch guns. If the displacement were raised to 2,000 standard tons, speed could be brought to the authorized limit of 20 knots and the battery increased to four 6-inch guns. Such vessels would have many war uses. They could protect merchant convoys against armed merchant vessels and submarines attacking on the surface. While somewhat slow for acting against submarines submerged they would be useful for this mission. They would be well suited for defensive mining operations. They would prove excellent mine sweepers for the fleet. In the Navy we have always retained a number of very old small cruisers and gunboats for service in Central America and China. These are admittedly of no war value. We may replace these obsolete craft by vessels in this exempt class which would be suitable for their peacetime missions and have considerable war value as well.

Class (c) covers auxiliary naval craft, such as destroyer, submarine and aircraft tenders, repair ships, oilers, ammunition ships, storeships, cargo ships, transports. We have a far greater number of such vessels than any other navy. That results from our policy of making our fleet self-supporting and capable of maintaining itself at a distance from its navy yards.

In Class (d) are listed miscellaneous ships, such as minelayers, monitors, seaplane carriers. Six of our tenders and transports were included in this class rather than the previous one because their batteries exceeded four guns. Japan was allowed to replace two old minelayers with new ships of 5,000 tons. Except for their greater size, these vessels must comply with all the restrictions of Class B ships. Their size corresponds to that of our two minelayers of the Aroostook class.

It does not appear that the treaty provisions describing the exempt classes work any disadvantage to us. It was not thought so at Geneva, where our naval advisers approved provisions which were similar—except for a difference of two knots in the speed allowed classes B and C. In fact, the provisions seem advantageous in two respects: the exemption of the naval auxiliary craft of class C and of our Coast Guard vessels under classes A and B.

ASK YOUR MOTHER.

Pa, may I go out to play?
Ask your mother.
Must I wear my coat today?
Ask your mother.
There's a dandy picture show
On this evening, may we go?
And I answer: "I don't know,
Ask your mother!"

May I take my doll to school?
Ask your mother.
May I paddle in the pool?
Ask your mother.
Would another piece of cake
Really give me stomach ache?
And I say: "For goodness' sake,
Ask your mother!"

May I have a pink balloon?
Ask your mother.
May I have a party soon?
Ask your mother.
Now the thunderstorm has gone,
Must I put my rubbers on?
And I answer: "Little one,
Ask your mother!"

This to every plea I say
"Ask your mother!"
Answering forty times a day:
"Ask your mother!"
These are problems that defy
Father, wiser far than I,
So I dodge, with this reply:

You Can't Claim the Dog If He Answers the Other Man's Whistle.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is a short, short story.

It begins, as all short stories should, by revealing the hero, or the villain, on the point of doing something unusual.

Mr. Carver, in this case the villain, stood on a side street in a small Southern city and favored each newly-parked car with an appraising glance.

To the casual observer he seemed a prosperous citizen without urgent business who had stopped for a moment to enjoy the shade of an ancient elm.

That was what he wished to seem, but he was not interested in shade. He had chosen this particular spot because a policeman stood at the corner half a block away.

Presently a blue sedan stopped at the curb across the street and a middle-aged man got out, removed his coat from the back of the seat, put it on, adjusted his tie, glanced at the buildings on each side of the street and set off at a leisurely pace toward the heart of town.

Mr. Carver's eyes narrowed, as they did when he was thinking fast. He glanced quickly up and down the street.

Then quite casually he walked over to the blue sedan, removed the key from the switch, drew a small wrench from his hip pocket, removed the front and rear license plates and lifted the hood of the car.

He stooped to examine the motor closely, lowered the hood, and wrote something in a notebook. He opened a front door, lifted the seat cushion, peered beneath it, and again wrote in the notebook before returning it to his pocket.

From a capacious inside pocket of his coat he drew two license tags, wholly unlike the two he had removed, and bolted them in place.

Then he stepped to the mouth of a nearby alley, dropped the purloined plates behind a goods box, brushed his hands and sauntered away.

When the middle-aged man returned an hour later and opened the car door, Mr. Carver appeared at his elbow and spoke sharply.

"What are you doing in my car" he demanded.

Two minutes later, at Mr. Carver's suggestion, the policeman was called from the corner. He listened to the rival claims; observed that Carver had the key.

"He has simply forgotten where he parked," said Mr. Carver. And then he turned to the middle-aged man. "Have you got State license tags on your car:? What's the number?"

"Yes, I've got South Carolina tags. But I just bought the car last month. I don't remember the number.

Mr. Carver produced his notebook.

"Here, Officer," said he, "Kentucky license plates D-4862. Motor number 38645. Serial number 9876. See if they're not right." He showed the officer where to find the numbers.

Fifteen minutes later, safely out of town, Mr. Carver permitted himself to chuckle. "These rubes who don't lock their cars," said he, "never even know the size number in their hats."

THE ONCE OVER

ELMER TWITCHELL DELIVERS A BACCALAUREATE.

"Gentlemen of the graduating class: You are assembled under these elms today for the last time before going forth to fight the battle of life. That some of you are at last graduating will come as a distinct surprise to your folks, but their real trouble will begin, now that they are to have you back on their hands again.

"This is a serious moment. No one knows what the future holds, if anything, for you young men. This is probably just as well.

"Some of you will become leaders in the industrial world, some will achieve distinction in the professions, one or two will lead a radio orchestra and popularize a song about drinking mugs; but the great majority of you will get no place in particular.

• • • •

"Looking into your faces this morning, I seem to see that the percentage of material for life-guards, bond salesmen and automobile demonstrators is unusually high. With courage and perseverance—stop me if you have heard this one—man can accomplish anything. Life is what you make it. A good name is rather to be chosen than two in the bush. After all, no one can ever take the place of mother. Am I too deep for you?

• • • •

"As you look back over your years in college—and for most of you this calls for telescopic vision—what do you find this university has given you? What? And again what? Write your answers clearly, using only one side of the paper, and inclose 10 cents in stamps. You came here as mere boys with your thinking processes undeveloped and untrained. Nothing you have experienced here during the past four years has changed you in this respect, but I am proud to say that the class of 1930 has never been excelled in the matter of rumble-seat petting, the whistling of popular songs and lively appreciation of the less subtle movies.

• • • •

"Your alma mater has striven to give you certain ideals of living, to create a vision of life which shall better fit you for coping with the problems of a busy world. If we have failed, your attention is called to the rule that any complaints of inattention be reported to the management. If we have succeded, it will be a great blow to the faculty. If you are uncertain whether we have succeeded or not, let us drop the subject and go on with our story.

• • • •

"In a few short hours you will have departed from this great university bearing a diploma testifying to the completion of a college course. There will be many times in life when you will wish you could swap it for a low automobile number, a letter from a political boss or a marriage license admitting you into a family with lots of money. Still, it is a nice thing to have and with few exceptions you are in luck to get it.

• • • •

"Gentlemen of the graduating class, with these few words I wish you godspeed in your journey through life. May fortune attend you. In parting, let me remind you to close the gates as you leave the university, to send your tailor a check and to remember that the railroad management forbids the leaving of suitcases and golf bags in the aisle."

A MODEST CANDIDATE.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

American Citizens Asked to Invest in German Bonds—Would the World Court Help to Collect in Case of Default, or Would the Debts Be Canceled?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What has happened to the Root formula for the proposed adherence of the United States to the League of Nations Advisory Court, sometimes called the "World Court?"

Is such a major project as this to wait on such questions at the Senate's approval of the Treaty of London for the further limitation of naval armaments and consequently the greater ease with which certain German obligations to the allied nations may be commercialized?

In the suspense attending the Senate's rather rude curiosity as to the facts connected with the treaty which it is required to approve, there seems to be some difference of opinion among the bankers assembled in Paris to decide at just what per cent these German obligations may be sold to American investors. Today's press dispatches say the State Department has no objection to private bankers here selling such securities to private American investors. The State Department in doing so fails to mention that the United States Government itself refused to accept any such obligations of the German government in even partial payment of the war debts owed to the United States by the British and French governments.

So when the German reparations payments will have been "commercialized," it will be found that to the extent that they have been sold in America, the German government will owe private investors in America what that government now owes to the governments of the allied nations.

Without questioning the honesty of the present German government it is to be observed that should it happen by any unfortunate chance that the Germans find themselves unable to meet their interest payments, there will be no French soldiers on the Rhine or British warships in the North Sea to attempt to enforce payments. In that event, certainly the State Department of the United States will not suggest that American soldiers or warships be sent to Germany to collect private claims.

The statement of the State Department as reported in the press seems lacking in candor when it neglects to tell possible investors the foregoing facts.

When the treaty shall have been approved and when the bonds shall have been sold, it will be time to join the "World Court."

Before any default on German bonds occurs it is hoped we will be a full-fledged member of the court. When the issue arises it is a safe bet that the almost unanimous decision of the court will be that the Germans, and consequently all of Europe, are unable to pay and therefore the war debts should be canceled.

Meanwhile, commissions will have been earned! WILLIAM McENTEE,

"American" Thinks Gen. Dawes Was Indiscreet in Claiming Special Kinship Between England and America.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In his letter criticizing the Cambridge University speech of Ambassador Dawes, "Federalist" quotes the Ambassador as declaring, with reference to the kinship of this country and England, that "it is well for the world that this tie exists; for in the joint hands of these two peoples rests the ark of the covenant of human freedom."

To say that I was astonished when I read those words is mild enough. If spoken by a plain American citizen they might, under the circumstances, be properly called a rather raw piece of after-dinner claptrap. But from the mouth of a United States Ambassador I think they were to say the least extremely indiscreet.

What a fine text they would furnish for a French, Italian, Jap, German or Russian jingo! What a persuasive light they would shed on the contention of a big-navy Frenchman that the Anglo-American alliance is not a bugaboo but a reality!

So far as this country is concerned I hardly think our diversified citizenship would be well pleased with what seems to be the Ambassador's idea that we can not safely trust "the ark of the covenant of human freedom" in any Old World hands except those of "the mother country." That the influence of some such idea may account for the curious London Naval Conference readjustment of the American and English navies to suit the needs of the latter, I am pretty much inclined to believe. AMERICAN.

Possibilities of Trouble as a Result of Carol's Accession to Roumanian Throne.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The accession of Prince Carol to the throne of Roumania, with its attendant circumstances, is interesting from every viewpoint. It might be instructive if one were a superpsychologist with ability to measure the reaction of the American public to the situation. Probably there are some among the thoughtless who envisage it in a glamour of romance. Certainly in its superficial aspects it has much resemblance to the movies.

From another standpoint the possibilities of international misunderstandings and strife may likewise be considered. The reign of King Carol is not apt to continue very long, but in the meantime there is no telling what damage he might do. The fact that Roumania is one of the smaller powers does not figure against the possibility of trouble; on that account she may be all the more subject to convulsions affecting other nations. The World War was started by the assassination of Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo, Bosnia, and resulted from interference in the affairs of Serbia.

In the eyes of the ordinary American the selfish and shameful career of Carol with his elevation to the throne seems somewhat remote, like a cross-section of seventeenth century. I think it should serve as another warning against Old World entanglements. W. T. T.

INDIAN PRESS RAPS SIMON COMMISSION

First Publication Is Branded Insult to Country; Riot in Calcutta.

SOLDIERS CURB TRIBE

London, June 10 (A.P.).—Discussion of the first volume of Sir John Simon's Indian government report today overshadowed all other developments in the Indian situation.

The Indian press did not take as kindly to the initial installment, which was a thorough analysis, as had ben hoped. Hindu leaders criticized it severely. It had fewer friends among congress spokesmen than before its publication.

London newspapers paid tribute to the achievement of the Simon commission, emphasized its importance, praised the unanimity of its members and stressed a likelihood that whatever recommendations may be contained in the second and final release on June 24, the self-determination of native India remained a matter of the distant future.

Views of British Press.

The Mail and the Telegraph saw in the report no prospect of self-government at short notice and nothing to comfort Indian extremists who have demanded early establishment of a dominion status.

The Laborite Daily Herald insisted transition to a responsible government would have to be carried out as quickly as might be while the Liberal News and Chronicle foresaw a swing of government favor toward self-rule in the manner in which the Indians have worked the constitution set up in 1929.

Dispatches from India brought tidings that Sir Phirote Sethna, Liberal Federation president, had spoken disparagingly of the report, in which he was echoed by Sir Chimanlal Setalbad, Bombay council member, and H. P. Mody, president of the Millowners Association.

Report Termed "Insult."

The Indian press summed the congress attitude in the heading of the Bombay Chronicle, "Simon Commission Insults India." The Chronicle adds, "the report is infinitely worse than its critics feared."

The Times of India said the report "provides a comprehensive survey and review of the people's conditions throughout the land." The Evening News was midly complimentary but the Indian Daily Mail dubs the report "a badly cooked rice-pudding, strongly flavored with cinnamon of die-hardism."

Shaukat Ali, prominent Moslem leader, described the report as "most sympathetic."

Sir John Simon himself said, "it is evident the public intends to consider the conditions of the Indian problem, so as to be able to form conclusions as to the recommendations which are to be put forward a fortnight hence." He said that justified putting the report forth in two volumes with an interval between.

Mob Attacks Police.

While the public mind was occupied with the report Calcutta advices reported a mob, bearing firearms, which attacked a party of police at Chechuhat, near Ghatal. A number of casualties were reported, it being stated that the police returned the fire of the demonstrators.

The all-India congress working committee, in session four days, called upon Indians to include in their civil disobedience program the anti-boycotting and antipicketing ordinances of the Viceroy Lord Irwin. Such activity by the people would quickly precipitate a crisis with the authorities and render once more acute the physical aspect of Indian affairs.

In Peshawar the activities of British air and land forces today were said to have effectively curbed the Afridi tribesmen who, under the Haji of Turangzai, had been driven into their deepest hiding places.

In view of the nationalist movement to strengthen the civil resistance program, government officials met in an important conference today at Poona to determine the government measures. It is understood that the officials will be aided by H. G. Haid, home member for the government of India, and Sir J. E. Hotson, member of the governor of Bombay's council.

NOTED GERMAN

DR. ADOLF VON HARNACK.

DR. HARNACK DEAD; FAMOUS THEOLOGIAN

Leader of School of Thought Seeking to Reconcile Bible and Science.

WAS FRIEND OF KAISER

Heidelberg, Germany, June 10 (A. P.).—Dr. Adolf von Harnack, widely known as leader of the modern German school of theology, died today at the age of 79. He had been ill for two weeks.

Dr. von Harnack, who was one of the most noted of German theologians, visited the United States in 1904 and lectured at various cities in the East and Middle West.

He was the founder of the Kaiser Wilhelm Society for the Advancement of Science and of the Evangelical-Social Council. His chief work was "The History of the Christian Dogma."

In 1906 Prof. von Harnack was appointed director of the Royal Library in Berlin, a post he held for fifteen years. Early in 1914 he was elevated by his friend, former Kaiser William, to the Prussian hereditary nobility with the style of "von" and the title of "excellency." That honor, however, did not prevent his son Ernst, who went into law and became a provincial counselor, from joining the Social Democrat party after the German revolution.

The former kaiser, although not wholly sharing Von Harnack's beliefs in matters of pure faith, found his conversation singularly edifying and stimulating and often called him to court. The professor, although a monarchist by conviction, accepted the new regime in Germany as the inevitable process of evolution. At heart he was a liberal, for even during the World War he advocated the abolition of the so-called three-class electoral method in Prussia and the substitution of an equal suffrage system. That cost him the kaiser's support for the post of minister of public worship and instruction, for which he had been slated.

$20,000,000 Oil Suit Against Doheny Delayed

Los Angeles, June 10 (A.P.).—The suit brought against Edward L. Doheny and the Pan-American Petroleum Transport Co. by Frank Kunkel, Cleveland, Ohio, attorney, and others, who seek recovery of $20,000,000, was taken off the calendar today by Federal Judge George Cosgrave. Opposing attorneys indicated a settlement was being negotiated. The suit, which had been pending for some time, was to have come to trial today.

Kunkel, acting for himself and other holders of Doheny oil stocks, complained they had lost $20,000,000 consequent to Doheny's assertedly fraudulent actions in leasing naval oil reserves through former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

French Aviatrix Fails In Endurance Attempt

Le Bourget, France, June 10 (A.P.) Mme. Maryse Bastie, pretty French aerial acrobat, today failed in an attempt to establish a new world record for an endurance flight.

Mme. Bastie, who took off from Le Bourget at 8:18 last night, was forced to land at 6:45 p. m. because of a lack of gasoline. She had been in the air 22 hours and 27 minutes.

GYMNASIUM GIVEN TO EPISCOPAL HOME

Mrs. Charles J. Bell Is Donor in Memory of Husband, Child Work Leader.

MOVIE SCREEN FEATURE

A memorial to the late Charles J. Bell, banker and philanthropist, has been given by his widow to the Episcopal Home for Children now under construction in Nebraska avenue, at Rock Creek Ford road.

According to announcement by Mrs. David Meade Lea, president of the board of lady managers of the home and vice chairman of the building committee, the Bell memorial will take the form of a gymnasium to be located on the ground floor of the Administration Building, one of five buildings in the cottage-unit plan of the new home.

Thoroughly modern in every respect, the gymnasium will be equipped with apparatus approved by experts in physical training. A small stage and dressing room at one end of the long room will be a feature. Here the Christmas plays and other entertainments may be given, and in addition the stage will be equipped with a screen for motion pictures. The plans also provide for a gallery along one side for spectators.

The memorial has been officially accepted by the board of governors of the home, of which the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, is chairman.

In presenting the gymnasium, Mrs. Bell is carrying on her husband's interest in the home. At the time of his death he was vice chairman of the board of incorporators and chairman of the building committee for the new home. During his lifetime he was active in the work for the underprivileged children of Washington, giving freely of his time and money for their interests.

In a recent report Mrs. Lea stated that the new home will be ready for occupancy by fall, at which time the old home in Anacostia will be abandoned. Situated on a nine-acre site, the gift of Edwin J. Gould, of New York, the home will accommodate 50 children. It will represent the highest ideals of child welfare work, light airy buildings, outdoor playgrounds, adequate provision for indoor recreation, special facilities for the care of infants and very young children, an infirmary, and quarters for the administrative staff.

Oregon Candidate Receives Sentence

10-Day Jail Term and Fine of $75 Fixed in Corrupt-Practice Case.

Portland, Oreg., June 10 (A.P.).—Robert Gordon Duncan, self-styled "Oregon Wildcat" and defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress who was convicted here yesterday of violating the Oregon corrupt practices act, today was fined $25 on the first count and sentenced to ten days in jail and fined $50 on the second.

Bond was fixed at $300 pending appeal. Duncan withdrew a demurrer after the district court ruled he had been convicted fairly in his jury trial. Duncan electioneered over radio station KVEP the day of the recent Oregon primary.

The Federal Radio Commission has refused to renew the license of KVEP. At a hearing held by the commission Duncan was accused of using improper language over the radio.

Georgia Court Favors Back Seat Driving Clan

Atlanta, June 10 (A.P.).—The Georgia Court of Appeals today ruled inferentially that it is not only the right but the duty of a woman to assist her husband by back-seat driving.

Mrs. R. H. Pickard, of Atlanta, had sought damages from the Georgia Power Co. for injuries received when an automobile driven by her husband was struck by a street car. The court found that Mrs. Pickard had seen the car approaching and did not warn her husband.

"By the exercise of ordinary care she could have avoided the accident," the opinion, granting a nonsuit, read.

NEW LIBRARY ITEM WILL BE REVIEWED

City Heads Promise to Study Carefully Demand for Georgetown Branch.

$35,000 FUND IS SOUGHT

An item of $35,000 to provide for a new branch library, included in the 1932 estimates by the library trustees, will be given careful consideration, the District Commissioners told Congress and a committee representing Georgetown residents yesterday.

The statement to Congress was made in the course of a report to the House District committee recommending unfavorable action on the pending bill providing for a branch library in Georgetown. The Commissioners under existing law have ample authority to locate branch libraries they said.

The Commissioners received a petition, signed by 1,000 men, on the front steps of the District Building yesterday morning. The petition was presented by Isaac B. Nordlinger, chairman of the committee. Miss Etta L. Taggart, of the Progressive Citizens Association, told the Commissioners that her association had presented a similar petition to the former Board of Commissioners last year.

Neither Commissioner Luther Reichelderfer, who received the petition, nor Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby, nor Col. William B. Ladue, all of whom were present at the presentation, made any definite commitments on the question. Dr. Reichelderfer, however, told the committee that the $35,000 item in the pending estimates would be given careful consideration by the Commissioners.

Ford English Employes To Be Allowed in U. S.

(Associated Press.)

Labor Department officials indicated yesterday that it was probable that the two English artisans brought to this country by Henry Ford to set up an ancient English cottage at Dearborn, Mich., would be permitted to enter the country after a special hearing, which is to be held before the Secretary of Labor.

The two are detained at Ellis Island. Assistant Secretary Husband said he understood a showing would be made that no American workers are available capable of performing the work Mr. Ford employed them for.

WOMEN DELEGATES HEAR YOUNG EDITOR

Otto Wiese, 25, Tells Club Federation Book Taste of Sex Is Improved.

TWO-YEAR TICKET VOTED

Denver, Colo., June 10 (A.P.).—Women are emerging from an era of ultradomesticity and are taking a rightful place among intellectuals of the country, Otto Wiese, 25-year-old editor of McCall's Magazine, today told delegates to the convention here of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The taste of women," he said, "has improved reading matter immeasurably within the last ten years. They are intelligently selecting their reading matter, both fiction and nonfiction, in the fields of science, politics, religion, and just plain story-telling.

"They have discarded what they considered unnecessary in the teachings of the past generation and accepted that which they consider sound in the philosophy of the present."

Dr. George F. Reynolds, head of the department of English literature at the University of Colorado, pleaded for a better understanding of the work of clubwomen throughout the United States.

"If you actually carried through the programs outlined," he said, "the United States would witness a social and possibly such an industrial revolution as would eclipse any in the history of the last few hundred years."

The almost 800 delegates balloted today for officers for the next two years, but their action was considered little more than a formality. Some opposition which had greeted the report renominating Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore, for president and her sister officers in subordinate capacities, appeared to have been dissipated.

A tribute to the press was delivered by Mrs. Meade F. Griffin, of Plainview, Tex., chairman of the rural press committee.

"Tribute," she said, "is paid the press gladly because without it no movement could be carried to its ultimate goal. We must remember that we have a very real and serious obligation to the press, and that if we would have its invaluable cooperation we must fulfill that obligation honestly and fairly."

Candidates Deny Excessive Funds

Minnesotans in Race for Senate Nomination Say Expense Is Small.

St. Paul, Minn., June 10 (A.P.).—Gov. Theodore Christianson today flatly denied any excessive expenditures in his campaign for the Republican nomination for the United States senatorship, adding his denial to that of John F. Self, another candidate, made earlier. The denials followed announcement yesterday by Senator Gerald P. Nye that charges of excessive expenditures in the Minnesota campaign had reached the United States Senate committee on campaign expenditures.

Senator Thomas D. Schall, the third candidate in the race, could not be reached for his reply.

Mr. Selb, in his denial, asserted his entire campaign thus far had cost not in excess of $1,000. He also denied allegations made to the Senate committee that he was "hired to run" on a "wet" platform.

Mr. Hoover Davis Guest At Stag Fete

Labor Leaders Largely Represented at Gathering.

By JEAN ELIOT.

A GOOD picker could probably select the name of the next Secretary of Labor from the list of guests entertained by the present Secretary of Labor, Mr. James J. Davis, at dinner in his home last night, given in honor of President Hoover. For the company was made up in large part of labor leaders from among whom Mr. Davis' successor might well be chosen—unless the President should be moved to appoint a woman to the post.

The name of Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau, has been repeatedly mentioned in this connection. But among her friends the wish seems to be father to the thought that she or any other woman will be given a Cabinet post in the present administration. And besides, that's quite another story.

Secretary Davis' dinner last night was the last of the regular series of dinners for the Chief Executive, with Cabinet members as hosts, and the first "Cabinet dinner" in many a long day to be a stag party. Originally Secretary and Mrs. Davis were to have entertained for President and Mrs. Hoover, but the dinner was postponed because of the death of former President Taft, and, with Mrs. Hoover out of town when the new date rolled round, it was decided that a man's dinner was in order.

Among the guests who dined with Secretary Davis to meet the President were Mr. Robe Carl White, First Assistant Secretary of Labor, who has been suggested repeatedly as a logical successor to Mr. Davis, and the Second Assistant Secretary of Labor, Mr. W. W. Husband. They, with Mr. Howard Sutherland, Alien Property Custodian, and Mr. Joshua Evans, president of the District National Bank, were the only Washingtonians present.

Others in the company were: Mr. William F. Broening, mayor of Baltimore; Mr. William N. Doak, editor of the Trainmen's Journal; Mr. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, dean of history of Harvard University; Mr. Albert H. Lander, of Philadelphia, an official of the Royal Order of the Moose; Mr. John J. Evans, of Lancaster, Pa.; Mr. S. D. Warner, Mr. F. Everett Sproul, of Chester, Pa.; Mr. William Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters and Joiners of America; Mr. E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers; Mr. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor; Mr. Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, and Mr. J. Albert Cassedy, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Davis and the Davis youngsters will leave Washington the middle of next week for Ventnor, N. J., where they have taken a cottage for the summer. Mr. Davis will probably make only occasional visits to his family, as his official duties and his campaign activities will keep him pretty much occupied.

Senora de Alfara Is Luncheon Hostess.

Senora de Alfaro, wife of the Minister of Panama, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the National Women's Country Club, when her guests were Mrs. Charles L. McNary, Mrs. Andrieus A. Jones, Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, Mrs. Robert Love Taylor, Mrs. Nathaniel B. Dial, Mrs. Chase W. Kennedy, Mrs. Edward H. Conger, Miss Janet Richards, Mrs. Frank Henry, Mrs. Arthur H. Tirrell, Mrs. Wade H. Mrs. Robert Todd Lincoln has closed her house in Georgetown and has gone to Manchester, Vt., to remain through the summer. Her granddaughter, Miss Mary Lincoln Beckwith, has joined Mrs. Lincoln at Hildene, her place at Manchester, having made the trip by airplane, handling the controls herself for much of the flight, although she carried a pilot.

Mr. G. Howland Shaw, of the Foreign Service, who has been on duty at the State Department, has been transferred to the United States Embassy in Constantinople and will start shortly for his new post.

Capital Girl Becomes Wife Of Mr. Walker

Miss Martha L. Burch Is Wed in Pretty Rites at St. Thomas'.

Miss Martha Louise Burch became the bride of Mr. Alexander M. Walker at 8 o'clock last evening in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Llewellyn Burch, of Washington, and Mr. Walker is the son of Mr. William Augustus Walker, sr., of Wilmington, N. C. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith, rector of St. Thomas'. Ferns, palms and Easter lilies decked the altar.

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her away. She wore a lovely gown of ivory satin fashioned on princess lines with a court train. The bodice was designed with fitted sleeves, which formed points at the wrists. A tulle veil fell from a tight-fitting cap of tulle and lace, used by the brides in her family for several generations. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Theodore Estes, of Danville, Va., who wore a powder blue point d' esprit, made with tight bodice trimmed with a taffeta sash and full skirt. Her hat was of powder blue Swiss hair trimmed with velvet ribbon of the same color, and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and blue delphiniums tied with blue ribbons falling to the floor. The bridesmaids were Miss Josephine Estes, Danville, cousin of the bride; Miss Billie Vincel, Miss Rosemary Whitfield and Miss Virginia Porter. They had frocks of peach net embroidered in green and pink, along the same lines as the gown of the maid of honor, with sashes and bows of peach and green. They wore hats of peach Swiss hair trimmed with velvet ribbon of blue and peach, and carried Talisman roses and blue delphiniums, tied with streamers of peach ribbon. All wore slippers to match their dresses.

The best man was Mr. David Yulee Read, of New York, and the ushers were Mr. Benjamin F. Foster, Mr. J. Orme Libbey, Mr. Reginald P. Mitchell, and Mr. Thomas C. Foote. Alexander Hamilton Walker was page.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bridal party was assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, who wore a gown of peach chiffon, fashioned on full lines, and a hat of orange Swiss hair, with a corsage of Talisman roses.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Walker will visit the North Carolina mountains and seashore and will be at home in Washington after July 15. The bride wore a traveling suit of brown flannel, egg-shell blouse and a fox fur.

The out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. John P. Swanson, of Danville, Va.; Mrs. Morris Estes, of Lovingston, Va.; Mr. Estes Howard, of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. William A. Walker, jr., of Wilmington, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rivenbark, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Leland Estes, of Danville; Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, Miss Edith Rogers and Mr. Holcomb Rogers, of Herndon, Va.; and Mr. Edwin M. Wilson, of Haverford, Pa.

Washingtonians Plan To Attend Wedding.

Representative and Mrs. Lewis A. Douglas, Mr. F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, and Mrs. Davison and Mr. and Mrs. Hanford MacNider are among those who will go to Herkimer, N. Y., to attend the marriage of Miss Helen Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson, and Mr. John Arthur Hinckley on Saturday.

Mrs. J. Blaise de Sibour has gone to Herkimer to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Robinson until after the wedding, at which she will be matron of honor. Mr. de Sibour will be best man for Mr. Hinckley, leaving town for Herkimer later this week.

Mrs. James R. Ellerson and her son, Dr. Edmund Ellerson, are motoring in Canada, where Mr. James R. Ellerson, jr., will join them shortly.

Mrs. and Miss Latimer To Summer in Newport.

Mrs. Latimer, wife of Rear Admiral Julian Latimer, and Miss Laura Latimer have gone to Newport and expect to be at the Corson Cottage for the summer. Admiral Latimer is at present on duty in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schoelkopf, who have been in Washington for several days, left last night for New York and will visit at their home in Buffalo before sailing late this month for Spain. Mr. Schoelkopf, Secretary of the United States Embassy at Madrid, is now on leave. Several months ago Mr. and Mrs. Schoelkopf purchased what is known as "the Duehay property" on Macomb street, a house beautifully situated in a tree-shaded garden, and while they were in town this time work was started on remodeling the house.

Mrs. Anne L. Bowlin has arrived in Washington from her home in St. Paul, Minn., and is staying at The Carlton.

Mrs. F. E. Mitchell entertained a small company at luncheon yesterday in the garden restaurant of the Carlton.

Miss Susan Thomson Is Hostess at Dinner.

Miss Susan Thomson, of Alexandria, Va., entertained informally at dinner on the Willard roof last evening. Miss Thomson's guests included Miss Margaret Blume, of New York; Mr. Dean Edie and Mr. Stanley Swann.

Lieut. and Mrs. Ralph Smith Riggs, who have been in Newport at the Naval War College, have returned to Washington from a brief visit at the Cavalier, Virginia Beach, and have taken an apartment at 2301 Connecticut avenue.

Lieut. Comdr. R. H. Knight, U. S. N., and Mrs. Knight, have come from Edgewater, Md., and are staying at the Wardman Park Hotel for a short time.

Distinguished Group Sponsors "The Tempest."

Distinguished representatives of the Federal and District governments will be the guests of honor at the opening performance of the spectacular outdoor presentation of the Shakespearean comedy-idyl, "The Tempest," Thursday evening, June 19, at the National Sylvan Theater in the Monument Grounds. Many prominent Washington women who are sponsoring this civic drama event offered by the Community Drama Guild will occupy boxes or entertain "chair parties" either on the first night or the following evening, Friday, June 20, when the play will be repeated by the big cast of popular players.

Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur is one of the sponsors of the event, also Mrs. James Southworth Parker, wife of Representative Parker; Mrs. Merritt W. Ireland, Miss Grace E. Burton, Mrs. Delos Blodgett, Mrs. William Kearney Carr, Mrs. Carl Casey, Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Thomas J. Hutchinson, Mrs. Arthur Tirrell, Mrs. Absalom Waller and Mrs. David B. Wills. Mrs. Henry T. Allen, wife of Gen. Allen, and Mrs. James E. Freeman, wife of the Bishop of Washington, both of whom are out of the city, have been added to the list of "absentee sponsors" for "The Tempest."

On return to the city tomorrow of Mrs. Fulton Lewis, who has been at West Point, N. Y., for the past week, the reservations of boxes now being received by Mrs. William Wheatley, will be definitely assigned.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell are passing a few days at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City.

Mrs. William Fitch Kelley is leaving today for Aurora, Ill., where she will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. McClure Kelley. Before sailing for Europe in July, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will visit the senior Mrs. Kelley at the Knoll, her country home.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Langhorne have closed their house and are staying for a week at the Anchorage before going to Bar Harbor, Me., where they will occupy their cottage for the summer.

The committee making arrangements for the annual outing of the University of Michigan Alumni, which will take place on Saturday at the country place of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Newbold in Silver Spring, Md., includes Dr. Elmer W. Brandes, Mr. H. T. Teegarden, Mrs. George W. Lipscomb, Mrs. Alfred T. Newbold, Mrs. Charles D. Cole, Mrs. James G. Cumming, Mrs. Norman F. Harriman, Mrs. Herman D. Mast, Mrs. James F. Pierce, Mrs. A. James Robertson and Mrs. James A. Rolls.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. W. Richardson, of Laurel, Md., are attending graduating exercises of St. John's College, Brooklyn, where their son, Mr. John A. W. Richardson, jr., will receive the degree of bachelor of laws.

Miss Mary Ingraham Henry, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry, entertained at luncheon and bridge yesterday at the National Woman's Country Club in honor of Miss Isabel Lamberton, whose marriage to Mr. Jennings Bailey, jr., will take place in the early summer. Miss Henry, who will be one of Miss Lamberton's bridesmaids, had twelve guests, each bringing gifts of handkerchiefs for the bride-to-be.

Men to Play Major Part in Prestes Fete

Brazil President-Elect's Party Will Have No Women Guests.

Except at the dinner which the Ambassador of Brazil, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral, is giving on Saturday night, with President Hoover as the honor guest, the ladies will have little part in the official entertaining in connection with the visit of Dr. Julio Prestes, President-elect of Brazil, who will arrive in town this afternoon. The dinner at the White House on Thursday evening will be a man's dinner, as will be, presumably, the Secretary of State's dinner next evening, and only men will attend the luncheon in Dr. Prestes' honor which is to be given by the governing board of the Pan-American Union.

Had Senora de Prestes carried out her original intention of coming to the United States with her husband, things would probably have been handled somewhat differently. It seems that Senora de Prestes, her daughters and several other ladies were in the presidential party as it was originally made up, but that Senora de Prestes was taken ill on the eve of departure and so the entire feminine contingent disembarked, leaving the men of the party to come on alone.

Had Senora de Prestes come, Mrs. Hoover, perhaps might have lingered at the White House until after the dinner for the President-elect of Brazil. However, as it is, she will remain in camp on the Rapidan indefinitely, hoping that complete rest and relaxation will contribute to her rapid recovery. She has withdrawn from the Brazilian Ambassador's dinner on Saturday evening, which she had originally hoped to attend.

Mrs. Hoover yesterday received an LL.D. degree from Elmira College, first institution in the United States to confer degrees upon women. She had planned to receive the honor in person, but her recent injury prevented her making the trip to Elmira, N. Y.

Mrs. Helen L. Williams, of Baltimore, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Helen Freeman Williams, to Mr. Basil Gordon, son of Mrs. George Barnett, of Washington. The name Waterman's is a part of the Gift

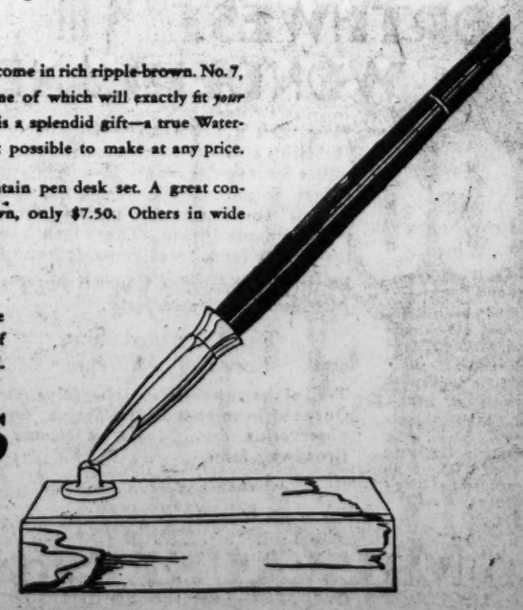
In selecting a graduation gift, you want it to be the very best in its class. And that's one of the joys in giving a Waterman's. For, from the exquisite Waterman's Patrician, all the way down to the most modestly-priced pen, you are giving the finest in craftsmanship and writing quality that it is possible to find. There's no better start-off for these young graduates than a serviceable, beautifully finished Waterman's gift.

First among all Waterman's pens stands the Patrician. Trust any young graduate to recognize the smart executive look of this beautifully hand-crafted pen in its jewel tones of Onyx, Nacre, Turquoise, Emerald and Jet. The Patrician is $10, and there's a pencil to match, at $5.

Waterman's famous No. 7 and No. 5 pens come in rich ripple-brown. No. 7, at $7, offers seven different pen points, one of which will exactly fit your hand. No. 5, slightly smaller is $5. Either is a splendid gift—a true Waterman's; always the best writing-instrument possible to make at any price.

Another prized gift is a Waterman's fountain pen desk set. A great convenience for anyone who writes. As shown, only $7.50. Others in wide selection at varying prices.



Every Waterman's is guaranteed forever against defects. Service Stations are maintained at the addresses below for the purpose of making good our guarantee and for servicing our pens as required.

J. A. CHAMBERLAIN EXPIRES IN CAPITAL

Manual Training Supervisor in District Schools Is Heart Victim.

HAD TAUGHT 43 YEARS

John A. Chamberlain, pioneer manual training instructor in the District schools, died yesterday at his home, 1502 Emerson street, after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Chamberlain came to the District schools in 1887 as instructor in manual training in Washington High School. In 1906, after reorganization of the system, he was made supervisor of manual training. In the meantime, he had been made director of woodworking.

Under Mr. Chamberlain's supervision, the manual training work became outstanding in the school curriculum. The shop was originally located in the basement of the school. After several changes had been made in the location of instruction rooms, the course in 1902 was finally taught in a new high school then known as the McKinley Manual Training High School. Mr. Chamberlain was instrumental in framing courses in what is known as the McKinley High School.

Mr. Chamberlain became ill two weeks ago at his office in the Franklin Administration Building. Four days ago his condition became critical. Heart disease was the cause of death.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, John P., of Pittsburgh, and Herbert A. Chamberlain, of York, Pa.; three daughters, Mrs. Thomas H. Tonseth, who is now in China with her husband, a naval officer; Mrs. Mary Yerrick and Miss Grace C. Chamberlain, of this city, and a sister, Miss Grace M. Chamberlain, of Worcester, Mass.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

MRS. M. I. PARKER DEAD.

Widow of Capital Banker, 85, Expires After Brief Illness.

Mrs. M. Isabella Parker, 85 years old, widow of E. Southard Parker, former president of the National Metropolitan Bank, died yesterday at her home, 1788 Connecticut avenue, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Parker came to this city in 1887 from Mifflintown, Pa. She was a member of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. Mr. Parker died in 1921.

Surviving her are seven children, Mrs. John B. Larner, Mrs. H. K. Willard, W. W. W. Parker and Brainard W. Parker, all of this city; Mrs. Roscoe C. North, of Selins Grove, Pa.; Ezra D. Parker, of Mifflintown, Pa., and Mrs. A. Reed Hayes, of Lewistown, Pa. A brother and sister, George C. Wilson and Mrs. Charles W. Mayer, both of Mifflintown, also survive.

Services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence. Burial will be in Mifflintown. The Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

MRS. MARY M. ROSE RITES

Services to be Held at Home Tomorrow at 2 O'clock.

Mrs. Mary M. Rose, a well-known resident of Washington, who died yesterday, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Congressional Cemetery, following services at 2 o'clock at her home, 2063 Tilden street, where she died.

Mrs. Rose, the mother of Francis C. Rose, assistant to Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was born in this city 73 years ago. She taught in the District schools for three years before her marriage.

Mrs. Rose, after her retirement from active work, did not lose interest in the schools, and for many years was active in their behalf. In addition to Francis Rose, she is survived by another son, Leonidas B. Rose, and two daughters, Mary E. and Lael T. Rose.

LIEUT. FOOKS RITES.

Naval Officer's Burial to Be Held Today in Arlington.

Funeral services for Lieut. Armwell Fooks, U. S. Navy, who died following an operation Saturday at the Naval Hospital at Pensacola, Fla., will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at Arlington Cemetery. The body arrived at the receiving vault there yesterday.

Lieut. Fooks was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1926 and was completing flying training at Pensacola. He had a wide circle of friends here.

EDWIN D. SAMPSON BURIED.

Funeral Services Held in All Saints' Church in Richmond.

Edwin DeWitt Sampson, 25 years old, who died Monday at his home, 5 East Melrose street, Chevy Chase, Md., was buried yesterday afternoon in Hollywood Cemetery following services in the All Saints' Episcopal Church, Richmond, Va.

Mr. Sampson was a graduate of Western High School and later attended the University of Virginia. In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, George L. Sampson and Thomas R. Sampson, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary R. Tew, Miss Eva W. Sampson and Miss Marion V. Sampson.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES AT AGE OF 90

Injuries Received in Fall Prove to Be Fatal to Howard M. Gillman.

SERVICE SET TOMORROW

Howard M. Gillman, 90 years old, a Civil War veteran, who lived at 2618 Thirteenth street northwest, died yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital. Death came as an aftermath of an accident on June 5, when Mr. Gillman fell down a flight of steps at his home, fracturing his hip. The coroner issued a certificate of death from natural causes.

Mr. Gillman was first lieutenant in the First New Jersey Vounteers and was acting captain when mustered out. The last 50 years of his life were spent in Washington, though he was born in New York City. For 52 years he served in the Treasury Department.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emily E. Gillman, and six children. They are Miss Emily Gillman, Mrs. J. Herbert J. Yule and George, Horace, Howard and Charles Gillman. A sister, Miss Jenny M. Gillman, also survives.

Mr. Gillman was prominent in Masonic circles, being past master of B. B. French Lodge and past high priest of Washington Royal Arch Chapter. He was also connected with the Grand Army of the Republic.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Yule tomorrow at 2 o'clock. He is to be buried in Arlington Cemetery with full military honors.

REPARATIONS LOAN TO OPEN THIS WEEK

$98,250,000 Is Assigned for Subscription in U. S.; Total Is $300,000,000.

Paris, June 10 (A.P.).—Officials of the Bank for International Settlements announced late tonight that the $300,000,000 German reparations loan would be issued this week on the nine markets interested.

The conference of international bankers, representatives of the Settlements Bank and officials of creditor powers reached final agreement tonight after numerous meetings for more than a month.

The issue will be at 90 except in France, where, because there is no tax on stock certificates, it will be about 98. The interest rate is 5½ per cent.

The nominal amounts to be subscribed in the different countries are as follows:

United States—$98,250,000.
Germany—36,000,000 reichsmarks ($8,200,000).
Belgium—35,000,000 belgas ($4,500,000).
France—2,215,000,000 francs ($88,000,000).
Great Britain—12,000,000 pounds ($58,000,000).
Italy—110,000,000 lire ($5,500,000).
Holland—73,000,000 florins ($30,000,000).
Sweden—110,000,000 crowns ($29,000,000).
Switzerland—62,000,000 Swiss francs ($17,000,000).

The figures in dollars listed are only approximate. The total amount of the issue will be between $340,000,000 and $350,000,000.

FOES MOVE TO SPIKE LA FOLLETTES GUNS

Chairman of Conservatives Attacks Chain Stores and Chain Banks.

GROUP INDORSES KOHLER

Oshkosh, Wis., June 10 (A.P.).—A move that would greatly limit the issues between LaFollette progressives and conservatives, in the forthcoming Republican primaries, was inaugurated today at the State convention of the conservative wing of the party.

A. B. Fontaine, convention chairman, in the keynote address attacked chain stores nad chain banking, a stand that is known to have the concurrence of the LaFollette group.

Indications are that the platform to be drawn up later by the conservatives, will contain a plank that would give the State licenssing powers over such absentee-owned companies.

Charles B. Perry, conservative candidate for governor in 1926, suggested the convention favor legislatino liberalizing laws relating to municipal-owned utilities. This also was understool to have the tacit indorsement of the LaFollette group.

The conservatives were unanimous in indorsing Gov. Walter Kohler as their candidate for reelection. Kohler, who was recently acquitted of charges of violatnig the State corrupt practices act, is a manufacturer of Kohler, Wis.

The conservative slate will oppose one yet to be chosen by the LaFollette group. Phillip LaFollette, brother of the United States Sentaor Robert LaFollette, jr., is generally understood to be the pick of the progressives to oppose Kohler in the gubernatorial race.

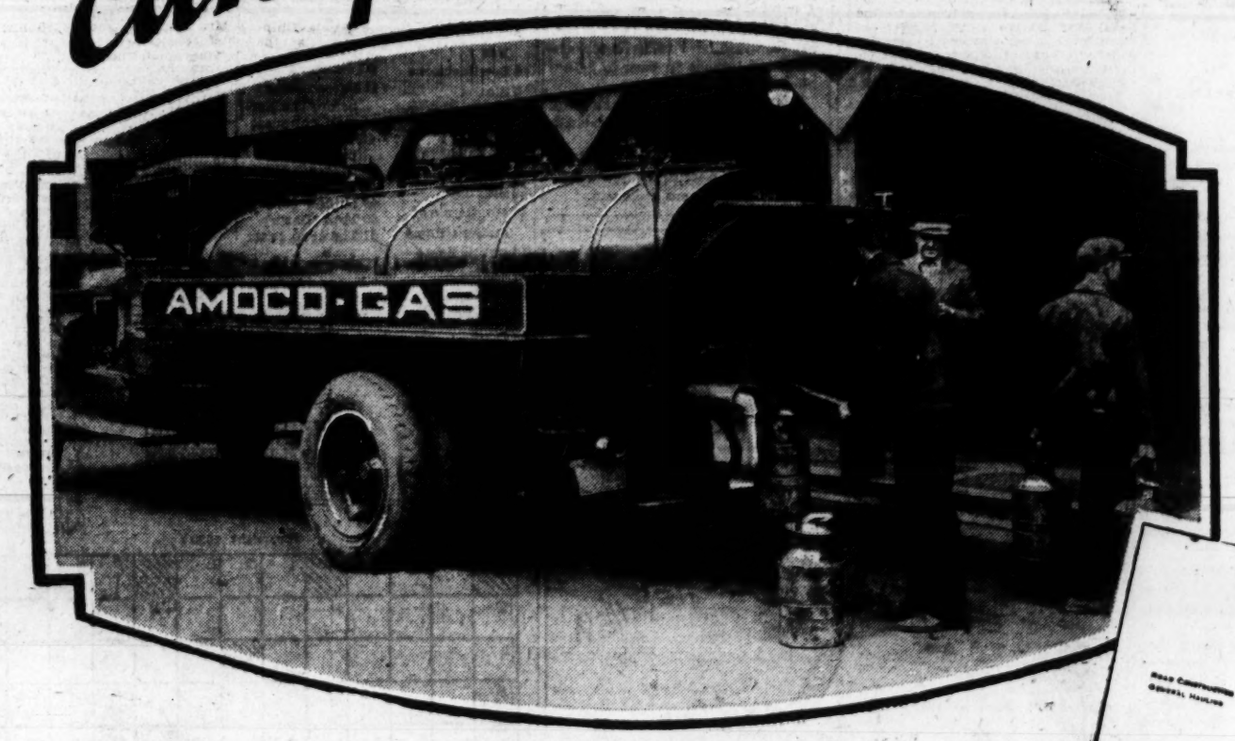
NEVER MIND THE TRACTORS! with Amoco-Gas our trucks can pull a 40% grade!



PICTURE a ninety-foot deep excavation in the heart of Philadelphia. Think of heavily loaded trucks trying to climb out of it up a grade varying from 25 to 40 degrees.

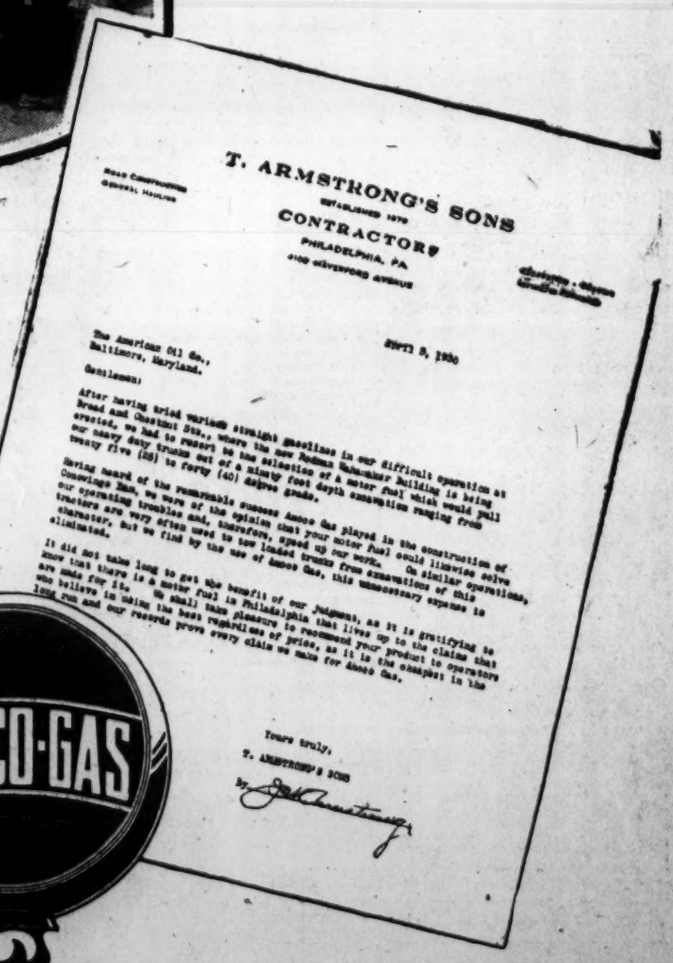
You don't strike hills like that on the road! But that was the grade up which the trucks of T. Armstrong's Sons had to haul stone and dirt during the excavation for the foundation of a big Philadelphia building.

On similar operations, tractors had usually been used to tow loaded trucks up to the street level. But T. Armstrong's Sons had heard about the sterling performance of Amoco-Gas—and decided that there might be a way to abolish the need of tractors.

And they did! Amoco-Gas was used in all their trucks—and the work was speeded up while the expense of tractors was saved. That's still another way in which Amoco-Gas has saved money for those who use it!

And you'll note in the last paragraph of T. Armstrong's Sons letter that they say—"We shall take pleasure in recommending your product to operators who believe in the best regardless of price, as Amoco-Gas is the cheapest in the long run."

For heavy hauling or for pleasure trips—Amoco-Gas is cheapest whether the run is long or short!



T. ARMSTRONG'S SONS
CONTRACTORS
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The American Oil Co.,
Baltimore, Maryland.

April 5, 1930

Gentlemen:

After having tried various straight gasolines in our difficult operation at Broad and Chestnut Sts., where the new Bankers Securities Building is being erected, we had to resort to the use of a ninety foot depth excavation ranging from our heavy duty trucks out of a ninety foot depth excavation ranging from twenty five (25) to forty (40) degree grade.

Having heard of the remarkable success Amoco Gas had played in the construction of Conowingo Dam, we were of the opinion that your motor fuel could likewise solve our operating troubles and, therefore, speed up our work. On similar operations, tractors are very often used to tow loaded trucks from excavations of this character, but we find by the use of Amoco Gas, this unnecessary expense is eliminated.

It did not take long to get the benefit of our judgment, as it is gratifying to know that there is a motor fuel in Philadelphia that lives up to the claims that are made for it.

We shall take pleasure in recommending your product to operators who believe in the best regardless of price, as it is the cheapest in the long run and our records prove every claim we make for Amoco Gas.

Yours truly,
T. ARMSTRONG'S SONS

MORE ABOUT ROSES.

THIS is the time to give your roses a good dusting with sulphur-arsenate-tobacco. These ingredients can be purchased separately and mixed together when needed. It is well at this time to keep the ground quite loose about the plants and to stir a trowelful of bonemeal and sheep manure in equal parts about each root. Do not neglect to water your rose garden every day that it does not rain. Never be content with merely moistening the surface soil, but thoroughly water the ground to the depths of the longest roots.

Perhaps the rose aphid is the most widely distributed rose enemy. It is a small, pinkish-green insect found on the tender parts of the plant, especially the terminal ends. As it is a sucking insect it feeds on the plant juices and thus causes the leaves and blossoms to become deformed. This wee bug can soon be dislodged by a stiff stream of water from the garden hose. This is such a simple remedy that there is no excuse for having your roses destroyed by aphids. If, however, you have so small a garden that you do not own a garden hose, you can soon get rid of the aphids by spraying the plants with any reliable nicotine spray.

The American rose slug is an unsightly-looking little greenish animal much like a caterpillar. These crawlers can soon be routed with the strong stream from the garden hose, or you can dissolve one ounce of lead arsenate in one gallon of water and use as a spray. Some authorities recommend fresh hellebore powder at the rate of one ounce to three gallons of water. Tobacco will also kill rose slugs.

The tiny insect that feeds on the under surface of the leaves is known as the rose leaf-hopper. It is small, white and exceedingly active. This enemy can be controlled in the same manner as the rose slug or aphid.

The rose bug is the worst insect to combat. It is both bothersome and persistent. It is a beetle about one-half inch in length, and is said to be fonder of the lighter-colored roses. This is a hard insect to discourage. The best time to kill it is in the early morning, when it is a little less active, but any time is a good time to kill rose bugs.

Arsenate of lead mixed with molasses will sometimes kill rose bugs. This is, as you know, a poison, so must be kept away from children or other irresponsible persons. There is more than one proprietary insecticide for fighting rose bugs. Hand picking is a practical method where you have only a few plants; merely shake them into a pail of water on the surface of which a little kerosene has been poured.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

NUT BISCUIT.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

An easily made treat for luncheon or supper, in combination with preserves or cream cheese or both, is nut biscuit. These are ideal if served hot, but you will find that any left-over biscuits will not go begging, if your household includes one or two active boys who come around in the middle of the afternoon or at the end of a game of tennis or baseball, looking for a little extra snap to restore the energy they have given out. Take some, too, for the picnic lunch. The directions are from the Bureau of Home Economics.

2 cups sifted soft-wheat flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
¾ teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon fat.
½ cup ground nuts.
2-3 cup milk, or enough for soft dough.

Sift the dry ingredients and cut in the fat and nuts. Add the milk and stir from the center with a fork until a soft dough is formed. Toss the dough lightly on a floured board. Press into a sheet about ¼ inch thick with the palm of the hand. Cut in small rounds, brush the tops with butter and place one round above the other. Bake in a quick oven until lightly brown. Serve hot with marmalade or cheese and jelly.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Like a snack of a midnight sky is this evening robe with its "stars" of shining strass. (Courtesy of Doeuillet-Doucet, Paris.)

Paris, June 10.

REMEMBER Alana? She was the wild Irish rose who pinch-hitted for La Chic Secretaire three years ago in New York and well, New York still chuckles over us.

Well, she landed feet first on my old gray head yesterday and I'm not making any future promises about the existence of this fashun collum! "And oh she'd just go out shopping today because she didn't have a thing to wear, really, and then all in a new evening dress and wrap 'n' everything we'd go to the Follies Bergere Saturday night."

Her astonishment at being told that you don't and can't buy clothes that way here reminded me that perhaps you'd be interested in knowing about that, too. That there's no such a thing as a ready-made dress in Paris, not that you'd wear, anyway, and that the absolute minimum of time in which you might expect to have anything made is two weeks—and that with much weeping and wailing and gnashing of shears on the part of the couturier when you order anything very special, you had better count on three or four weeks.

* * * *

But there is something about the Paris air, and the Paris life and the joy of "not rushing forward to meet death who will meet you soon enough," as the Arabs say, that makes it not matter at all how many weeks you have to wait for a shoe or a hat or a dress. And then, too, there is so much to enjoy, which strangely enough you find time to enjoy when you make the time.

* * * *

And what is it about Paris that makes it so innately the center of fashion? Is it the soft air? Is it the presence of feminine loveliness caught and molded in marble to grace the gardens, the "palaces," the boulevards and the "Bois?" Is it the common denominator of the mingling of all nationalities?

* * * *

Midnight blue, as I have often told you, is a smart and striking color for evening dresses this season. Doeuillet-Doucet offers this stunning evening gown that I have sketched for you today, with its flattering side back decolletage and its strass. The strass trimming makes the shoulder trimming as well as the bodice ornament.

* * * *

There is no such thing—or rather there shouldn't be—as a made-over dress. By all the laws of good taste it should be a new dress made out of material from an old one. But if that seems like just so much Greek or Chinese or some other unintelligible language to you, the thing to do is send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet. It's full of the most helpful hints about what to do with the too short dress, the too narrow blouse, the too slim-legged pajamas and the too tailored suit.

Then, there's the weekly Dare fashion letter which you should look for each Sunday in The Post.

Au revoir!

Events of the War 13 Years Ago Today

JUNE 11, 1917.

Allies began "big squeeze" against the German right flank in France and Belgium.

William Howard Taft, speaking at Pittsburgh, declared the United States would have to use 6,000,000 men and billions in cash to bring about a "just peace."

A British patrol boat sank two of five seaplanes which attacked it, capturing both pilots.

Eleven persons were arrested in an antidraft meeting in New York, addressed by Emma Goldman.

The Goofus Giraffe

The Goofus Giraffe has the funniest laugh
Which starts way down in his throat
And will quite often last
When the joke is long past
Because his control is remote.
As a result of this fact he appears to lack tact
And laughs when instead he should weep,
Then he doesn't feel right
As he's really polite
And a faux pas just make him feel cheap!

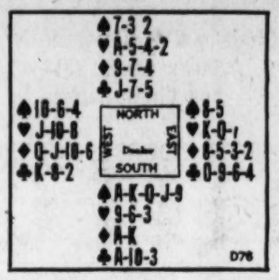
WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE DONE BETTER?



The above hand was played in a game of Contract Bridge. South, with eight practically sure tricks, bid three Spades; North, with an Ace to assist, bid four. South's bid to take nine tricks when he was sure of only eight was sound because Declarer usually will pick up an extra trick in the play of the hand.

In Auction South would have played a Spade contract of one.

THE PLAY.

West led the Queen of Diamonds; South won and took out all the adverse trumps in three rounds. Dummy was then put in with a Heart and led the Jack of Clubs; East did not cover and South finessed. West won and led another Diamond, and in the end Declarer was obliged to lose two Hearts and one more Club, so that he failed to make game.

Could you have done better?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

When Declarer examined his dummy, he could see that it contained one trick which justified North's jump from three to four; but probably would not enable him to make game because he needed one trick beyond that.

Declarer's only chance was to make up a thirteenth Heart in dummy; and of course if the six adverse Hearts were divided 4-2 instead of the improbable 3-3, his effort to establish a thirteener would be futile.

So Declarer's scheme of play should have been first to draw the adverse trumps and then lead a Heart and duck in dummy. The probability is that another Diamond then would be led, after which Declarer would repeat both the Heart lead and the Heart duck. Then Declarer would be in position, after ruffing a Diamond or having his Ace of Clubs extracted, to try the third lead of Hearts. Dummy's Ace would win and his last Heart would be a thirteener with an even division of the six adverse Hearts.

With the above distribution Declarer could have made game by the two Heart ducks.

What Today Means to You

"GEMINI."

IF June 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to 5:15 p. m.

Opposing influences will interfere with the smooth sailing of your ship of life on this date. Dame Fortune will frown and not smile upon your efforts, but you can, with patience and persistence, overcome her handicaps.

The child born on this June 11 will be very methodical and precise; frugal and persevering. All tendencies to melancholy should be actively combated. Its horoscope shows scientific and mechanical interest and ability.

There is an admixture of selfishness and unselfishness in your nature, and it is difficult to find the dividing line. It is the domineering part of your nature which makes you selfish. You never shirk your own responsibilities, and you are willing, and many times anxious, to carry the burdens of others. There is nothing suits you better than to solve the problems of some one else. You help people, but you do not help them to help themselves. The possessive part of your makeup is strongly developed, and you love the feeling of ownership—this applies to people as well as things. You must be absolutely boss; your mind, your personality, your ideas, your ways, must overshadow those of others.

As a parent you would smother your children with love and care, at the same time denying them their precious independence of thought and action. You would probably cramp their development, and would be a veritable paternal or maternal vampire.

You have a most forceful nature, but not a tactful one. Your tongue puts fear in the heart of others; your efficiency is overpowering. You elbow your way through your difficulties, instead of choosing a smoother path or method. Your armor of indifference is not as strong as it appears, as it is easily penetrated, and you are easily wounded—almost "touchy."

Successful people born June 11:
Henry W. Bellows, clergyman.
Augustus H. Garland, governor and senator.
Eliphalet F. Andrews, artist.
Arthur Brooks, New York clergyman.
Leland O. Howard, entomologist.
Jeannette Rankin, congresswoman.

Schumann-Heink, Once, Opera Star, in '4-a-Day'

New York, June 10 (A.P.).—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, for years one of the most famous opera singers, arrived today to begin a week's engagement in the four-a-day.

Despite her almost 69 years, the woman who has two great-grandchildren felt no trepidation about the strenuousness of the program.

"It'll be easy," she said, as she stepped off the train from Hollywood. "I know how to sing now. I don't shout as I did when I was young."

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

FRANK PAYNE, editor of the Quill, the official journal of the Theatrical Press Representatives of America, closed his editorial desk in New York long enough to make a sojourn to Washington yesterday in the interests of the theater at large. The Quill is putting on a campaign to revive the road. It means, of course, plenty of hard work on the part of the press agents, managers and producers; not to mention the playwrights and the actors.

* * * *

WHILE the editor was away from his desk, the press agents' organization held its annual election, making Mr. Wallace Munro president. At the same time, the Friars elected Mr. Munro prior of the monastery. It was, in other words, a great day for the Munro family, one of the best known in the theatrical world, where Charlotte Tittle Munro once reigned as leading lady.

* * * *

AND now comes Mr. George S. Kaufman in the role of an actor. He is playing a part in his latest work of drama, "Once in a Lifetime," which has to do with an author lost in the mystic mazes of Hollywood. So that the disguise might be perfect Mr. Kaufman has changed his name to Calvin Brown.

A GEORGE TYLER production comes to town Monday night when the National Theatre Players unfold "Your Uncle Dudley." It was this play that brought the late Raymond Hitchcock off the musical comedy stage and onto the boards, catering to straight-line comedy. Poor old Hitchy was going like a house afire in "Your Uncle Dudley" when he got sick out in Chicago and never regained his health.

* * * *

THOUGH this is the off season in the theater, new productions and plays are flirting with Broadway. First of the big revues to hit town happens to be "Artist and Models," under a strangely unfamiliar title. They are calling it this year "The Paris-Riviera Edition of 1930."

* * * *

MR. WALTER GILBERT, playing the title role in "The Bachelor Father," in the National Theater, has just about convinced a lot of people hereabout that his style of acting is what the patrons of the theater like. Certainly the man is versatile—and no matter what choice Clifford Brooke, the director, hands out, Mr. Gilbert turns in a good performance; but that, as they say, is why he's there.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

"Those Jazzy Marriages"

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I just read Poor Jazzy Bride's letter and how I can sympathize with her. I am now married two and one-half years, and fairly reconciled, but the first six months I thought I would die, for his people treated me as if I were some sort of animal, especially his three sisters, who were just poisonous to me.

We had no money, and were dependent on his parents, and they sure did rub it in. In addition my husband told me he had just ruined his life in marrying me, and from the moment we faced his mother after the wedding I hated him for a sneak, for he blamed it all on me.

But out of pride, we stuck together and after the first awful feelings died down we began to get used to the idea of being married, and now we are living a normal married life in two rooms of our own.

But I know Poor Jazzy Bride is having an awful time, too awful for any one to understand without experiencing it. She at least can tell her husband she did it for love, since they used to be in love before they eloped. With me there wasn't even that excuse. I just did it. I had to give up school and everything. Just two poor young fools, Miss McDonald. That's all.

Now, however, I really believe he is contented enough. He is studying nights, and his folks now regard me as one of the family, where at first nothing was too awful to do to me. If I passed the living room door when guests were calling, the door was promptly closed. If guests came to a meal I was asked to go to my mother's for dinner, or to eat out. So I had it pretty hard. Now his mother often calls me on the 'phone just to chat or see how I am. And on my second anniversary he gave me the first gift of any kind I ever had from him. From then on we have been about as contented as the average couple.

But, oh, this marrying on a dare or an impulse, or worse because you are crazy from liquor, it is terrible. No beautiful memories, no love thrill, just quarreling and blaming each other.

But cheer up, bride. They will forgive you yet, if you just keep your head and smile.

"ANOTHER JAZZY BRIDE."

'The Tempest' to Appear On Elizabethan Stage

An Elizabethan stage is being built at Sylvan Theater in the Monument Grounds for the production next week of Shakespeare's comedy, "The Tempest." The play, which will be presented June 19 and 20, will be given by the Community Drama Guild in conjunction with the Office of Public Buildings and Parks.

Prof. Will Hutchins, of American University, is superintending erection of the stage, which will include arrangements to give a fifteenth century lighting effect.

WHOZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was an American.
2. Late in the eighteenth century he went to Europe to study painting, but while there abandoned that idea and turned his efforts to science and invention.
3. During the Napoleonic wars he perfected a primitive submarine which he endeavored without success to sell to both the French and British governments.
4. Another of his inventions, perfected in America, brought about revolutionary changes in water navigation.

Answer to yesterday: Benjamin Franklin.

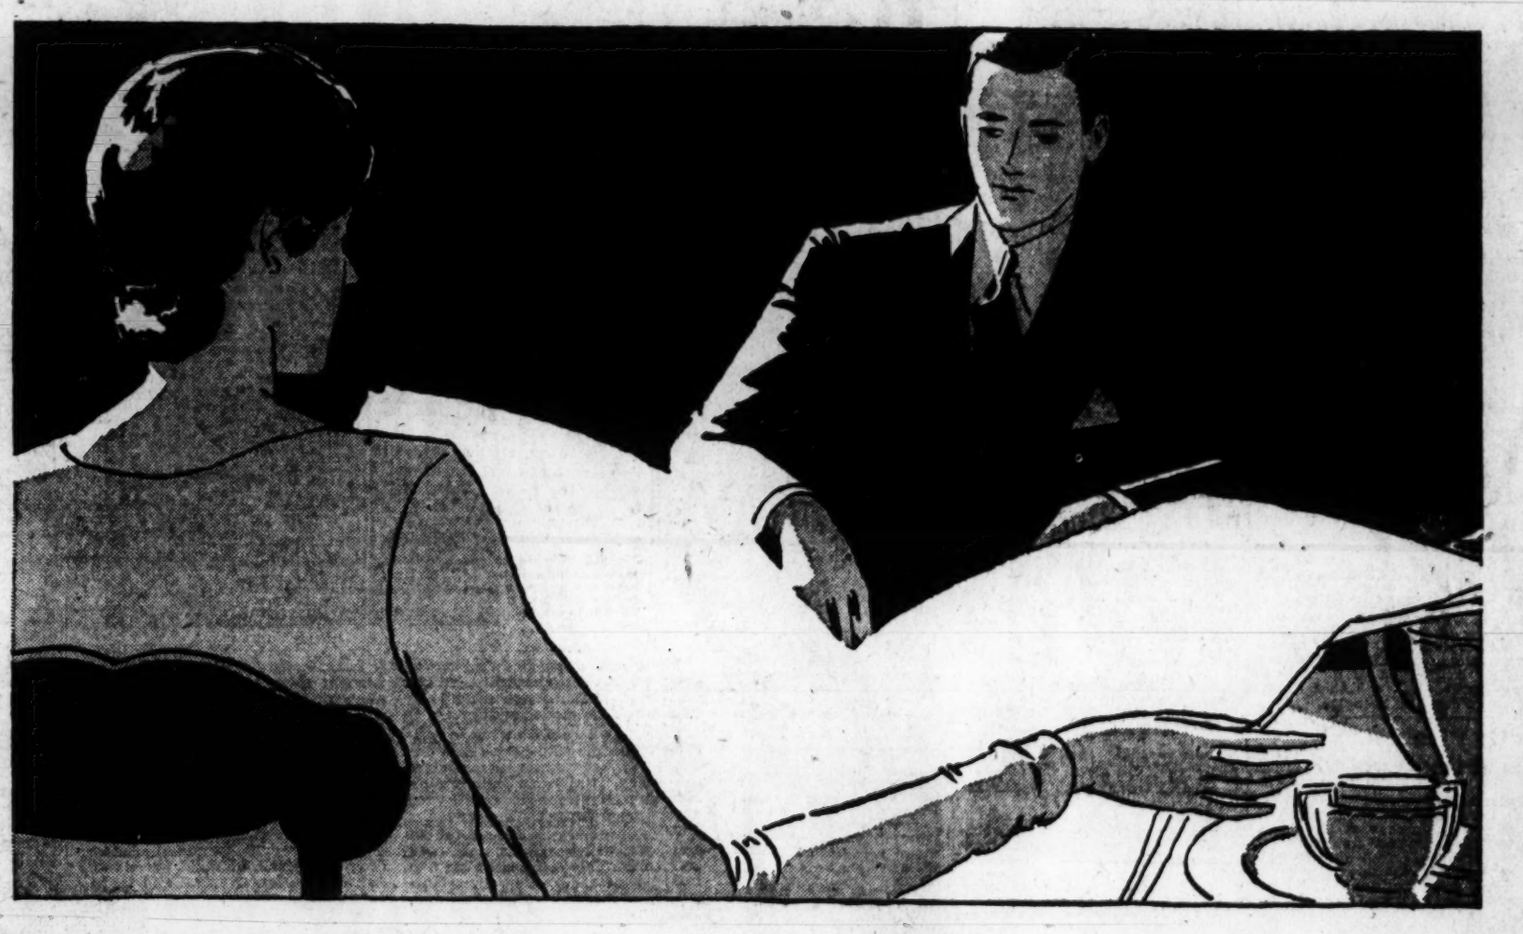
Vita-minute Messages

tie mental strings on your fingers



Probably you have noticed that you not only read morning shopping suggestions with greater alertness and responsiveness, but—and this is especially important—you remember to act upon them.

At night, when you turn down the blanket on your bed, you turn your back on a day that is past history. Usually it has been a wearing one, and by evening you are apt to be tired—"too tired to think," as you've probably often expressed it.

But how different you feel in the morning—this morning, for example! Rested and refreshed, mentally as well as physically, you look forward into the day with an alertness and enthusiasm that, alas! will vanish as the afternoon drags. That's why these morning minutes—these Vita-Minutes, if you please—are doubly valuable to you . . . and to the merchants of Washington.

You pick up The Post with a great eagerness to know what's been happening while you've been resting. An item here suggests you call your broker or banker—and an advertisement calls your attention to a smart looking coat or hat; over here a review and an advertisement, together, prompt your decision to "take in a show tonight." Indeed, how could you ever plan the day without the morning Post?

As you read, perhaps without your realizing it, these early-morning messages tie "mental strings on your fingers"—mental strings that will remind you, later in the day, to attend to this or that business matter, strings that won't let you forget those purchases you decide upon. For, because your morning mind is clearer, more active and more responsive, Vita-Minute messages have a way of jogging your memory and getting results the same day.

The Washington merchants whose advertisements you see in The Post this morning know this. And they are also aware that to you—and to more than 78,000 other well-to-do families—The Post is a trusted friend of forty-six years' standing. This alert Vita-Minute reading you give The Post . . . or the confidence you have in both its news and shopping news—there's a question which is most important to the advertiser.

But there can be no question about their combined value to the merchant who wants to build reputation—as well as to move merchandise quickly!

The Washington Post.

TEN LARGEST CITIES' STANDING REVEALED

Los Angeles Fails in Effort to Push Detroit Out of Fourth Place.

BALTIMORE IS NINTH

(Associated Press.)

With the relative rank of those two million-mark cities, Detroit and Los Angeles, definitely established, the 1930 rating of the ten greatest urban centers is now a certainty with a single exception.

Boston may possibly push St. Louis, which came in with only 5.7 per cent increase, out of seventh place. This would not appear to be a strong probability since other large Massachusetts cities have shown small increases or slight decreases.

If Boston remains in her present place, the big ten will read, in order of population, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

Though the increase rate of Los Angeles in the last ten years (113.59) was almost double that of Detroit (57.4), she couldn't quite catch up, for Detroit also was moving at a speed spectacular among great cities. Their comparative populations for the last 30 years has been:

	1930	1920	1910	1900
Detroit	1,564,397	993,678	465,766	284,704
Los Angeles	1,231,730	576,673	319,198	102,479

VIVISECTION CALLED SCIENCE NECESSITY

this, he added, is saving the lives not only of dogs but of human beings as well.

The owners of dogs do not turn to antivivisectionists when their dogs are ill, he said, but to science. And the only way to save most dogs, he declared, is to experiment on a few.

Proponents Are Heard.

The antivivisectionists, he declared, would go back to the Middle Ages, when problems were settled not by scientific experiments but by foolish debate. In conclusion, he declared that none of them liked dogs any more than he did.

Mrs. Clinton P. Farrell, a venerable little lady with snow-white hair and representing the Vivisection Investigation League of New York, told the committee of numerous cases of dogs tortured by experimenting scientists. It would not be so bad, she said, but nothing came of these experiments that was not already known.

Her statements were echoed by the other proponents of the bill—Mabel E Orgelman, secretary of the Vivisection Investigating League; Thomas W. Pond, president of the Animal Protective Bureau of Maryland; the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Smith, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal Church; Mrs. Herbert C. Elmore, president of the Washington Humane Society; Margaret Bonnell, of the Children's Humane Army of New York, and James A. Boyd, of the Maryland Antivivisection Society.

Dr. Fowler Is Witness.

Health Officer William C. Fowler, appearing in opposition to the bill, declared that experiments on dogs had resulted in discoveries that have saved many lives and he cited the experiments with hookworm as an example.

Dr. H. W. Shoening, of the Department of Agriculture, testified that about 30 dogs are experimented on at the department's station in Bethesda, Md., each year, and that some of them die. He said the experiments were justified by the benefits that accrue to dogs and to human beings.

200 of Catholic Clergy Attend Consecration

Latrobe, Pa., June 10 (A.P.).—The Rev. Alfred Koch, O. S. B., today became the fifth archabbot of St. Vincent's Monastery and Archabbey.

More than 200 priests were present, and abbots from all parts of the country took part in the ceremonies. Bishop Hugh C. Boyle, of the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese, officiated at the blessing service.

Suicide Try Laid to Woman.

Ethel Snoffer, 35 years old, of Boulevard Heights, Md., was carried to Casualty Hospital early yesterday morning after attempting suicide by drinking iodine at her home, police say. Her condition is undetermined.

Southern U. to Hold Commencement Tonight

Diplomas will be presented to almost 100 graduates of the Southeastern University and affiliated schools of the Washington Y. M. C. A. in joint commencement exercises at 8 o'clock tonight in Memorial Continental Hall.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. William Knowles Cooper, former general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., on the subject, "The Use of Leisure Time." Huston Thompson, president of the board of trustees of the university, will preside. Dr. Homer J. Councilor, dean of its School of Religion, will offer invocation and benediction.

Shouse Employe Held for Thefts

Butler, College Graduate, Released Under Bonds Totaling $11,000.

Axel W. Boye, 29 years old, butler for Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national committee, of 2230 Massachusetts avenue northwest, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on charges of grand larceny, housebreaking and bringing stolen property into the District and was ordered held for action of the grand jury under bonds totaling $11,000.

Police have booked 26 charges against the man, who is said to be a university graduate and an expert linguist. Boye was captured last Thursday morning, when he is alleged to have dropped loot stolen a few minutes before from the Gift Shop, at 1228 Connecticut avenue northwest.

The man is alleged to have stolen silverware, gems, household belongings and merchandise valued at more than $5,000. The silverware, which was recovered in Boye's home, according to the police, was stolen from Mr. Shouse's residence. His alleged depredations are said to have extended into Maryland and he is charged with bringing into the District goods valued at $620, which it is said were stolen from a Hyattsville, Md., home.

Traction Company Wins In $10,000 Damage Suit

Frederick Shortsleeves, of 616 Twenty-second street northwest, lost his $10,000 damage suit against the Capital Traction Co., yesterday when a District Supreme Court jury before Justice Frederick L. Siddons returned a verdict in favor of the traction company.

A previous trial of the case last February resulted in a mistrial. Mr. Shortsleeves alleged that he suffered permanent injuries when struck down November 9, 1927, by one of the defendant's cars while he was crossing Pennsylvania avenue northwest at Seventeenth street. The traction company set up a claim that the man was responsible for the accident.

EDISON TO URGE HOOV TO RUN FOR REELECTI

ernment is the worst managed business in the United States," he said.

Turning to the recent big drop in crude rubber prices, the inventor, who is seeking a synthetic substitute for rubber, said "they are selling crude rubber below the cost of production. This is a poor thing for everybody. Labor in the rubber countries gets only 30 cents a day."

Asked if he favored high wages for labor, Mr. Edison, who works 14 hours a day and enjoys it, said:

"Certainly, why not give the laborer a good wage as long as the business he works for is making money? Henry Ford's idea in that particular case is right. I agree with him there."

The inventor said there are more than 700 varieties of plants growing around Fort Myer and he had tested all of them. "About 10 per cent of the lot contained rubber, but golden rod is still the best. It is growing fine and making more rubber every day," he added.

Parents Reclaim Abandoned Infant

Charges to Be Withheld Provided They Care for Baby.

Baby Billy Bowen, who was left in the care of Mrs. Julia Bell, N street, near First street southeast, last Wednesday, by a couple who failed to return, is an abandoned baby no longer. Yesterday, after his parents had been taken to the House of Detention and questioned, they agreed to take the child home with them. On this understanding no charges were placed against them.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roth Bowen, of West Virginia avenue, near Fifteenth street northeast. They said they left the child with Mrs. Bell because they could not afford to keep it. Mrs. Bowen denied that the baby was abandoned, saying they intended to reclaim it in time.

When the baby was left with Mrs. Bell, the parents said they would return that day and get it. When they didn't, Mrs. Bell called police. She offered to keep the child and raise it herself, but police sent it to Children's Hospital. The Bowens came here from Fauquier County, Va., a few weeks ago. They were married about a year ago.

Walking Barber Shop Plea for Prisoner

Charged with carrying a concealed razor in his pocket, Thomas Stewart, colored, won his freedom in Police Court yesterday when he proved that he was a "walking barber shop" and thus entitled to his possession.

When questioned by Assistant United States Attorney John R. Fitzpatrick, Stewart called on police to testify that they had also found a pair of clippers, two combs, two pair of scissors, and two towels in his pockets.

Poison Dose Fatal to Man.

Lonnie Jennings, 31 years old, of Third street near C street northwest, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital. He was sent to the hospital on June 1, after what police term a suicide attempt. An inquest will be held at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

"THE FALL GUY"

The Rainbow's End is within Your reach

When S.S.S. is indicated in your case you owe it to yourself and friends to try it.

DID you ever feel so desperate you wanted to jump out of a window? That's the wrong end of the rainbow.

Ill health is a burden on body, mind and friends. But Nature never fails to signal her dangers. Lack of appetite, flabby flesh, loss of strength and skin troubles is a warning from Nature. This is her way of pleading for help.

The basic requirement for good health is rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments.

It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

If you desire firm flesh, a glowing complexion, energy, vitality and the blessings of health you must keep your blood in good condition.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

DISTRICT BUILDINGS APPROVED BY HOUSE

Passes Bills for Additions to Postoffice and Naval Hospital.

$7,200,000 TO BE COST

The House passed two more construction bills affecting the District of Columbia yesterday, the Elliott bill for an addition to the City Postoffice and the Britten bill for new buildings at the Naval Hospital.

Both bills now go to the Senate, where they will be placed on the calendar along with a local measure which passed the House the day before—the Luce bill for a $6,500,000 addition to the Congressional Library.

The Elliott bill authorizes an appropriation of $4,000,000 for enlarging the local postoffice. As the addition would be erected on adjacent ground already owned by the Government, this entire sum would go toward construction.

The City Postoffice, Congress has been told, now is greatly overcrowded, with the result that efficiency there has been seriously impaired.

The Britten bill, carrying $3,200,000 for new buildings at the Naval Hospital, was favorably reported after an investigating committee had concluded that, in its present condition, the institution is pretty much of a fire trap.

Wife Charges Cruelty In Lubitsch Divorce

Los Angeles, June 10 (A.P.).—Ernest Lubitsch, film director, was sued for divorce here today. His wife, Helene, charged mental cruelty.

The complaint alleged that Lubitsch insulted family guests and friends, used "opprobrious" language, refused to converse with his wife for a month except in a scolding manner and frequently remained away from home until early in the morning without explaining where he had been. The Lubitschs were married in Berlin, August 23, 1922, and separated last Thursday. A property settlement has been reached out of court. There are no children.

Trail of Smoke Screen Leads to Rum Capture

Following a smoke screen trail, Headquarters Detective Howard Ogle and Private H. H. Carper yesterday captured the rum car and 216 half-gallons of liquor.

Riding in a police car, the two men picked up a suspicious looking auto near West Virginia and Florida avenues northeast and started to follow it. Clouds of acrid smoke forced them to stay far behind the speeding liquor-carrier, but they were able to follow it by the smoke left in the street. Trailing the car to an alley near Sixth and H streets northwest, they found the car abandoned, but still holding its illicit cargo. The smoke screen apparatus was also still attached to the seized car.

"It Stands Supreme!"

MUELLER'S COOKED SPAGHETTI for the main dish of a summer meal! What more pleasing suggestion than this?—a most delightful change for all the family, and relief from kitchen drudgery for the housewife.

Here is a meal that is most simple to prepare, yet it is complete, delicious and perfectly balanced. Ideal for those hot days when appetites are hard to please, Mueller's Cooked Spaghetti provides abundant nourishment for children and adults.

The Natural Juices Supply the Source. No "Filler" Added

This healthful, delicious food comes to you already cooked and in a sauce made of luscious tomatoes, other fresh vegetables and mellow, whole-milk cheese. The rich consistency of this delicious sauce is derived entirely from the choice ingredients that enter into it. There is not a bit of "filler", artificial coloring or preservative added.

All the work is done for you! The tomatoes, other fresh vegetables and properly aged cheese are carefully selected by experts, skillfully blended with Mueller's Spaghetti and properly cooked in bright, sunlit kitchens, under the most modern sanitary conditions.

"Just Heat and Eat"

All you have to do is to heat the can, open it and serve. No hours of work in a hot kitchen—no time taken from healthy outdoor recreation. Best of all, your family will welcome this change from heavier foods, for Mueller's Spaghetti is delightfully light and fluffy and easy to digest.

It is made from a special blend of farina, that wonderfully nutritious food, known everywhere for its easy digestibility.

Please Your Own Taste

Of course, there are a variety of ways to serve Mueller's Cooked Spaghetti. Just please your own taste and add left-over meat or mushrooms. One of the many appetizing recipes appears below:

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

1 Can Mueller's Cooked Spaghetti 6 Green Peppers
6 Tablespoons Grated Cheese

Cut tops off the peppers, remove seeds and fibre. Stand in boiling water for 10 minutes. Drain. Then fill each pepper with the cooked spaghetti, cover the top with grated cheese.

Place the peppers upright in a pan containing a small amount of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Keep half a dozen cans of Mueller's Cooked Spaghetti in your pantry at all times. They will always be ready for a quick and healthful meal—and you may be sure that this meal will always be appreciated by your family and your guests. It is the better flavor of Mueller's Cooked Spaghetti—its light and fluffy texture—its healthful goodness—that make this food stand supreme.

Ask your grocer for Mueller's Cooked Spaghetti. He has it or can get it for you.

CANCERS OF THE SKIN.

THE ordinary cancers of the skin are curable. There are many who do not know this and who pay with their lives for not knowing, but that does not change the fact. They can be cured by any one of several methods, even by the paste method—the most painful, most ineffective and, generally, most expensive of the group.

The kind of cancer referred to is the cancerous ulcer of the skin which the physician calls basal celled cancer or, sometimes, epithelioma. It may appear as a shallow or deep ulcer with a rolled edge, a fungus, or cauliflower mass, or a nodular mass. It is usually found on the face or head, above the lip line, though some come on the back of the hand. They develop in the sunbeaten, weatherbeaten skin of people over 40 years of age. When they appear around the eyelids, around the ears and the nose they are more serious than when they come elsewhere. Any patch anywhere in the skin of the face, head and hands which tends to ulcerate, to become moist, and to develop a red border, should be regarded as a cancer until proved to be something else.

New York State has had a cancer hospital for more than a quarter of a century. In that time the physicians in that hospital have treated more than 300 such cancers. They have healed up the cancers of 9 out of 10 of them. Of those thus healed up, nine-tenths are still alive at the end of five years, without any return of the cancer. Many have lived fifteen to twenty years, or have died from old age, or some disease not related to cancer. Of the very advanced cancers they have treated, the cancer has been healed in nearly one-half, and it has not returned though five years have elapsed in more than one-tenth of the advanced cases.

Some of the cases have not appeared at the hospital until noses had been eaten off or ears had been lost. The method of treatment which they use now by choice is that by radium. They feel certain that if they could get nothing but early cases they could cure every one of this kind of cancer.

SCHMELING GAINING FAVOR AS FIGHT NEARS

Pegler

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 10.—Max Schmeling has finished his training, secret and otherwise, for his prize fight of not more than fifteen rounds, with Jack Sharkey and will leave here by train tomorrow morning for New York. The prize fight of Thursday evening is supposed to involve the heavyweight championship of the world and, although Max has fought only two first-class men in his life, the ego of the prize fighter is such that he actually believes this.

The volume of the ballyhoo has been so great that every one else who was of a mind to dispute the matter has now wearied of the argument. But it does not matter much and neither of the prize fighters will be any better prize fighter Friday morning than he is today. The winner's name will be inscribed on the shaft of the Tunney-Muldoon Monument, which Gene Tunney never has taken the trouble to look at, and the new champion will retire for one year, denying himself to the customers, except in moving pictures and trivial exhibitions, until they are willing to put up a million dollars to see him beaten.

Schmeling Needed Only Target Practice.

Schmeling's only need of training was for the target practice it afforded him. He was in superb physical shape when he returned to this country bearing cuckoo clocks to his friends of the American press two months ago, but his boxing was clumsy in certain respects and the time has been too short and his advisors incompetent to effect any improvement. Needing instructions, he tried to improve himself by abusing some of the most picturesque and despondent failures that it was possible for his manager to find in the slums of the prize-fighting industry and only succeeded in confirming his faults.

Several months ago, Jack Dempsey remarked he did not want to fight Sharkey again, because Sharkey was too good for him now, but said he would like to meet Schmeling because Max would be a sucker for his left hook.

This was a pretty good analysis of Schmeling's style, but Dempsey might have added that Schmeling would be a sucker for his right cross, too.

Sparring Partners Found Him Target.

In the later stage of his practice, Schmeling has employed a couple of toilers with considerably more skill and strength than his early sparring partners, and these two, Lou Barba and George Belanger, have been clouting him joyously with both hands. They have not beaten him as Thomas Heeney's sparring partners beat him when he was awaiting his torture in Tunney's farewell performance, but they found him easy to reach and Barba, who seems to have tall ambitions of his own, has belted Max with an audacity unbecoming a sparring partner.

However, Schmeling did not waver, but kept on punching with a zeal that bespoke not only a deep physical reserve but an instinct for fist fighting. The good prize fighter, when he is stung or hurt, fights to retaliate. The other kind withdraws to console himself.

Schmeling has no distinct style of his own, but adorns or clutters a commonplace method of fighting with certain mannerisms of both Dempsey and Tunney. He weaves his body and rolls his head somewhat as Dempsey used to, but this seems unnatural to him because he does not come up punching when he is through weaving and rolling.

Aims, for the Head, Unlike Tunney.

Like Tunney, Max pokes with his left to arrange matters for a right, but Tunney's method was to plunge the right a hundred times against the heart to wear his man down. Schmeling lets his go at the head and the boys have been blocking or breaking the impact of these fights.

Sharkey is by far the faster and more knowing fighter, with more precision and shock in his punches and, inasmuch as he will outweigh Schmeling by a dozen or fifteen pounds, the German's only advantage would seem to exist in his courage. He does not think Sharkey is game and he says that if Sharkey attempts to intimidate him with a menacing expression before the prize fight Thursday evening he will come back at him with some disrespectful remarks and unnerve him. Sharkey's reputation as to nerve is not the best and the general supposition among the professionals is that if Schmeling goes by the fifth round, Sharkey will go into a sulk or lose his temper and foul out as he did in the Scott battle in Miami last winter.

Aha! Secret Practice.

Now it develops that there has been a man up here named Harry Kelly, who used to serve Sharkey as a trainer, giving Max private instructions regarding Sharkey's technical defects. On such days as Schmeling pretended to be taking no practice he boxed in private with two sparring partners named George Nearon and Vincent Babbin, who were taught to simulate Sharkey's errors. The dis-

Nats Seeking Reynolds of White Sox

Johnson to Attempt Deal for Outfielder in Chicago Today.

Hadley Will Oppose Chisox in Opening Game of Series.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CLEVELAND, June 10.—There is no question but what the Nationals hope to make a trade which will give them a hard-hitting right-handed outfielder, and rumors are flying thick and fast around the Washington Club's headquarters here. The latest report is that Manager Walter Johnson plans to make the White Sox what he considers a fair offer for Outfielder Carl Reynolds when the team reaches the Windy City tomorrow.

It is said that Johnson is willing to give up either one of his regular fly chasers or one of his regular pitchers for Reynolds, and that either of these probably could help Donie Bush.

The Nats evidently have given up the idea of trying to get a first-rate outfielder, who bats in the orthodox manner, via the waiver route, although they will continue to scan the list carefully. The only types which they can get in this manner seem to be either rookies, who have failed, or slipping veterans, such as Ira Flagstead and Bill Barrett, who were tried and found wanting.

Might Replace Goslin.

In Reynolds, if a deal is made, the Nats would be getting a man who could step into the line-up. He could alternate with Goose Goslin or even replace him until the "Wild Goose of the Potomac" showed signs of coming out of the slump in which he has been submerged for some time.

Reynolds was 26 years old last February 1 and has been playing pro ball only four years. He was a four-letter sportsman at Southwestern University and was signed by the White Sox after graduation in 1926. The next season he was optioned to the Palestine Club of the Lone Star State League, where he batted .376. He was recalled at the end of that circuit's schedule and finished up with the Chisox.

Reynolds was a utility fly-chaser in 1928, having a stick mark of .323 in 84 games, and earned himself a regular berth last season, batting at a .317 gait in 131 games. He is swatting better than .300 this season.

Schulte Also Desirable.

Fred Schulte, of the Browns, also is mentioned as another outfielder whom the Nationals are anxious to acquire, but, according to the tales heard in the lobby of headquarters here, he is second choice. Of course, wanting players and getting them are entirely different, but it is understood that the Nationals really intend to make a worth-while offer in the hope of getting one of this pair. Schulte is also a comparative youngster, being just eighteen days older than is Reynolds. He started playing professional ball in 1924 with the Waterloo Club of the Mississippi Valley League, was with Milwaukee in 1925, 1926 and

Cards Beat Braves, 2-1, in Ten Innings

Boston, June 10 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals broke their losing streak today by defeating the Braves, 2 to 1, in a ten-inning game, interrupted by showers in the extra frame.

Bob Smith shut out the Cards for eight innings, allowing them only three singles, but in the ninth he walked two men and Mancuso's single sent Bottomley home with the tying run. Early in the tenth, Adams doubled and scored when High followed with a single over second. Showers twice held up the game before the first half of the tenth was ended.

CHISOX DEAL GROVE 1ST DEFEAT

Clancy's Hit Brings 7-6 Defeat of A's in 11th Inning.

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Ill., June 10 (A.P.).—Bud Clancy's single, scoring Carl Reynolds after two were out in the eleventh inning, gave the White Sox a 7 to 6 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics today, and reduced the Mackmen's lead over the second-place Washington Club to 2½ games.

The victory gave the White Sox an even break in the four-game series. Clancy's hit came off the delivery of "Lefty" Grove, the third Athletic pitcher of the seesaw extra-inning game. It was Grove's first defeat of the season after seven straight victories.

Pennock Hurls Yanks To 5-to-3 Triumph

St. Louis, Mo., June 10 (A.P.).—The Yankees made it three out of four against the Browns today by winning the final encounter of their series, 5-3. All the New York runs were scored off Dick Coffman in the first two innings.

Aided by the early lead, Herb Pennock, veteran southpaw, went the route for the Yankees, although he was hit freely at times. He allowed eight blows, of which four went to Ralph Kress. The Yankees pounded Coffman for seven of their twelve hits, then subsided when faced by George Blaeholder and went scoreless the rest of the afternoon.

Melillo was the fielding star of the game, accepting fourteen chances without an error.

Red Sox Beat Tigers In Loose Game, 12-6

Detroit, Mich., June 10 (A.P.).—In one of the poorest exhibitions offered by either team this season, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Tigers, 12 to 6, today to split the series. Detroit used four pitchers, none of them proving effective, and the rampant Red Sox slugged out seventeen hits. Six of them combined with a muffed fly, netted five runs in the third. Herring was chased in that inning with none out.

The Tigers succeeded in knocking Lisenbee from the box in the third and MacFayden finished, yielding only four hits from then on.

Detroit perpetrated four errors, all figuring in the scoring.

D. C. NETMEN WINNERS IN MARYLAND

Mitchell, Considine, Sendal Survive in State Play.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 10.—With the second round singles and all save four matches in the first round doubles completed, the Maryland State tennis championship tournament emerged today from the chaos which had threatened to engulf the affair following the rain of yesterday afternoon.

Sixty matches were played in singles and doubles. Three of the Washingtonians in the tourney survived the tests and will continue in the play tomorrow.

In the first round, Dooley Mitchell won by default from H. Goldman and then came back in the second round to defeat E. J. Shields, 10—8, 6—4.

Robert Considine, fourth seeded player, also was victorious twice, his victims being N. Salzman, whom he conquered, 8—6 and 10—8, and Warren Magruder, who was downed by 6—4, 7—5.

In the second round, Frederico Sendal, of the Mexican Embassy, Washington, defeated R. B. Jones, 6—3, 6—4. Herbert Shepard, of Washington, defeated R. B. Jones 6—3, 6—4. Herbert Shepard, of Washington, lost to Jean Hofmeister, 6—1, 6—1, in the initial round, while Edward Yeomans, Washington, was downed in the second round by Robert Ryan, 9—7, 2—6, 9—7. Fred Mesmer, Georgetown, defeated Walter Beuchelt, 2—6, 6—0, 6—0, in the contest, but lost to R. G. Vaughan, 6—4, 6—1, in the next encounter.

Mitchell and Considine will play their first doubles match tomorrow against Alex Keiles and Arnold Silverman. Manuel G. Martinez and Sendel were defeated in the doubles by Ralph J. Robinson and Walter Taylor, jr., 6—4, 7—5.

German Says He'll Claim No Foul

Only Sharkey Cry of Low Blow Can Mar Bout, Is Belief.

Intends to Get Up If Knocked Down by Foul Punch.

By MAX SCHMELING
(As told to Jimmy Powers.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 11.—Thursday night is the big night. There is only one thing that can spoil the fight and that is a Sharkey claim of foul. Seven times Sharkey has tried to claim a foul and only twice was his claim recognized. Never have I won or lost a fight on a foul and never have I claimed a foul although I was very badly fouled and incapacitated for two rounds in the Risko fight.

I intend to subject Sharkey's stomach, ribs and heart to a severe punching. I have trained myself to fight from a crouch in the same fashion as Dempsey. Naturally with me bent over and my opponent standing up most of my blows will be to the solar plexus before I get a chance to cross a right smash to the chin.

I only ask for fair play and fair consideration. I do not intend to lose on a foul. I do not want to win on a foul. If I am knocked down by a foul punch I intend to get up and keep on going. If my opponent is accidentally knocked down I ask the same. Over in my country a man who clinches or a man who yells "foul" and tries to accept a verdict that way is looked upon as lacking courage and is treated with contempt. That is why Phil Scott is unpopular in Germany.

Says Good Men Never Foul.

So let there be no fouls or any more talk of fouls. I think I have demonstrated that with the scientific protection offered us by the commission regulations a strong heavyweight can take a foul punch and continue as I did against Risko. Good men never foul and brave men get off the floor to win. I have gotten off the canvas to win and shall again if need be.

I heard that Sharkey is threatening to "teach Max to train in my back yard." I am sorry that all these people here at En Joie do not like Sharkey as well as they like me. Thousands of them write me and tell me they are buying tickets and cheering for me to win. I am fired by these thousands of my friends to go into the Yankee Stadium and beat Sharkey and I intend to do so.

Good Offense Better Than Defense.

I will put up a pleasing fight because that is the most effective fight. A good offense is better than any boxing defense in the world. A man can not win a fight by defending himself. If Sharkey figures he can win by just backing up and trying to make me miss he will be mistaken. We are both being paid much money to fight each other and I, for one, intend to carry the fight. If we both fight that way it will be satisfactory. Ja?

They write I am easy to hit with a right hand. They say I have no left hook. They say I have a poor jab. All right. But here I am fighting for the championship of the world, and where are the men with the left hooks and the left jabs?

HEAVYWEIGHTS REST FOR TEST TOMORROW AS INTEREST MOUNTS

Fight May Set Record For Non-Dempsey Bout

Pugilism's "million dollar gates" passed out of existence with the retirement of Jack Dempsey, but promoters of tomorrow's world heavyweight championship contest between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling believe the bout will draw between $700,000 and $750,000 and establish a record for bouts in which Dempsey had no part.

The five record gates in prize ring history were made with Dempsey in one of the corners, receipts being as follows:

1927—*Dempsey-Tunney,	$2,658,660
1926—Dempsey - Tunney,	2,000,000
1921—Dempsey-Carpent.,	1,626,580
1923—Dempsey-Firpo...	1,188,882
1927—Dempsey -Sharkey,	1,083,529

* Second bout.

Only two other bouts ever drew more than $500,000, Harry Wills and Luis Firpo attracting a $700,000 gate at Jersey City in 1924 and Gene Tunney's final title defense against Tom Heeney drawing $691,014 at New York in 1928.

70,000 Fans With a Gate of $750,000 Now Predicted.

Question Remains as to Max's Ability to "Take It."

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, June 10 (A.P.).—The fistic king of the Old World and the heavyweight monarch of the new — young and eager Max Schmeling and the older, more prosaic Jack Sharkey—sat down tonight to rest and worry off poundage until a crowd of 70,000 calls them into the Yankee Stadium ring Thursday night to do battle for the world's championship.

Tomorrow the gladiators and the hordes of handlers and hangers-on that surround all fistic headliners will move into town with their arguments and predictions of victory. Already the excitement and tenseness that always surround big moments in ring history are cropping out where the faithful gather. Special trains from the Midwest, North South and East are bearing vociferous burdens into the fistic stockades. The hotels are filling up and the famous rendezvous of the town are playing to standing room.

$750,000 Gate Predicted.

So vigorous has been the demand for tickets in the past few days that predictions of a $750,000 gross gate were freely made and accepted today despite inclement weather, usually a damper to enthusiasm. The weather forecasts indicate, however, that all will be bright and cheerful on Thursday, the only day that really matters to the customers. After a poor start, the match seems to have caught the fancy of the faithful and the greatest outpouring since Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey battled before a $1,083,000 crowd here in 1927 is a surety. In case of rain the show will be put on Friday night.

Only one worry is left to the Schmeling camp now that the German challenger has completed his training and is in perfect condition for the fray. The New York State Athletic Commission has yet to grant Joe Jacobs, his manager of choice and the man he has picked to guide him in Thursday's battle, a license to second his man. The commission meets tomorrow for the last time before the fight and is expected to honor Jacobs with a temporary vise.

Schmeling's Chances Gain Favor.

As the battle swings down almost to the time for throwing punches, Schmeling's chances to win for Europe its first modern heavyweight championship are being regarded with more and more favor though Sharkey rules the betting choice. The German is perfectly conditioned for a long, hard struggle. The only question regarding him seems to be his ability to take punishment. In winning five fights here, including knockouts of Joe Monte and Johnny Risko and a one-sided decision over Paulino Uzcudun, Max never has been called upon to fight his way out of a fog and on to victory.

The Teuton's style is perfectly designed to bother Sharkey. Rushing, punching warriors always have harassed the Boston sailor. He was knocked out by Jack Dempsey and was charged out of a title shot at Gene Tunney by Johnny Risko and Tom Heeney. Although Sharkey should hit him at will with his smart left hand, Schmeling has traveled far under the slogan originated by Napoleon and modernized by Knute Rockne—the best defense is a good offense.

Followers of Form Like Sharkey.

The boys who insist on following form in everything from thoroughbred race horses to heavyweights are standing stronger than ever at Sharkey's shoulders. To them the erratic New Englander's crack left hand, experience, craft and all-around ability make him a 9 to 5 favorite. The predictions run by wholesale to Sharkey, but always with the proviso that he must fight his best fight and keep from "blowing up."

Some slight measure of approval

Contenders End Training, Gloves Flying Savagely

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Jack Sharkey wound up his training today, packed his bags and motored into New York. He boxed only three rounds with his sparring partners, taking on Grosso for two rounds and King Solomon for one.

Jack laced Solomon hard, and several times he had the king letting out a howl for respite. He punched the bag for a couple of rounds, and he showed again the terrific left hook he exhibited the day before.

This time, however, he did not drop any of his sparring partners. Sharkey looks great. He has possibly a pound too much weight left around the middle, but he looks in better trim than he did when he finished training for the fight with Phil Scott. He was in fine fettle and excellent spirits. He seemed to take his work a bit more seriously on the last day, for when King Solomon tried to kid with him, there was no answering repartee from the Sharkey man.

Directly after the workout, Sharkey dressed and prepared to go into New York City. It would be rather dull and dead for him at the camp here with nothing to do, whereas in the city there will be recreation to keep him from thinking too much about the impending battle Thursday night.

Sharkey expressed himself as con-

Klein Hits 16th Homer As Phils Repulse Cubs

Philadelphia, June 10 (A.P.).—Phil Collins held the Chicago Cubs in the palm of his hand today and the Phillies won the first game of the present series, 6 to 2.

The Cubs scored one run in the first and another in the second on Hartnett's home run, but after that they were helpless. Chuck Klein hit his sixteenth home run of the season in the fourth inning and ran his streak of hitting into nineteen consecutive games.

FORT MYER CAVALRY BEATS WAR WHITE FOUR, 11-6

Yellows Take Lead in 4th Chukker

Team-Play Is Factor in Upset Victory in Cup Tourney.

War Blues to Oppose 16th Artillery Polo-ists Today.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

DISTANCING a two-goal handicap allowed them, Cavalrymen from Fort Myer yesterday trounced the War Department Whites in the second match of the Argentine Cup matches, 11 to 6. It was the Third Cavalry Yellows that compensated for the loss sustained by the Third Cavalry Greens to the War Blues on the day before.

Lieut. F. W. Makinney, Lieut. R. B. Bosserman, Lieut. Noble and Capt. M. A. Devine of the winning combination teamed perfectly to gain the verdict over their more experienced rivals. Despite the apparent one-sideness of the match the Virginia officers had to set a fast pace throughout to block the aggressive play of the Whites.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy D. S. Ingalls was the most accurate scorer for the vanquished four, whipping the willow through the Cavalry uprights four times during the contest. Lieut. Col. R. E. D. Hoyle gave a brilliant exhibition at No. 3. He frequently stopped rallies of his opponents by snagging the pellet from them and displayed marked ability in hooking his foes' mallets as they posed for dangerous trys.

Lieut. Makinney Scores Twice.

The winners started out in a business-like way in the very first period, when Lieut. Makinney scored twice from scrambles near the White goal while the latter four was held scoreless during this chukker.

In the second stanza both the Whites and Cavalry tallied, Mr. Ingalls sending the white sphere through for the former and Lieut. Makinney chalking up for the latter. Neither goal was sensational, but came as a result of fast and tricky combination play.

Followers of the War Department squad took on new hope in the third chukker when Mr. Ingalls scored his second goal and Capt. Shafer counted also, both goals being short taps from near the Cavalry uprights. Lieut. Bosserman kept the winners' record clear of scoring at least once in every period when he tapped the ball through the White goal after some neat passing on the part of Capt. Devine and Lieut. Noble.

It remained for Lieut. Bosserman to score the most sensational goal of the day in the fourth. He got clear of the field and made a beautiful drive of about 60 yards to the mouth of the goal and then threw off his pursuing opponents and reached the ball in time to tap in through.

Clever Passing Brings Scores.

Lieut. Noble also counted for Cavalry while Capt. Shafer chalked up one in this period for the Whites. All three successes resulted from clever passing.

The fifth and sixth periods were real treats for the large audience that gathered for the match. During these periods the Whites played the Cavalrymen on even terms and it required a brilliant shot from an angle on the part of Mr. Ingalls in the fifth to give the Fort Myer Squad a goal in that period. Lieut. Col. Chaffee scored in the sixth for the Whites after a hard ride.

Today the War Department Blues will meet Sixteenth Field Artillery on the Potomac Park oval at 4:30 o'clock. Both are strong combinations, the Blues having won a match in the tourney already, but the critics are picking the Artillery to win.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WICKER, $9.30, $6.16, $3.80; BETTY ANN, $7.68, $4.62; NIFTY, $2.70.

WICKER, in close attendance of the pace from the start, steadily wore down NIFTY when around the stretch turn, headed the latter on reaching last eighth and drew clear to win in late stages. BETTY ANN was shuffled back in the first furlong, but staying on the inside where she saved much ground, gained gradually and was going fast at the end, easily disposing of NIFTY. NIFTY was hustled into the lead from the break, opened up a big advantage reaching stretch turn, but faltered when the winner challenged and tired. NETTIE PEBBLES could not keep pace first part, but closed strong.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:47. Off at 2:49. Winner, P. M. Walker's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TRAP ROCK, $159.54, $38.02, $23.58; MISS JOAN, $4.68, $3.52; DONNA VIVIAN, $7.78.

TRAP STAR began well from the middle and, quickly taking command, shook off MISS JOAN after rounding far turn, opened up a good lead thereafter and won as rider pleased. MISS JOAN forced the pace briefly, but could not match strides with the leader and began to tire through the final drive, just outlasting DONNA VIVIAN. Latter, always a forward factor, lost ground on the outside and came to the inside in the stretch and closed strongly. NADIA gained gradually and closed much ground. GENEROLA could not get up.

THIRD RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,300. The Calumet. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:20. Off at 3:21. Winner, A. E. Barrett's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RICHARD M'DONNELL, $29.20, $10.48, $5.28; VERMICULITE, $3.38, $2.62; MALICIOUS, $5.78.

RICHARD M'DONNEL began slowly, was outrun at start, but worked way up rapidly during the third quarter and went into the lead rounding stretch turn, faltered inside final sixteenth under pressure and just lasted. VERMICULITE, away slowly, worked her way up gradually on outside, came steadily through the stretch and, with a better ride, might have won. MALICIOUS closed ground in final quarter and was going fast at end. STOP GAP had a rough trip, but closed gamely. ROYAL PANOPLY raced at the lead on far turn, but was done in the stretch drive. HIGH GRACE had brief early speed. MISS ALABAMA went well first half mile.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Hyde Park. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:54½. Off at 3:56½. Winner, Rancocas Stable's b. c. (2), by Bud Leiner—Delphine. Trained by F. M. Taylor. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:01 2-5, 1:07 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HYMAN, $4.56, $2.64, $2.32; PORTCODINE, $2.92, $2.54; AUNT DEB, $2.98.

HYMAN, lack of early speed, followed the pace closely to the final furlong where, taken to the inside, forced his way up on the rail in final seventy yards, roughed PORTCODINE considerably, but was up in final strides to win going away. PORTCODINE began with a rush, forced most of the pace and gradually wore down AUNT DEB for second place inside final eighth. But could not withstand the winner. AUNT DEB had good early speed, opened up a long lead, but tired rapidly when in stretch.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,800; allowances. The Trial. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:24. Off at 4:26½. Winner, E. F. Pritchard's ch. c. (3), by Ballot—Blemished. Trained by A. Baker. Value to winner, $1,350; second, $300; third, $150. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 1-5, 1:13, 1:38 4-5, 1:43.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TANNERY, $8.16, $5.30, $2.92; NED O., $5.86, $3.66; PRINCE ATHELING, $2.34.

TANNERY, cleverly handled, was kept in forward pursuit of PRINCE ATHELING under light restraint to the stretch turn, where he was sent up on the outside, quickly wore down PRINCE ATHELING and drew out strongly to win. NED O. was hustled along, though outpaced for six furlongs, responded when called upon and closed strongly to outfinish ATHELING. PRINCE ATHELING maintained a steady pace first six and one-half furlongs, then gradually gave way when TANNERY challenged at the furlong and faltered in the final drive with NED O. LADRONE had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. The Stevens Hotel Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:56½. Off at 4:57. Winner, Audley Farm's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOBASHELA, $6.28, $3.98, $4.36; MARTIE FLYNN, $3.60, $3.30; CHICAGO, $7.78.

BOBASHELA moved up fast after the start, opened up a long lead in first quarter and continued in command throughout to win easily. MARTIE FLYNN was taken under restraint off the pace to the stretch, where he closed ground in the final furlong and was up to outgame CHICAGO. CHICAGO, showing much improvement, had speed at all stages and held on well in the final drive.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:25. Off at 5:25½. Winner, French Lick Springs Stable's b. f. (4), by My Play—La Recolte. Trained by B. Ott. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 1-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:41 2-5, 1:54 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—IRENE T., $10.80, $4.98, $3.78; RIFF RAFF, $4.88, $3.40; ROYAL MANAGER, $4.80.

IRENE T. raced forwardly under restraint, began working her way up to the leaders entering the stretch and, wearing down RIFF RAFF in the final furlong, was up to win in a hard drive. RIFF RAFF made his move reaching stretch turn, went around leaders into the lead, but was outgamed at the end. ROYAL MANAGER was hustled from the start, maintained a contending position, but faltered when the real racing came. QUIBBLER, while closing a big gap, could not get into contention.

PEACOCK'S 71 LEADS QUALIFIERS AT COLUMBIA

Indian Spring Star Likely Medalist

Asher, Second, Shoots 32 on Inward 9 for Record.

150 Players Complete Qualifying Today in Tourney.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

WITH more than 200 competitors in the first day of the qualifying round of the Columbian Country Club invitation tournament, which began yesterday on the Columbia course, the low medal score, 35—36—71, was turned in by Roger Peacock, Indian Spring, and, although the field today includes many of the leading District players, it is doubtful whether this card, which is 1 over par for the course, will be equaled or excelled.

In fact, many wagers were made at the Columbia Club yesterday afternoon that Peacock's score would win the medal in the qualifying round, although 150 additional contestants will compete today.

Clyde B. Asher, of the Columbia Club, was second, with a gross 72. He was unfortunate with three putts on the first green, followed by three from off the green for a 5 on the third and a missed putt on the fourth.

Asher Goes Out In 40 Strokes.

Consequently he was out in 40, but he had a remarkable incoming nine, scoring 32, the best amateur record ever made on the course, and only three strokes more than the remarkable 29 once made by Leo Diegel in his match against Guy Standifer. The cards of the leaders were as follows:

Out—
Peacock...	4	4	4	3	5	5	4	2	4	—35
Asher.....	6	4	5	4	5	4	4	3	5	—40
In—
Peacock...	3	5	6	4	4	4	3	3	4	—36—71
Asher.....	4	4	4	3	4	3	2	4	4	—32—72

Realizing that last year nine of the contestants with cards of 77 played off for five places in the first sixteen and that five competitors with 85 were drawn out of the fifth and last sixteen, a large proportion of the players who were entered yesterday would not turn in cards.

When all the scores had been submitted, they showed that fourteen were 79 and under, and with the field which is scheduled for play today it is quite evident that only 77s and less can qualify in the first sixteen, with the probability that the 77s will have to play off for a position in the championship flight. There were 62 players with 80 and under and as only 80 players can qualify in the five sixteens, the probability is that nothing under 85 or 86 will be eligible for match play tomorrow.

Roger Peacock (Indian Spring)	35	36	—71
C. B. Asher (Columbia)	40	32	—72
A. M. Poerter (Columbia)	37	37	—74
J. J. Webb, jr. (Washington)	41	36	—77
A. H. Uran (unattached)	37	40	—77
P. J. Frizzell (Columbia)	39	38	—77
C. B. Murphy (Congressional)	41	36	—77
R. T. Harrell (Washington)	38	39	—77
Dr. L. S. O'Tell (Indian Spring)	42	37	—79
John W. Woens (Columbia)	39	40	—79
J. A. Cox (Argyle)	37	42	—79
Everett Eynon (Columbia)	39	40	—79
B. Curtiss (Indian Spring)	40	39	—79
M. A. Shipley (Argyle)	42	37	—79

Lomax Ties for Lead In College Pitching

Bill Lomax, Georgetown's sophomore right-hander, tied with Quinton, of Providence College, for top honors among college pitchers for the 1930 season. The Hoya star was credited with seven victories and no defeats. As Providence hasn't yet closed its season, Quinton still has a chance to pass Lomax.

Georgetown won 21 games and lost 6, scoring more victories than any other Eastern team. It finished third among the teams, Holy Cross leading with a record of fifteen wins and two losses and Providence ranking second with fifteen and three.

covery of this has vexed some of the boxing writers, but it can't possibly mean anything and any boxing writer of more than ten days' experience should have learned that prize fighters and politicians are alike in the respect that they are not to be trusted.

Secret practice has been a standard rite in the training camps of heavyweight champions and challengers for several generations, but I don't believe there is anyone naive enough to believe that it is any more significant than public practice, unless, of course, the boys are preparing to do an act. Down in Miami, one day last winter, I saw Fainting Philip Scott having secret practice with his manager, who would hit him lightly below the belt line, but at the time it did not occur to me that Philip was being trained to detect light fouls which might otherwise escape his notice. The purpose of secret practice usually is to create a mystery, but I doubt that it mystifies anyone any more.

SCHMELING GAINS FAVOR WITH FANS

was taken from Sailor Jack's prospects by a story circulated today that win, lose or draw, Sharkey is fighting his last battle Thursday night. There seems to be some substance to the idea that Jack has gathered himself a fortune, is solidly set socially and financially in Boston, and wants only the heavyweight crown to add to these attainments.

If he gathers it in Thursday night, he probably will have reached his final goal. If he fails, and he has missed his great opportunity twice before, he no longer is young enough to start all over again.

Bush Benches Kamm In Chisox Shake-Up

Chicago, June 10 (A.P.).—Willie Kamm, who led American League third basemen in fielding in 1928 and 1929, has been benched by Manager Donie Bush, of the White Sox. Kamm has failed to get started this season and was included in a wholesale shift which sent Irving Jefferies to third base, Smead Jolley from right field to left, Carl Reynolds to right and Johnny Watwood to center, in an effort to add punch to the Sox attack.

Hafey's Eye Ailment Serious; Must Rest

St. Louis, June 10 (A.P.).—Chick Hafey's condition is serious, Dr. Emmet P. North, eye specialist, who examined the St. Louis Cardinal's outfielder, said today. Hafey was ordered home from New York for examination.

Dr. North said he would not permit Hafey to return to the game without a long rest.

PRINCIPALS FINISH TRAINING FOR BOUT

fident that he would make short work of Schmeling. He wished it understood, however, that he was not underrating the German.

Endicott, N. Y., June 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—In a four-round glove workout that bristled with fast fighting and hard hitting, Max Schmeling this afternoon put the final training strokes on his fighting blade for Thursday night's world's heavyweight championship fight with Jack Sharkey.

The Black Uhlan ripped and slashed at Charlie Belanger, the Canadian light-heavyweight champion, for two rounds, and then smashed and battered at Lou Barba for two more. He was feeling in such wonderful condition that he wanted to box a couple of rounds more, but Manager Jacobs and Trainer Max Machan wouldn't let him. Max had to be content to finish up with calisthenics.

Belanger and Barba both got instructions to fight Schmeling and give him everything they had. They did, but their best was not good enough to extend the Black Uhlan, and at the end of their two-round jousts both Belanger and Barba were down off their toes and the bell was welcome music to their ears.

The big 14-ounce training gloves have been packed in the duffel bag along with headgear, road shoes and other training paraphernalia. The last tattoo of the punching bag, beaten by sparring partners, for Schmeling himself has not struck a blow on anything except a human foeman, has sounded. The end of the training trail has been reached and Max Schmeling has nothing to do until he answers the gong against Jack Sharkey in Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

Mrs. Wyeth Finalist In Chevy Chase Golf

Mrs. Nathan Wyeth gained the right to meet Mrs. Norment for the club championship when she defeated Mrs. John Newbold, 6—2, 6—2, on the Chevy Chase Club courts yesterday. A date for the final match has not as yet been set.

Lawrence Baker and W. Bostrom, Swedish Minister, paired in the men's doubles to defeat C. L. Sturtevant and Tinsley Garnett, 2—6, 6—3, 7—5, while with Mrs. Wyeth, Mr. Baker eliminated Col. Little and Mrs. C. C. Glover, jr., in the mixed doubles, 6—1, 6—2.

Baker will play Harry Irwin for the men's singles championship probably on Sunday.

1927, and has since been with the Browns, his hitting mark for these three seasons being .317, .286 and .307, respectively.

Manager Walter Johnson led his charges out of town around midnight tonight, they being scheduled to arrive in Chicago early tomorrow morning. In the first of the three-game series with the Bushmen tomorrow, Irving Hadley is due to draw the pitching assignment.

Had this afternoon's scheduled game not been postponed because of rain, Joe Judge would not have returned to the line-up. Trainer Mike Martin is making strenuous efforts to have the Nat captain ready as soon as possible, but "charley horses" are tricky things. Sometimes they heal up almost overnight, while on other occasions they become mighty stubborn and absolutely refuse to respond to treatments.

Judge May Be Idle Several Days.

At this writing, indications are that Judge will not be ready for tomorrow's game, and perhaps not until the final series of this Western trip, which opens with the St. Louis Browns on Saturday. Jack Hayes will continue to hold down the first base post until Joe gets in harness.

Until this visit here, the Nationals had been exceptionally lucky as regards injuries, but "lady luck" hit them in two places yesterday. In addition to Judge being temporarily knocked out of commission, Pitcher "Sad Sam" Jones came down with a gland ailment, which robs the team of his services until they return home next week.

Jones left here this morning for a one-day visit to his home at Woods Field, Ohio, and orders to then proceed to Washington, where he will be taken in hand by the club physician.

"Tech Life" Attacks Policy In Awarding Varsity Letters

TECH HIGH SCHOOL'S policy of awarding athletic letters was attacked as "unequal and unfair" in the current issue of Tech Life, student publication, following the refusal of Principal Frank Daniels to allow the presentation of a varsity letter to Everett Jones, captain-elect of the track team.

Required to make 3 points in the late interhigh meet before earning a letter, Jones was deprived of this opportunity as a result of a strained back which kept him out of action. Nevertheless he was recommended for an award by Director of Athletics Elmer P. "Hap" Hardell on the basis of his early performances in outside meets and his team spirit.

Seconding Hardell's recommendation, the Tech student council voted its approval of awarding a letter to Jones, only to meet with Daniels' decision to stand by the prevailing rules. Student opinion openly expressed itself yesterday in the current edition of Tech Life, student weekly, which made the following comment in its column, Spot Lights:

"The new requirements for the 'Circle T' were instituted to make the letter more appreciated and harder to get. However, the requirements for the respective sports are entirely unequal and unfair. This spring's awards would have been greatly different under the old system. The baseball team is getting an unusually large number of letters this year, especially those playing their first year of ball. On the other hand, track is getting only five awards. There are certain tracksters who have earned their circle T as much as any ball player, but who get no award at all."

Of a track squad numbering 44 members, only 5 received letters, Hardell stated yesterday. Tech is the only school in the city requiring a candidate to make over one point in the interhigh meet to assure himself of a letter. Those given the "T" were Capt. Al Reichman, George Wohlfarth, Edwin Quinn, William Piggott, Carl MacCartee and Manager Fineberg.

YOUTHS HOPE TO RESUME TENNIS

Promising Matches in D. C. Title Tourney Are Scheduled.

RAIN yesterday caused the second successive postponement of play in the District boys' and juniors' tennis championships at Rock Creek courts. Barring further inclement weather it is hoped that the event will be resumed today, starting at 4 p. m.

The Middle Atlantic sectional championships at Richmond, to which the local winners and runners-up will be sent, may be postponed from June 20 and 21 to June 27 and 28. A request for the postponement has been made by the tennis authorities of Richmond and Norfolk, where junior players are used for play in the Hotchkiss Cup matches which are scheduled on the same days as the M. A. event.

The probable features of today's card are the Jock-McLean-Albert Robins and Gilbert Hunt-Spencer Howell matches in the boys' division, and the Frank Shore-Archie Rose and Barney Welsh-Worthington Williams matches in the juniors division.

West Virginia's representatives in the Middle Atlantic tourney already have been determined. They are Oley Reed and Jack Branch, both of Huntington, winner and runner-up, respectively, in the boys' section, and Byron Wilkinson, of Huntington, and Eugene DeVol, of Parkersburg, winner and runner-up in the juniors' group.

Joe Turnesa Winner In Massachusetts Open

Newton, Mass., June 10 (A.P.).—Joe Turnesa, pro at the Elmsford Country Club in New York, today won the 72-hole play for the Massachusetts open golf title with a total of 305. Fred J. Wright, jr., Massachusetts amateur champion, finished a stroke behind him.

Today still! Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse if on the end of your cigar

. . . the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Certified Cremo is a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture and its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

SHORT-COVERING AID PUSHES STOCKS UP

Opening Slump Losses Are Later Offset as Isues Rise 3 to 10 Points.

U. S. STEEL SHARES GAIN

New York, June 10 (A.P.).—The stock market today received a dose of that dependable tonic, short covering, which revived its spirits and sent it into a lively rally. Net gains of 3 to 10 points were made by a large number of issues that had been hardest hit by the recent liquidation.

The improvement appeared only after a hard struggle, for the bears gave in only when selling from outside sources had dried up and the list had displayed symptoms of an oversold condition. Trading during most of the session, which has been slightly more active than yesterday's, returned to the hands of the professionals, with the shorts apparently well satisfied with their profits.

Stocks sold 3 to 6 points lower in the first hour or so, regained most of the decline in a rally, slumped again and finally turned definitely upward in the afternoon. There was little bearish material in U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage report, which showed a decrease of 294,993 tons in May, about a normal seasonal decline. An examination of the records disclosed that the decline was substantially less than the May average for the past seven years and that only twice in that interval had the shrinkage in the company's backlog been smaller than the current figures.

Steel Output at 71 Per Cent.

Coincident with this announcement, published at noon, was the weekly unofficial report of steel mill operations. This stated that the average for the entire industry was virtually the same as last week's—71 per cent. The Steel Corporation is working at the 75 per cent level, against 79 per cent two years ago and full capacity last year, which was, of course, an abnormal season.

There was some encouragement in the weekly statement of the reporting Federal Reserve member banks. Commercial loans showed the first gain in some time, and although the increase amounted to only $18,000,000, leaving the total about $700,000,000 below a year ago, the interruption of the lower trend received considerable comment. Investment holdings of banks rose $42,000,000, thus maintaining the definite move that started about two months ago.

The market's heavy opening occasioned some anxiety, for it was feared that a considerable volume of weakly held stock might be awaiting sale if the list persisted in going lower. As it developed, however, the liquidation was mostly of a professional character, permitting the assumption that the amount of stock in the public's margin accounts was smaller than had been supposed.

Several New Lows Recorded.

Pressure against all groups in the forenoon brought out a large number of new lows for the year. Rails, motors and motor accessories and many specialties were weak, and Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Erie, Studebaker, Nash, Packard, Checker Cab, Glidden, Fisk Rubber first preferrd, Goodrich and Firestone preferred, Bethlehem Steel, International Nickel, Simmons, Pullman, Crucible Steel and Otis Elevator, among others, broke through their previous minimum before the decline was checked.

U. S. Steel got within an eighth of yesterday's low, but was a prominent leader in the upturn, finishing at 166¾ for a net improvement of 4⅞. American Can managed to keep above yesterday's close all day and showed a 6-point net improvement. General Electric, American Tobacco B, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, Standard Oil of New Jersey and National Biscuit closed 2 to 6 points higher.

Covering in the specialties effected some smart rallies. J. I. Case, which had sold as low as 213, snapped up to 237 for a net rise of 18 points. Worthington Pump gained 12, Vanadium, 10; Eastman Kodak, 9, and Houston Oil, 8.

Amusement shares recovered broadly after meeting further pressure. Radio-Keith-Orpheum, after almost touching 30, yesterday's final quotation, rallied 5¼ on the day. Loew's was up 5, Paramount, 4, and Warner Bros. Pictures nearly 5.

Numerous Utilities Gain.

Gains of 3 to 7 points were frequent in the utility group and this range embraced American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, Electric Power & Light, Standard Gas & Electric, Western Union, Stone & Webster and Peoples Gas.

Several of the rails picked up considerable strength. Missouri Pacific and St. Louis Southwestern advancing 5, New York Central about 4 and Rock Island and Chesapeake & Ohio, 2.

Commodity prices were mixed. Wheat declined slightly more than a cent on the average and corn eased slightly. Cotton was steady, varying 5 points higher to 3 points net lower Sugar was dull.

A substantial demand for the French franc, both here and in London, was a feature of the foreign exchange market. The quotation moved up nearly half a point. The Spanish peseta was heavy.

GOVERNMENT BONDS TOUCH YEAR'S PEAKS

Oversubscription of Newest Treasury Financing Aid to Movement.

OTHER LISTS IRREGULAR

New York, June 10 (A.P.).—Stimulated by the announcement that new Treasury financing had been oversubscribed three times, United States Government bonds on the New York Stock Exchange reached new high prices for the year today as a mixed movement in the rest of the list developed under broadened trading.

The climb of several Government issues to erase former 1930 high marks was the only noteworthy feature of the trend in prices which otherwise moved irregularly. The increased trading brought the second $10,000,000 business day of the month. A good demand developed for prime railroad and utility issues which were steady to firm, with secondary rails inclined to ease. Industrial issues softened. After moving uncertainly at the start of the day convertible bonds rallied to finish the session with good gains.

The market showed an inclination to display animation but was repressed by the volume of new offerings. Bond men took the oversubscription of the $400,000,000 Treasury financing as an indication of a strong demand by banks for prime fixed income securities and it proved a constructive force in the market, offsetting the weight of new financing.

Most U. S. Issues Climb.

Liberty 3½s and Liberty 4th 4¼s were the Government's establishing new high marks on the strength of the demand which has asserted itself during the past ten days. Most of the issues finished slightly higher.

A few rail issues such as Baltimore & Ohio 6s, Canadian Pacific 4s, Erie 6s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Pennsylvania 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s gained about ¼ of a point but the downturn of others gave the rails an irregular appearance. Canadian National Railways issues eased as the new $50,000,000 issue was offered. St. Paul adjustment 5s touched a new year's low and then closed steady. International Great Northern 6s of '52 made a new 1930 low, and the trend of other secondary issues was reactionary.

Among the utilities American Telephone 5s and 5½s were in demand and firm, and International Telephone 5s were bought heavily with fractional improvement. Kansas City Power & Light 4½s jumped 3¼ points on thin sales to the year's high.

American Telephone 4½s Rise.

On a small turnover, American Telephone 4½s led the rally of convertibles with a gain of 3 points. Others in the group gained from a fraction to more than a point with the notable exception of General Theaters 6s of 1940, which moved down ¾ of a point to the 1930 bottom price.

The foreign bonds were moderately active but subject to a mixed movement. With the exception of Brazil 8s, Argentine 6s and Peru 6s, South American governments turned soft. Bolivia Governments dropped 1 and 2 points in light trading. European governments were steady to firm, with German, French and Italian bonds gaining.

Among new financing soon to make its appearance is a $5,500,000 Central Power & Light Co. 5 per cent gold bond issue. It will be offered at 95 to yield about 5.35 per cent.

MARYLAND BUSINESS DESCRIBED AS GOOD

Chesapeake Beach Railway Has 200 Per Cent Gain in Freight Shipments.

AID REVIEWS SITUATION

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

J. H. Rector, treasurer of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Co., is of the opinion that the vastly increased freight business of that company reflects better business conditions in southern Maryland. During the quarter just ended the tonnage handled by the company was 200 per cent greater than in the corresponding quarter of last year, the increase for March having been particularly large, 351 per cent.

Officials of the company find that increased building activity in the territory served by the company is partly responsible for the increased business. However, organization of shipping business in that territory, so that roundabout transit is being cut down, has also figured prominently.

Capt. John H. Hughes, general agent of the company, has been in that post only about a year, but he has been in close contact with shippers, for the purpose of reducing transportation rates and increasing speed of shipments through new routing of commodities. Owings, Md., is designed to become the principal distributing point along the line, and the Southern Maryland Tobacco Growers Association has established a distributing warehouse there.

Overnight Truck Service.

From Owings a truck service operates daily to southern Maryland points, and an overnight service is provided from Baltimore to points on the railway. Evidence of the prosperity of the section appears in the fact that numerous shipments of automobiles are being brought to Chesapeake Beach Railway stations from its trunk line connections.

New financing aggregating $10,000,000 for Electric Power & Light Corporation (one of the Electric Bond & Share Co. group) is undertaken through an offering by Bonbright & Co., Inc., of a new issue of 100,000 shares no par value cumulative $6 preferred stock, priced at 100.50 and accrued dividends to yield about 5.95 per cent. Proceeds from the sale of stock will be used for general corporate purposes of the corporation.

Federal Storage Dividend.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Federal Storage Co., the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on preferred stock was declared payable July 15 to stockholders of record at the close of business June 30.

The regular semiannual dividend of 5 per cent of the Bank of Commerce & Savings has been declared, payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 20.

W. B. Hibbs, of W. B. Hibbs & Co., dean of Washington stock brokers, has returned after a far Western trip.

Eliot H. Thompson, publicity director, Washington Loan & Trust Co., was the principal speaker at the monthly luncheon of the Baltimore bankers yesterday. His subject was "Cooperative Advertising and Its Advantages."

Cabbages Decline As Onions Advance

Strawberries and Watermelons Continue to Be Relatively High.

Housewives here this week took advantage of reduced prices among leading fruits and vegetables as heavier supplies began entering local markets. Onion markets strengthened slightly but the cabbage market was weak. Prices of strawberries and watermelons were relatively high. Shipments of new potatoes were heavy, but only about half as many strawberries have been shipped this season as came in during the same period last year.

Potato shipments, both old and new, were averaging close to 1,000 cars daily, with North Carolina as the leading source of supply for new stock, although the Virginia crop was beginning to move. Prices of Eastern potatoes declined somewhat under heavier receipts. Tomato shipments increased sharply during last week.

Cool weather in many terminal markets limited demand for watermelons, but prices held up with increased shipments. A favorable feature was the balance between supply and demand. Eastern Shore strawberry shipments appeared almost completed, with movement starting from Delaware and New Jersey. Supplies of peaches in local markets were on the increase.

Dr. Scott Tells Graduates to Use Benjamin Franklin as Their Model.

40 CAPITAL STUDENTS GIVEN SPECIAL HONORS

Doctor of Science Degree Is Conferred Upon District Woman.

Special to The Washington Post.

College Park, Md., June 10.—Equality and recognition of human rights were emphasized as essential to international good will and understanding by Dr. James Brown Scott, of Washington, secretary of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, at commencement exercises today of the University of Maryland.

To the graduating class of 250 students, of which more than 100 were from Washington, the international lawyer advised the graduates to set Benjamine Franklin as an ideal. In their careers, he suggested, they should try to develop characteristics of fortitude, industry, firmness, and, most of all, charity.

Pearson Introduces Scott.

Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, introduced Dr. Scott, and made the awards. Of those honored by special awards, 40 are from Washington.

An honorary degree of doctor of science was conferred upon Miss Anna E. Richardson, of Washington, as a leader in the field of home economics. The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon the Rev. Charles E. McAllister, of Baltimore.

Student awards went to Catherine D. Barnsley, of Rockville, Md.; William J. Kinnamon, of Easton, Md.; William W. Evans, of Chevy Chase, Md.; Albert Heagy, of Chevy Chase, Md.; Charles Spickmall, of Hyattsville, Md.; Ruth O. Ericson, of Riverdale, Md.; Barbara V. Dalker, John R. Beall and Ruth Lawless, all of Washington.

Scholastic Honors Awarded.

Scholastic honors in each of the colleges went to the following: College of Arts and Sciences, Miss Lawless, Barbara Schilling, Miss Barnsley, Margaret Meigs, Claire P. Schley, Virginia M. Kalmbach, Edythe E. Jordon, Elizabeth L. Carmichael, and Wilbur G. Myers; College of Education, Margaret Karr, Wilhelmina D. Kroll and Margaret L. Hannon; College of Engineering, Howard H. Hines, Carroll S. James, Charles R. Dodson and James N. Wallace, College of Home Economics, Isabel Dynes.

Certificates of merit for achievements in agriculture were awarded to the four Maryland farmers; William H. Holloway, of Snow Hill; Edgar R. Pennington, of Kennedyville; Benjamin Watkins, jr. of Annapolis; and Christian Heurich, of Montgomery County.

Those who received degrees and certificates follow:

Certificates in Industrial Education.

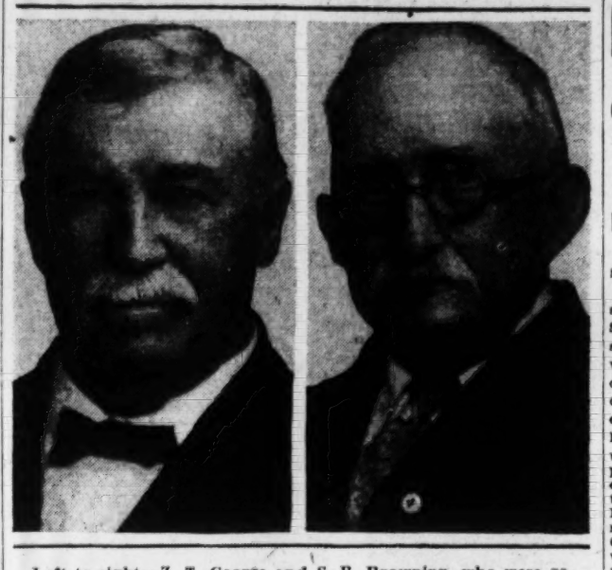
REELECTED WITHOUT RIVALS



Left to right—Z. T. George and S. R. Browning, who were reelected treasurer and mayor, respectively, of Culpeper, Va., without opposition yesterday.

City Aids Chosen In Culpeper Vote

Mayor and Treasurer Are Unopposed; New Town Council Member.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., June 10.—Mayor S. R. Browning, Fred Hudgins, recorder and assessor, and Z. T. George, treasurer, were unopposed in the municipal elections here today.

Mr. Hudgins, who has been recorder for more than 26 years, led in the voting, polling 201 votes.

There were five candidates for the four vacancies on the town council. Three of those running, John S. Covington, Atwell Somerville and E. A. Walter, have served on the council for several terms and ran up large leads, while D. J. Coleman defeated L. W. Shellhorse for the fourth seat with 34 votes to spare.

TWO SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR CONSOLIDATION

Croome and Croome Station Pupils Are Transferred to Marlboro.

WILL PROVIDE FREE BUS

Closing of the Croome and Croome Station Schools and consolidation with the Marlboro School was ordered yesterday by the Prince Georges County Board of Education at its meeting in Upper Marlboro. Free bus transportation is to be provided for the pupils of the two closed schools.

Croome School was ordered closed because the attendance fell below the average required by State law. In an effort to avoid closing the school residents had offered to close the Croome Station School and to consolidate with Croome School.

A delegation from Croome Station appeared before the board yesterday to oppose this move, but tentatively agreed to the consolidation with Marlboro School. The board ordered that Miss Blanche Ogle, teacher at Croome School, be transferred to the Piscataway School, to take the place of Miss Jessie Soper, who has been granted a year's leave of absence for further study. Miss Elizabeth Baden, of the Croome Station School, was ordered transferred to Marlboro School.

The board refused a petition presented by a delegation of citizens asking for transportation of 10 high school children from Accokeek to Oxon Hill High School. The request was refused because of lack of funds.

Superintendent of Schools Nicholas Orem reported that a number of pupils have not paid their transportation bills and the board directed that they should be denied transportation until the bills are paid. Approximately nine pupils are said to be behind in their transportation fees.

Orange to Vote Tuesday On Sewer Bond Issue

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., June 10.—Residents of this town will vote next Tuesday on a $150,000 bond issue for sewerage and improvement to the present water system. While sentiment is strongly in favor of the bond issue and there is every indication that it will be approved by the voters, City Attorney S. M. Nottingham and members of the Town Council are urging upon all residents the importance of going to the polls and casting their ballots.

Orange, in the 1930 census, showed an increase in population of nearly 300 over the 1920 census and with the town's rapid industrial growth the question of sewerage has become a most important one.

Hamilton Church Club to Meet.

Hamilton, Va., June 10 (Special).—The Men's Club of Madison Parish will hold its annual supper in the parish hall of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Hamilton, on Wednesday evening, beginning at 7:15. The Right Rev. St. George Tucker, Bishop of Virginia, will be present and address the assemblage, as well as Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen, of Washington.

WARNING IS ISSUED TO CENSUS EVADERS

Drastic Legal Action Will Follow in Montgomery County, Is Promise.

LETTERS ARE SENT OUT

Drastic legal action has been threatened by George Edward Myers, supervisor of the census for the Frederick area, which includes Montgomery County, in the event that approximately 25 persons in Takoma Park, Md., continue in their refusal to answer census takers' questions.

Supervisor Myers has written to each of the 25 persons involved and notified them that unless they answer the questions asked by Mrs. Anna G. Lingle, enumerator for that section, that he will be forced to turn their names over to United States District Attorney Amos W. W. Woodcock, at Baltimore, for prosecution.

He further suggested to them that if there is any doubt in their minds as to whether or not they are compelled to answer the questions that they consult their attorneys. He said that he was not anxious to cause trouble for the citizens if their refusal to answer was predicated upon ignorance of the law, but that he will be compelled by law to take such action if they fail to comply.

Mr. Myers refused to say which of the questions were not answered or to give the reasons which had been advanced by the residents for failing to answer. He also declined to give their names unless and until they have been give nto the district attorney at which time the veil of secrecy which enshrouds all census matters of a personal nature will be lifted. He even refused to say whether or not the persons were men or women and if the latter, whether or not it was the age question that had proved the stumbling block.

13 Girls Given Diplomas At Catholic High School

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., June 10.—Thirteen received diplomas at the sixth annual commencement at Catholic Girls' High School at Carroll Hall. The Rev. James A. Dwyer, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, presided and conferred the diplomas. The Rev. Dr. William E. Kelly, rector of St. Peter's Church, Hancock, Md., made the address. Music was by La-Manca's Orchestra.

Members of the class were Dorothy Lee Ann Holmes, valedictorian; Mary Louise Barrett, Virginia Inez Birmingham, Velma Cecelia Coffey, Frances Catherine Connell, Catherine Elizabeth Heyer, Walburga Estelle Kastner, Henrietta Elizabeth Lippold, Catherine Rosalie O'Neill, Mary Kathryn Steckman, Esther Mary Tierney, Theresa Josephine Wolf, Gertrude Henrietta Wolf.

Ten Quizzed as Suspects In Two Mystery Fires

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., June 10.—Eight men and two juveniles were questioned by officers here on suspicion that they were implicated in or knew something about origins of the fires that destroyed the homes of Charles Kirk and Dean Smith, brothers, in Back Creek Valley, over the week-end. They were released, however, when they denied any knowledge of the alleged incendiary origins. Some admitted they watched the fires from their own homes.

The men questioned were Stewart Kearns, Joseph Baer, Nelson Dick, Theodore Clark, Charles Hedges, Samuel, John and "Slick" Kees. The names of the juveniles are not published. Officers are going on the theory that the burnings were maliciously done by enemies of Charles Smith in an effort to drive him from the valley and as retaliation against him for allegedly having given officers information as to moonshining activities in the valley.

B. & O. Official Dies At Severna Park Home

Baltimore, June 10 (A.P.).—Archibald Fries, for the past ten years vice president in charge of traffic and commercial development of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, died suddenly last night at his home at Severna Park.

Had he lived until August 1, Mr. Fries would have completed 50 years of continuous service with the railroad. He was born at Cincinnati on February 27, 1864. His wife survives.

Playground Director Named.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 10 (Special).—Paul F. Sheets, for five years physical education director in local grade and junior high schools, has been appointed director of city playgrounds for the summer by Dr R. L. Osborn, city manager. He succeeds Clay B. Hite, who will take a special course of study this summer. Nineteen instructors for the ten playgrounds of the city system have been appointed by Mr. Sheets and Dr. Osborn.

LEESBURG THRONGED FOR FLOWER SHOW

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., June 10.—The school auditorium of the Leesburg High School, where the regional flower show of the Garden Club of Virginia was held this afternoon, presented a colorful scene with its masses of roses, delphiniums, iris and garden flowers. Despite the dry weather which has prevailed here the flowers were unusually large and beautiful in their pastel shades. A large crowd attended the show, which was held under the auspices of the garden clubs of Fauquier and Loudon, Leesburg, Warrenton, Winchester and Clarke County, and under the direct supervision of the Leesburg Garden Club with Mrs. Richard Wainwright, jr., president.

The collection of peonies entered by Mrs. R. L. Preston, of Leesburg, and winning first prize, was unusual for this time of the year and attracted much attention by their beauty and size. The collection of dephiniums in their soft tints filled one side of the large auditorium and were much admired by the throngs.

Rose Test Garden Exhibit.

The exhibits from the rose test garden of the Garden Club of Virginia, located near Boyce, Va., Mrs. E. G. Butler, chairman, were unusually attractive. Judges for the show were Mrs. William R. Massie and Mrs. George Austin, of the Albemarle Garden Club; Victor L. Lumsden and Herman Mulford, of the Agriculture Department, Washington, D. C.

Mount St. Mary's Honors J. F. Curry

Degree of Doctor of Laws Conferred on Leader of Tammany.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 10.—John F. Curry, chief of Tammany Hall, New York City, received the degree of honorary doctor of laws at the 122d annual commencement of Mount St. Mary's College, near Emmitsburg, today. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, presided and conferred the degrees. Speakers representing the senior class were Edward L. McGarrigan and William R. Shaner, president of the class and valedictorian.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Arthur J. Hilley, corporation counsel, City of New York. He was followed by Archbishop Curley. Both the archbishop and Mr. Hilley spoke on the same subject, that of science versus God. The archbishop was particularly forceful in denouncing those who place science ahead of God and religion.

In addition to Mr. Curry, honorary doctor of laws degrees were conferred upon Philip Joseph Coagan, Brooklyn, N. Y., and William C. Walsh, Cumberland, former judge of the circuit court. The degree of doctor of philosophy in English was conferred upon Sister Isabelle McSweeney, St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg.

COURTHOUSE PLANS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

Montgomery County to Open Bids for New Building on July 10.

TWO CLASSES GRADUATE

Bids for the construction of Montgomery County's imposing new courthouse will be opened at Rockville July 10, it was announced yesterday by Berry E. Clark, clerk of the county commissioners after the Montgomery County general courthouse building committee and the county commissioners had approved the final plans.

Actual construction work is expected to get under way this summer, probably within a few weeks of the time the contracts are awarded. Specifications and plans will be ready for inspection by builders and contractors by next Monday.

The general building committee met at the Rockville courthouse and approved the plans and specifications which previously had been approved by the special subcommittee in charge of plans and specifications, of which Capt. Chester Wells is chairman. The plans then were presented to the board of county commissioners, who were in session for their weekly meeting and the county heads also approved the plans. The commissioners then instructed their counsel to prepare the legal advertisements for insertion in the county papers in time that all interested bidders could study the specifications and present bids before July 10. Stedman Prescott, Rockville attorney is acting as counsel in the absence because of illness of Capt. Joseph C. Cissel.

Members of the building committee present at the meeting were: Capt. Wells, Robert G. Hilton, George M. Hunter, Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, president of the Board of County Commissioners, County Commissioners Lacy Shaw, and Clagett Hilton, Judge Robert B. Peter, Clyde E. Thomas, Josiah W. Jones, Otho H. W. Talbott, Preston B. Ray, clerk of the circuit court, and Berry Clark, clerk to the county commissioners.

Graduation exercises were held last night in two Montgomery County high schools—Takoma-Silver Spring and Gaithersburg.

O. H. Benson, director of Rural Scouting Department, Boy Scouts of America, was the speaker, and Mayor Ben G. Davis of Takoma Park presented the awards at the Takoma-Silver Spring exercises. Marion Rueth was valedictorian and Robert Adams salutatorian. The invocation was given by the Rev. J. Wesley Loftis, of the Silver Spring Baptist Church, and the benediction by the Rev. Ralph Smith, of the Silver Spring Methodist Episcopal Church.

Diplomas were awarded to the following: John Robert Adams, Harold Woodrow Atwood, George Herbert Beall, Doris Elizabeth Bitzing, Allen Ross Brougham, Arthur Robert Brown, jr., Helen Edith Cavis, Robert Curtis Christie, Harold Roger Cook, Dorothy Lee Covert, Edna Mae Davis, Henry Darling Evans, Anna Marie Fowler, David Edward Frieder, Dorothy Griffith, John William Hardy, Ralph Everett Harries, Herbert Bradley Handrick, jr., Edward Cornelius Holmead, Joseph Leonard Jewell, Virginia Alice Jones, Estelle Roxie Lamore, Maryanna Lawrence, William Carlton Leasure, David Rand Lee, Lawrence Vincent Lutes, Philip Charlton McCurdy, Harold Eugene Miller, Lewis Yost Miller, William Mather Bolles Mullett, Edna Elizabeth Musgrove, Ruth Eleanor Nusbaum, Wilma adine Pemberton, Janie Mildred Poole, Marion Ursula Rueth, Jacob Benjamin Sclar, Louis Lawrence Selby, Myrtle Katherine Sherrer, Mary Louisa Stewart, Agnes Catherine Sullivan, Virginia Catherine Thompson, Glendon James Wade, Benjamin H. Walker, jr., Ann Forbes Wallace, Margaret Virginia White, Edith Josephine Williams, Paul Leland Williams, Christian Xander.

Members of the graduating class were the speakers at the Gaithersburg exercises. They were Maude Duval, Mary Johnson and Murray Walker. The seniors also furnished the music.

Those who were graduated were: Academic—Leona Thelma Briggs, Anna Mae Virginia Cross, Maude Russell Duvall, Verna Thelma Godfrey, Kathryn Evelyn Green, Mary Elizabeth Johnson, Geneva Martha Mullican, Ethel Emma Mills, Jane Forrest Freeman, Bertie Lorraine Thompson, Rachel Virginia Warfield, Mary Virginia West, Naomi Agnes Thompson.
